Student Taste To Be Sought By Jazz Poll

Brubeck or Armstrong—or Kai Winding? Students will have a chance to express their musical tastes this week with a new jazz poll.

Ballots for the musicians' poll are available today through Friday at the Hetzel Union desk, Waring Hall, Nittany 20, campus radio station WDFM and the Harmony Shop.

The ballots will be the write-in type with blanks for expressing preferences in bands, 12 instrumentalists, male and female singers, and vocal groups. Because of a typing mistake the bass was not included among the instrumentalists and should be written in.

The poll is sponsored by John Omler and Peter Duncan, members of the Penn State Jazz Club and the staff of WDFM.

Duncan, vice president of the Jazz Club, said that winners of the poll will be "considered" in programming the spring concerts sponsored by the club.

Results of the poll will be announced at 7 p.m. Friday on WDFM's "The A Train" and in Saturday's edition of The Daily Collegian.

Intramurals—

In other action on the three fields, Navy defeated Penn Haven, 12-0; Air Force beat the Fizz Eders, 7-6, on first downs; the Skid Rowers won over the Rough Riders 8-0, Watts Hall lost to the Irving Wildcats, 7-0; and the Bruins beat McKee One, 9-0.

The Warriors, Nittany 25, and the Townsman won by forfeit over Lucky 13, Pollock 10, and the Marlow Marlins.

In the Watts Hall-Irvin Wildcats contest, passes by George Krevsky and Dick James left the opponents at a loss for defensive tactics. Tom Durbin, a speedy runner, was their primary receiver. It was Durbin who caught Krevsky's 10 yard pass giving the Wildcats their 7-0 victory. Chet Morrison converted. Mark Lucerne, the Watts quarterback, got off several long aeriels, but was hampered by overshooting or interceptions.

The same held true for the Fizz Eders in their game with the well-organized Air Force squad. Benny Adams who passed repeatedly connected with Stan Fieder for a long gain only once, and that gain netted a touchdown.

Interviews Scheduled For Junior Prom Queen
