

Monsters to Compete For Ugly Man Title

One-to-four-eyed monsters and men from outer space will begin competition at 6 tonight for the Ugly Man title.

The Ugly Man parade is the first event in the four days of competition in the Ugly Man contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, men's national service fraternity.

Thirty-three fraternity and independent men will be on display in tonight's parade.

Thirty-seven contestants originally were entered in the contest, but four were eliminated when they did not have their pictures taken in their contest costumes.

Fraternity entries in tonight's parade will form at 5:30 p.m. on Shortlidge Rd. between Pollock Rd. and Park Ave. Independent entries will meet at the same time on Shortlidge Rd. between Pollock Rd. and Curtin Rd.

Competing groups arriving late for the parade will be placed at the end of the line and will be noted by the judges as late arrivals.

The parade will move down Shortlidge Rd. to College Ave., proceed west on College to Burrows St., then turn north on Burrows to Pollock Rd., turning east on Pollock and proceed back to Shortlidge. The groups will turn north on Shortlidge and disband.

One motor vehicle will be allowed per marching unit if the vehicle is decorated and pulling or hauling a float. Students riding in a car must sit inside with the doors closed. No one will be permitted to ride on running boards or sit on the backs of convertibles.

Floats may be carried by hand in the parade but they may not be drawn on wagons without a motor vehicle. Once in the parade, floats must complete the route of march.

Seven judges will be scattered in locations unknown to contestants. They will evaluate each entry on five points. They are: presentation of theme, group participation, originality, organization and whether or not this presentation is in good taste.

Ugly Man contest points will be awarded to the first five places in both divisions, fraternity and independent. Each point will be equal to one penny vote and will count toward eligibility in the finals Friday night.

First place will be awarded 2500 points, second place 1500 points, third place 1000, fourth place 750 points and fifth place 500 points.

Lion Predicts Warm Weather

Today's weather forecast calls for sunny skies and warm temperatures. The high should be between 70 and 75.

The Nittany Lion busily prepared himself this morning for tonight's Ugly Man parade.

The Lion reported that his official title in the parade will be "Influenza Virus (Asiatic Strain), Under Intense Magnification, Preparing for February Epidemic."

Woodland sources report that plans are already afoot on the part of the Lion's campus enemies to attack him with monstrous vials of flu vaccine, thereby annihilating him on the threshold of his greatest triumph.

Ag Council to Discuss Proposed Amendment

The Agriculture Student Council will meet at 7 tonight in 214 Boucke.

Business will include a report on the plans for the Ag Hill party and discussion of a constitutional amendment concerning seating newly-elected spring members.

Lion Slump Gives Vandy 32-20 Win

What happens to the Penn State football team in the second half and, more specifically, what happens to the Lions in the third quarter? That is the question most close Lion grid followers are asking after Vanderbilt scored a 32-20 victory over Coach Rip Engle's squad Saturday afternoon at Beaver Field.

halftime of one-touchdown leader, only to be outplayed or extended for most of the second half. Against Penn and William and Mary, the Nittanies were strong enough to eke out victories—not so against Army and Vanderbilt.

Army used a machine-like offense in the third quarter to score three touchdowns and win. Vanderbilt, not so machine-like, but just as effective, scored twice in the third to break the Lions' backs and once in the fourth to ice the victory.

Trailing 20-13 at the half, Vanderbilt came back in the third period to stop a Nittany drive on its 12-yard line and moved to lightning-like scores for a never-to-be-lost lead.

Both coaches agreed after the game that stopping the Lion drive was the key to the Vandy victory. Taking the second-half kickoff, the Lions moved from their own 28 to the Vandy 13 with a fourth and two situation.

World At a Glance . . . High Court Vetoes Va. Segregation Law

Compiled from AP Reports
The Supreme Court yesterday dealt a severe blow to Virginia's declared policy of massive resistance to any racial integration in its public schools.

It did so by refusing to review a decision holding unconstitutional the state's 1956 Pupil Placement Act, cornerstone of the massive resistance framework.

The high court thereby let stand the decision of the U.S. District Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk. Hoffman's ruling was affirmed by the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Pupil Placement Act removed from local school boards and division superintendents all power to assign pupils, and placed it in the hands of a state board.

The Supreme Court's action threw Virginia officials into a state of uncertainty about their next action. Gov. Thomas B. Stanley and other ranking state officials declined comment.

On the international scene, in the United Nations, western delegates conferred privately today on the best way to counter Syria's Soviet backed charge that Turkey is about to start war in the Middle East.

Syria denied any intent to take part in mediation talks at the moment. Diplomats at the UN believed Syria wanted a full airing of its charges before the national Assembly before considering any other course.

Glenn Announces Improved Outlook In Campus Health

Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the University Health Center, has announced what he terms a "definite improvement in the campus health situation."

A total of 52 students were listed as in-patients at the Health Center at 4 p.m. yesterday, a drop of about 15 since Friday. However, there was an increase of 14 in the two hours from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. yesterday.

Other figures show a general improvement in the situation over the weekend. Only 179 students had box lunches in their rooms yesterday, as compared with Sunday's 192, Saturday's 318 and last Wednesday's high of 611, according to figures released by Food Service.

A spot check of fraternities by the dean of men's office yesterday revealed that out of 33 students ill in bed in six fraternities on Friday, only one was still bed-ridden.

The number of students going to the dispensary, however, remains high, Glenn said, with between 500 and 600 estimated for yesterday.

The College of Physical Education has called off an swimming classes again this week. Dean Earnest B. McCoy said end-of-the-week reports from the Health Center will determine whether swimming classes will be resumed next week or not.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps common hours were called off because of illness last week, but it will not be known until Wednesday whether they will be resumed Thursday.

A poll of IFC members by O. Edward Pollock, assistant to the dean of men, last night revealed a sharp drop in the number of fraternity men confined to bed by respiratory diseases.

Eighteen fraternities reported they had no members sick in bed; 13 houses each had only one member sick in bed; seven each reported two bed cases; seven had three bed cases; one house had four members in bed; and two houses had five members confined to their beds.

No fraternities reported more than five members sick in bed.

Glenn said the better weather since early Saturday has had a lot to do with the improvement in the health situation.

Also, he said, students had their first chance for a long rest over the weekend.

But he said weekend figures often are misleading, since many students go home who might have gone to the Health Center. "We should know for sure," he said, "in a day or two."

Local physicians still are caring for bed-ridden students in the women's residence halls. They will continue to do so, Glenn said, until a definite end can be seen to the present wave of illnesses.

Eng Council to Meet

The Engineering and Architecture Student Council will vote on a revised constitution at a meeting at 8 tonight in 217 Hetzel Union.

IFC Attacks WH Phone Restriction

The Interfraternity Council last night went on record as opposing the ending of telephone service to West Halls at 10 p.m. as a "detriment to fraternity rushing."

The present system, new this year, prohibits incoming telephone calls to any West Halls dorm units after 10 p.m.

The prohibiting of calls is in keeping with the University regulation that no phone calls may be made to women's dormitories after 10 p.m.

With the new phone system installed in the West Halls putting the dormitories on a University extension, phone service to Thompson Hall cannot be stopped without stopping calls to all West Halls dormitory units, it was reported.

This situation prevents fraternities from reaching freshmen men in West Halls after 10 p.m.

George Wills, chairman of the IFC Board of Control, said the new phone system is "detrimental" to fraternity rushing because considerable rushing is done by phone, between the hours of 10 and 12.

W. F. Diehl, manager of University telephones, said phone extensions were distributed at random, and phone operators cannot tell whether any given extension is in Thompson Hall or in one of the men's dormitory units. Therefore, all incoming calls are stopped at 10 p.m.

Christopher Keubler, IFC executive secretary, said he had talked to Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston about the situation, but has as yet achieved no results.

Dean Weston said opening the telephone lines after 10 p.m. in West Halls would bring complaints from coeds in other residence halls who also can not be contacted after 10.

O. Edward Pollock, assistant to the dean of men, said his office is trying to help improve the situation.

Leonides Backs Rotation System

Leonides Council last night voted 21 to 6 in favor of retaining the fraternity-independent rotation plan for political elections.

A motion favoring retention of the system was approved without debate.

Leonides represents all independent women, including freshmen and unaffiliated upperclasswomen.

The council amended its constitution so that representatives and alternates may run on two different slates. In the past women who had the second highest number of votes on the representative slate often automatically became alternates.

W.Va. Ticket Sale Begins Tomorrow

A limited number of tickets for the Penn State-West Virginia football game will go on sale at 8:15 a. m. tomorrow in the ticket office, Recreation Hall, according to Edward M. Czeka, assistant business manager.

The office will be open from 3:15 a.m. until noon, and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The office will be open from 8:15 a.m. until noon Saturday.
