Pneumonia, Toxic Anemia Cause Student's Death

Charles Hutson, who was a sophomore in geology and mineralogy from New Bethlehem, died in Centre County Hospital, Bellefonte, at 1:30 p.m., yesterday from pneumonia complicated by toxic anemia.

Hutson had been in the Centre County Hospital since Tuesday. He was taken there from the University Health Center where he had been since Monday evening.

Donald Berilla, senior in electrical engineering from McKees Rocks, who was Hutson's roommate at Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, said Hutson became very ill on Monday and went to a doctor in State College.

The doctor, whose name Berilla did not know, gave Hutson medication and told him to remain in bed.

But when Hutson took a turn for the worse around dinner time that day, Berilla and several other members of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity took the patient to the infirmary where he was immediately put to bed. His condition became so bad overnight that he was transferred to the hospital in Bellefonte at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday.

He was treated there by Dr. Bernice E. Durgin of Bellefonte. Dr. Durgin described the cause of his death as pneumonia complicated by toxic anemia. She said toxic anemia is a condition in which the patient's blood loses a good deal of its white corpuscles, rendering the body ineffective in its fight against pneumonia virus. He was given a blood transfusion yesterday morning.

Hutson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hutson, 409 Keck Ave., New Bethlehem, were with their son from the time he was taken to the Centre County Hospital.

It was expected they would take his body back to New Bethlehem yesterday or today. No funeral arrangements had been made by last night.

Hutson transferred to the University this semester from Clarion State Teachers College. He was a member of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity there and was activated in the University's chapter this semester.

He would have been 19 years old Dec. 10.

57 Students Remain Sick In Hospital

Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the University Health Center, said campus health conditions continue to improve with only 57 students in the infirmary as of yesterday afternoon.

The pressure on the dispensary, Glenn added, "is growing less every day."

Only 88 students had box lunches in their rooms yesterday, compared with 111 the day before and last Thursday's high of more than 700. A total of 43 had breakfast in their rooms yesterday, compared with 59 the day before.

About 18 students were discharged from the infirmary yesterday afternoon. During the early part of the afternoon there had been 70 students in the infirmary.

Not only are the illnesses fewer in number, Glenn said, but they are much less severe. If the situation continues to improve, swimming classes may be resumed on Monday.

Reserve Officers Training Corps common hours were scheduled to be resumed yesterday. Only the rain prevented their being held.

In spite of the improvement in campus health, Glenn cautioned students to observe all the necessary precautions during wet weather in order to avoid a new outbreak. He said dry clothing, sensible eating and adequate sleep are essential for the duration of this illness.

NSA Dropped; Cabinet Refuses Further Study

By DAVE FINEMAN

All-University Cabinet last night voted not to join the National Student Association and defeated a motion for further study of the question.

In defeating the motion for further study members said they believe any future action on the question should come through student enthusiasm and be initiated by independently-working students.

of the question of NSA at the University, saying Cabinet should set down once and for all the answer to the question: "How does NSA fit into student government here and will it work at the University?"

The vote on NSA membership was taken after the reports by four delegates sent by Cabinet to the NSA national Congress this summer.

In its written report the delegation recommended discontinuance of membership for four reasons:

- Disappointing past experience without a foreseeable improvement in this situation.

- Constant criticism of NSA.

- NSA's inability to meet expressed desires of student government here. These desires—tangible campus effects in the area of student material welfare—were felt to be subordinate to NSA's orientation to national, international and educational affairs.

- Inability to justify member-

11 'Ugly Men' to Vie for Title Tonight in APhio Contest Finals

By LYNN WARD

Eleven students, disguised as the ugliest creatures on campus, will summon up all the gore and horror they can to compete in the Ugly Man Contest skits at 7:30 tonight in Schwab Auditorium.

The 11 contestants reached the final event in the Ugly Man Contest through points won in the Ugly Man parade and penny voting on the Mall.

Approximately $600 was collected at the Mall voting booth over a three-day period, according to Frank Saurman, contest co-chairman.

The five independent "uglies" and their sponsoring organizations are William Bennett, Nittany Grotto; Paul Craska, Nittany 43; David Rush, Nittany 28; David Kocsics, Nittany 23; and Charles Wilson, Hamilton Unit 4.

The six fraternity finalists and sponsoring organizations are George Vince, Chi Phi; Richard Spitko, Phi Kappa Sigma; Jack Halpern, Phi Sigma Delta; Ronald Rainey, Pi Kappa Phi; John Whittle, Sigma Pi; and George Schmid, Tau Phi Delta.

Alpha Phi Omega, men's national service fraternity sponsoring the contest, originally announced that five fraternities would be eligible for the final skits. The additional group was added because two fraternities, Chi Phi and Phi Kappa Sigma, tied for first place.

Contestants will be limited to six minutes for each skit. They will be judged on the basis of presentation of theme, originality, organization, participation, quality of taste and enunciation.

Judges for tonight's contest are: Capt. Gordon Brigham, adviser to APhio and assistant professor of air science; Dr. Robert S. Brubaker, assistant professor of speech; Dr. Paul D. Holtzman, associate professor of speech; Warren S. Smith, associate professor of theatre arts.

Robert D. Reifsneider, associate professor of theater arts; Stuart H. Frost, instructor in art; and Theodore D. Richards, assistant professor of agricultural extension.

LA Faculty Approves Student Honors Program

The College of the Liberal Arts faculty yesterday approved the report of a committee setting up an Honors Program to "provide a new academic dimension for superior students."

The committee was set up last semester in keeping with proposals made by the Middle Atlantic States accreditation report and by the Senate Committee on the Superior Student.

The purpose of the committee was to try to find a way to upgrade the quality of work of superior students because "many students feel they are not sufficiently challenged, that class work is not sufficiently high enough for them."

Members of the committee are Dr. Deborah S. Austin, assistant professor of English literature, chairman; Dr. Raymond D. Ayoub, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. Neal Riemer, associate professor of political science; and Dr. John E. Pixton, assistant professor of history.

The following report recommendations were approved:

- The immediate establishment by the Liberal Arts Planning Committee of a standing honors committee responsible for approving honors programs submitted by the individual departments; maintaining a comparable standard of excellence in all honors work done in the individual departments.

- The committee will also be responsible for filing an annual report with Dean Ben Euwema

Clouds, Wind Predicted Today

A series of growling roars emerged from the den of the Nittany Lion.

"Eureka!" he cried. "I have seen the light. There will be no weather tomorrow, nor the day after tomorrow, nor any day after that."

The lion said he will begin a series of experiments to find a replacement for weather.

The king of the Nittany Valley beasts did have a few words of wisdom to impart—his last proclamation. "Today's weather," he said yesterday, "was cooler, windy and rainy."

The University weather station is confident that weather will continue. Today's will be cloudy, windy and cool, with a high of 50 to 55 degrees.

Tomorrow's Game To Be Televised

Tomorrow's Penn State-Syracuse football game will be broadcast over the NBC Eastern regional television hook-up.

The broadcast will begin at 1:15 with a warm-up program, and the game will begin at 1:30.

The broadcast can be watched locally over Channel 6, Johnstown.

Club Will Present Talk on Bromfield

Dr. Monison Brown, a former graduate student of the University, will speak on novelist Louis Bromfield at a meeting of the Belles Lettres Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Simmons Lounge.

Dr. Brown, who teaches at Indiana State Teachers College, knew Bromfield personally. He will illustrate his talk with pictures of Melabar experimental farm in Ohio, important in the growth of Bromfield's reputation.

The meeting is open to the public.

AFL-CIO Suspends Teamsters Union

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The AFL-CIO Executive Council today suspended the Teamsters Union until James R. Hoffa and other allegedly corrupt officials are ousted from the truckers union.

The suspension was announced by AFL-CIO President

George Meany who said the Teamsters, largest AFL-CIO unit, had failed to rid itself of corruption. Meany said the vote for suspension was 25-4. He declined to name the dissenters.

However, it was learned those voting against suspending the Teamsters were council members John F. English, secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters; Maurice Hutcheson, Carpenters Union president; Herman Winters, former Bakery Workers president, and William Doherty, Letter Carriers Union president. Doherty was reported to have 10 votes in order to block the required two-thirds vote for suspension by the 29-man council.

Asked whether the Teamsters had done anything at all to correct widespread corrupt conditions, as previously charged by the AFL-CIO and the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), Meany replied with a flat "No."

Meany said the suspension actions means that the 1½-million-member teamsters organization cannot be accepted back in good standing in the parent federation unless it completely boots out R. Hoffa.

Meany and the council ruled that unless the Teamsters promptly consent to ousting Hoffa and meet other cleanup conditions, complete expulsion of the union from AFL-CIO ranks will be recommended to the AFL-CIO convention in December.

Meany also said such other newly elected Teamsters officials, as Owen (Bert) Brennan, Detroit, and John O'Rourke, New York, should stand a rigid Teamsters Union investigation.
