

Booters Visit Bucknell in Opener

5 Newcomers Slated For First Team

By LOU PRATO
 Five untested but highly-touted yearlings make their debuts as starters for a Penn State soccer eleven this afternoon when the Lions open their 47th soccer campaign against Bucknell University at Lewisburg.

The newcomers — three sophomores and two juniors — will join four 1956 regulars and two other lettermen on the starting alignment.

Lou VonRafelghem, Bill Fiedler, and Gary Miller have successfully made the long jump from the freshman team to the varsity. All three were starters on last season's unbeaten, unscored-upon frosh outfit.

Howie Maerhofer, a transfer from Buffalo, and Ihor Chyzowych, who switched from Ogonitz Center, are the other Lion rookies. Maerhofer sat out last season because of eligibility rules but he'll be holding down the left halfback spot this afternoon. Chyzowych, a normal wingman, will open at inside left.

Letterman Don Dougald, goalie, and Paul Bauer, fullback, round out the first team.

Mike Stollmeyer, the junior scoring partner of Torgeson, is missing from the lineup because of an ankle injury. Stollmeyer, a regular at inside left last fall, will not even make the sojourn to Lewisburg with the Nittany booters.

"I don't think it would be wise to take Stollmeyer along," Coach Ken Hosterman said. "After all, he wouldn't see much action and it would be very easy for him to injure his ankle further. He might get kicked, or he could twist it. I'd rather keep him out another week."

Only five men will be in reserve for the Lions, including veterans Dave Haase and Herb Hertner. Haase, an off-and-on starter in 1956, will be seen in a spare forward role and Hertner, the regular right halfback last season, will be used in a sub halfback capacity.

Sophomore Pete Wadsworth, forward; senior Tony Tremonte, fullback; and junior goalie Jerry Bruce—a hometown State College boy—will fill the other "second team" positions.

"I'm very anxious to see this team in action," Hosterman commented. "I want to see what they can do against strangers after scrimmaging each other for the past three weeks."

"They have potential. The power and punch exists; but what they'll do with that power and punch, I'll find out today."

Hosterman also thinks he has solved his serious fullback problem. That's the position he worried about at the start of pre-season drills.

"I'll go along with Bauer and Tremonte to help Brower; I feel sure they can do the job but I want to be certain. I'm sure I'll get the answer at Bucknell."

'Mixmaster' Parker Defends Shakeups

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27 (AP)—Soft-spoken Buddy Parker must think he's back in Texas the way he's been rounding up beef—football variety—for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"But I think we're set now," said Parker today after sending his team through a brisk two-hour morning workout in preparation for Sunday's National Football League opener against Washington.

"Sure, we've been shuffling," he said. "We needed an offensive unit. We still need a good offensive back, but we're set for awhile."

"I don't mean we're going to set the league on fire. It's going to take us at least until mid-season to get our offensive rolling. We've got three new quarterbacks so it takes time. We'll have to depend on our defensive unit until the offensive jells."

Parker, who quit the head coaching job with the Detroit Lions, has been a busy man in Pittsburgh. He's dealt or picked up somebody for 23 straight days.

Only 17 players remain from last year's team, which finished fifth in the Eastern Conference.

The shuffling job has earned Parker the title of the "little mix-master" by Pittsburgh sportswriters. They say Bobby Bragan, fired by the baseball Pirates in mid-season, was a piker compared to Parker in shaking up the club.

Parker's three signal callers are Earl Morrall, formerly of San Francisco; Jack Kemp, obtained in a deal with Detroit; and rookie Len Dawson, the Steelers' draft choice from Purdue.

Morrall is the No. 1 candidate, but the cautious Parker stated Morrall's been with the team 10 days and still has a lot to learn about the club's system.

'Horse of Year' May Be Decided At Races Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Two rich races, both of which will help determine championships in two divisions as well as possible horse of the year, will be staged tomorrow at Belmont Park. They are the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes, and the $50,000-added Futurity.

Usually the Futurity, a 6½ furlongs straightaway race for 2-year olds, is the main attraction. But the Woodward, at a mile and one quarter on the main course, holds the spotlight this time.

A dream duel is in prospect as four top notch horses were entered for the Woodward, headed by a couple of claimants for the 3-year-old title—Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man and the Wheatley-Stable's Bold Ruler, and the East's top handicapper star, Mrs. Jan. Burke's Dedicate.

Out On a Limb

In the excitement stirred by the pep rally Thursday night, no one noticed a small helicopter hovering over Carnegie Hall. It hovered just long enough to send to earth a black briefcase containing the selections found below.

Our three swamis have been holed up all week in a cave somewhere atop Bald Eagle Mountain, equipped with all kinds of football data imaginable. Should this process prove profitable, it will continue, according to head swami and helicopterator, Vicious Vince Carocci.

Magnificent Matt (Come On Rain) Mathews sets the pace for the courageous trio by predicting wins for North Carolina, Virginia, UCLA, Georgia, Kentucky, and Auburn. Lucky Lou Prato, Vicious Vince, and head coach Rip Engle all agree that Matt is wrong on every count.

Matt was undecided on the Duke-Virginia outcome for some time until he realized that the Blue Devils just can't win on rainy days that occur in odd years.

It will be noticed that New Mexico A & M is a unanimous choice to beat California Polytechnical. Now, to the chagrin of four gentlemen, it can be revealed that ol' New Mexico (located in State College, N.M.!) took it on the chin from ol' Cal Poly last year, 32-7. What's more, ol' Cactus U. (New Mexico) amassed one (1) victory last year, losing nine.

Perry Holds Record

Rod Perry, of Coatesville, is the new owner of Penn State's 120-yard high hurdles record. The Lion captain skipped over the timbers in 14 seconds flat against the Quantico Marines, to top the old mark of 14.1 seconds set in 1955 by Bill Youkers. Joe Boyle, a native of Alliquippa, Pa., and a Navy veteran is Penn State's new head coach in golf.

Yanks Flex Biceps Against Red Sox

BOSTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—Rifle-armed Bob Turley surrendered two hits in seven innings and Harry Simpson drove in four runs today as the New York Yankees flexed their World Series muscles in a 10-2 victory over Boston.

Turley appeared sharp in his tuneup for the Milwaukee Braves despite chill winds. He struck out eight and walked four.
