

Livestock Judging Teams Place High in Competition

The University dairy cattle judging team and livestock judging team ranked high this week in the intercollegiate contests held in Waterloo, Iowa, and West Springfield, Mass.

The dairy cattle judging team outranked all other eastern teams winning fifth place in competition with 32 teams in the National Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging contest at Waterloo.

The team won third place in judging Ayrshires and fifth place in judging Guernseys.

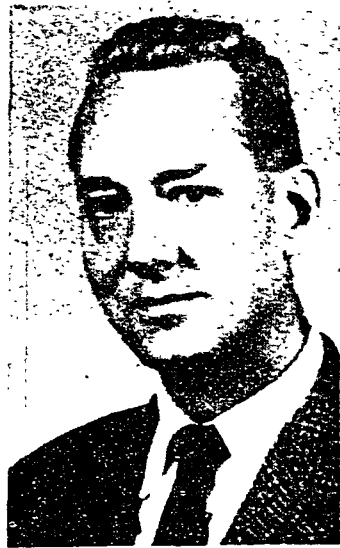

The livestock judging team won three first places at the Eastern States exposition in West Springfield. The team was first in judging Morgan horses, sheep and hogs. In total scores the team ranked second in the entire contest.

For the dairy cattle judging team, Thomas Kelly, senior in agriculture education from Eighty Four, won top individual honors in judging Guernseys and placed fourth in the entire contest in giving oral reasons. James Compton, senior in dairy science from Saltsburg, was fourth highest individual in judging Ayrshires. George Peavey, senior in agronomy from Warwick, N.Y., was fifth in judging Guernseys.

Members of the livestock judging team were Thomas Blose, senior in animal husbandry from Glen Campbell; Leslie Firth, senior in agriculture education from Sugargrove; Sidney Shade, senior in animal husbandry from Centre Hall; Thomas McIlwain, senior in animal husbandry from Spring Church; Kermit Yearick, senior in animal husbandry from Mill Hall; Sandra Snowdon, senior in animal husbandry from Allison Park; and Richard Fowler, senior in animal husbandry from Danville.

Blose ranked first in judging hogs. Yearick won first place in judging sheep. Shade and McIlwain were third and fourth respectively in the entire contest.

The dairy cattle judging team will compete in the International Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging contest in Chicago Tuesday. The livestock judging team will compete next in the American Royal Livestock show which will be held Oct. 19 to 26.

Dr. Amos J. Shaler Chosen as 'Outstanding'

Metals Society Awards Shaler $2000 Prize

Dr. Amos J. Shaler, professor of metallurgy and head of that department, will receive a $2000 award by the American Society of Metals as the outstanding young teacher of metallurgy.

Established in 1952 by the Board of Trustees of the society, the award is designed to encourage young teachers of metallurgy by recognizing their accomplishments.

The recipient is selected each year from among all departments of metallurgy, metallurgical engineering and metal sciences in schools within the United States and Canada, but candidates must be under 40 years of age at the time of their selection.

Shaler, in addition to routine metallurgical instruction, has been particularly active in the orientation of freshmen in metallurgy. He has designed the course to serve as a bridge between the type of instruction which prevails in high schools and the intensive, disciplined program which must be followed for scientific training at the university level.

Shaler came to the University in 1953 as head of the department from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he had been a member of the teaching staff.

He is the co-author with two former colleagues of a textbook on engineering and metallurgy.

Leiper to Speak in Chapel Service

The Rev. Hal Leiper, Protestant chaplain, will speak at the Protestant service at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the Helen Eakin Eisenhower Chapel.

His topic will be "Living in Freedom."

Following the service he will lead a discussion in the Memorial Lounge on the issues in his sermon concerned with freedom of vocational choice.

The Meditation Chapel Choir will be directed by William Reeves and Willa C. Taylor. Sam N. Gibson, executive director of the University Christian Association, will conduct the order of worship.

Churches to Unite In Annual Service

Ten churches will participate in the annual fall Ecumenical Service at 7 p.m. tomorrow in St. Paul's Methodist Church.

The Rev. Lawrence N. Jones of the Student Christian Movement staff in Philadelphia will speak on "Rooted and Grounded Means Unity."

Glenn Heasley, president of the Lutheran Student Association; Samuel Fisher, chairman of the University Christian Association finance commission, and Kimura Shimada, graduate student from Japan, will conduct the order of worship. The service is planned by the U.C.A. and its member student foundations.

Mr. Jones does his professional work in the ecumenical movement field. He has received degrees from West Virginia State College, University of Chicago, Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, and Yale Divinity School.

The members of the Wesley Foundation and the Evangelical United Brethren Student Fellowship will hold an informal coffee hour in the Methodist Student Center following the service.

Westminster Fellowship will meet at the Presbyterian Church for refreshments before attending the service at St. Paul's Methodist Church.

The Lutheran Student Association will hear a talk by Donald Morgenson on "Religious Truth in Irreligious Garb" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the LSA Center.

The Canterbury Association will hold a breakfast from 9 to 9:30 a.m. tomorrow in the fireside room of the St. Andrew Parish House. The discussion following during World War II.

The discussion will be on "The Birth of Christ and the Doctrine of the Virgin Birth."

The Shannon Club, Episcopal club for graduate students and faculty members, will begin fall activity with a party after the Penn State-Army game today. Reservations must be made before noon today and directions to the location of the party will be given at the Parish House. The party will be outdoors.

A discussion on "The Great Divisions - Could They Happen Again" will be held at 9:15 a.m. tomorrow by The Young Friends at the Friends House. Maurice Mook will lead this discussion on Hicksite-Orthodox and other major divisions.

A general meeting of the Newman Club will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow in 215 Hetzel Union.

Army Chaplain Will Address Chapel Service

The Rev. George M. Bean, chaplain of the West Point Military Academy, will speak at the chapel services at 10:55 a.m. Sunday in Schwab Auditorium.

His sermon topic will be "If I Have High Ideals, Why Do I Need Religion?"

The Chapel Choir, directed by Willa C. Taylor, will sing the introit, "Love of the Faith," by Gibbons and the anthem, "Let Thy Hand Be Strengthened," by Blow.

George E. Ceiga, organist, will play "Prelude and Fuge in D Minor" by Buxtehude, "Adagio" by K. P. E. Bach as the offertory and "Finale from Fourth Sonata in D Minor" by Guilment for the postlude.

Dr. Bean, an ordained priest of the Protestant Episcopal Church, has been chaplain at West Point since 1954. He is president of the National Association of College and University Chaplains. He served as chaplain at Lehigh University and in the Naval Reserve during World War II.

He received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Virginia and his doctor of divinity from the Protestant Episcopal Theological Seminary, Va. He is the author of a series of West Point sermons, the most recent of which, "The Armour of God," was published this year.

Outing Club Plans Hayride Tonight

The Outing Club will sponsor a hayride with horse-drawn wagons tonight.

Three wagons will leave at 7 p.m. from the parking lot behind Osmond. Space will be available for 35 couples and a sign-up sheet will be at the Hetzel Union desk. The $1.50 fee per couple includes the refreshments.

Sun-Tel Editor Will Address Journ Mixer

Alex Zehner, assistant manager in editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will speak on "The Need for Vigilance" at a journalism mixer at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Phi Delta Theta.

H. Eugene Goodwin, director of the School of Journalism, will moderate a panel on "Journalism at Penn State." Panelists include Marilyn Elias, who will discuss advertising; Judith Harkison, women's news; Edward Dubbs, publications; and William Kling, curriculums in the School of Journalism.

Earl Kohnfelder, president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity; Paul Nelson of Alpha Delta Sigma, men's professional advertising fraternity; and Elizabeth Marvin of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity, will represent the sponsoring organizations, and will discuss their functions.

Ruth Johnson will do a pantomime. Lawrence Jacobson will be master of ceremonies.

The mixer is open to undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members and their wives in the school. Freshman women majoring in journalism and planning to attend the mixer have been granted special 10 o'clock permissions by the dean of women.

Ag Lab Given Research Aid

The University has received two grants totaling $3000 to be used in support of research at the new Southwestern Field Research Laboratory of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

The Latrobe Steel Co. has donated a grant of $2500 for the 5-year period ending in 1962. A $500 grant was given by L. H. Kelly of L. H. Kelly, Inc.

The research will be concerned with agricultural practices pertinent to soil, climatic and economic conditions in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

The new field research laboratory was established earlier this year on 140 acres of land near Ligonier and will be concerned primarily with hay and grass crops.

Gray Will Direct Foreign Students

Dr. William H. Gray, professor of Latin-American history, has been named Director of International Student Affairs.

He succeeds Richard C. Maloney, who was promoted from assistant dean to associate dean of the College of the Liberal Arts. Maloney had held the post since the International Student Affairs office was established in 1954.

Gray, a faculty member since 1940, will also continue as professor of Latin-American history.

He served as first chairman of the Committee on International Understanding, formed in 1951 to promote international understanding and co-operation.

IFC to Meet in HUB

The Interfraternity Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Hetzel Union auditorium.

Committee members will be appointed.

BusAd Course Uses Itinerary

Use of a travel itinerary is a class project in a transportation course in the College of Business Administration, according to the October issue of "Railway Progress."

Written by Dr. R. Hadly Waters, professor of transportation, the story is entitled "At Penn State Students Learn How to Travel."

For a number of years each student has been required to plan in detail a trip by train, bus and plane to some distant part of the United States bearing the same name as his own. In doing so, he necessarily becomes acquainted with routes, schedules, rates, and services.

Ag Posts to Be Filled

Russell Beatty, president of the Agriculture Student Council, will appoint a parliamentarian for the council and an assistant chairman of the Ag Hill Party committee at a council meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in 114 Boucke.

RADIO
Service and Supplies

- Car Radios
- Portable Radios
- Phonographs
- Batteries

State College TV
232 S. Allen St.

ROLLER SKATE

Every Wed., Fri. & Sun.
7:30 to 10:30 p.m. E.S.T.
Also Sun. afternoons 2-4 E.S.T.

We RENT Chicago Shoe Skates

HECLA PARK
15 miles East of State College, Rt. 68

Rink Available for Private Parties... Phone Zion 2121

to Nittany Office Equipment and see the wonderful new Olympia typewriter. Fast, quiet, troublefree—and SOoo good-looking, you'll be amazed. Stop in today or first thing Monday morning. The Olympia is exclusive at

NITTANY OFFICE EQUIPMENT

231 S. ALLEN ST. AD 8-6125

★ your portable typewriter headquarters ★

Ugly Man Contest