

New Letter Received On Drinking

The State is cracking down on liquor code violations.

In a letter to University officials this week, Chairman Patrick E. Kerwin of the State Liquor Control Board called attention to recently-enacted stiffer penalties for minors misrepresenting their ages to obtain alcoholic beverages.

The letter was the second received this year by the University on the minor "drinking problem."

President Eric A. Walker late in September received a letter from Gov. George M. Leader calling for continued vigilance on the "problem."

Kerwin's letter, notice of which was released by the University yesterday, said the penalty has been substantially stiffened for minors who represent themselves to be 21 years old to obtain alcoholic beverages.

It said the last session of the legislature increased the possible fine from $50 to $300 and possible imprisonment from a maximum of 60 days to a maximum of six months.

The violation is classified as a misdemeanor under Section 675 of the Penal Code.

Kerwin's letter was sent to colleges and universities throughout the state, as was Leader's communication.

Leader's letter was a followup of a similar one sent last year, urging a crackdown on drinking by minors.

In reply, Walker said the University "will continue to give careful attention to the problem of serving of alcoholic beverages to minors . . ."

Walker said University officials are working closely with town officials to improve the situation.

He has said he does not believe drinking at the University constitutes a great problem.

The queen will be crowned and presented with a gold trophy at a special ceremony to be held about 11 tonight during intermission time.

The five finalists will parade to the band stand carrying a bouquet of roses.

After the queen has been announced and crowned, Alvin Clemens, a member of the Junior Class Advisory Board, will present her with a gold trophy and a red robe.

Following the ceremony, the queen and the four finalists, who will serve in the Queen's court, will go on to the dance floor, and—with their escorts—will lead the next dance. The Queen was selected Wednesday night on the basis of individual interviews with a panel of downtown merchants.

The results of the interviews are being kept secret until tonight's announcement at the dance.

The panel of merchants included Milton J. Bergstein, WMAJ; William S. and Arnold Kalin, Kalin's Men Store; Jay Corrigan, Harper's Men Store; Christopher Rollis, Christy's Restaurant; Eugene J. Reilly, Centre Daily Times, and Murray M. Gritzman, Mur's Jewelry Store.

In addition to her trophy, the queen will receive gifts donated by several downtown merchants.

The gifts and the merchants are as follows:

One bouquet for the Queen, Bill McMullen, florist; a Penn State scarf, Schlow's Quality Shop; a pin to match earrings, Crabtree's Jewelry; a jeweled bracelet and Treasure House earrings, Ethel Meserve; a pull-over sweater, Clearfield's Dress Shop; white evening gloves, Kalin's Dress Shop; an evening bag, Charles Shop; and a pair of stockings from Danks & Co. Soph Remains In Jail; Youth Freed on Bail

A 19-year-old Philadelphia youth, who is charged with alleged forgery along with a University sophomore, has been released from Centre County jail after posting $1000 bail.

Stephen Schulman was released from jail and will await trial before the grand jury.

Stephen Rade, sophomore from Philadelphia, still is confined to the jail on default of $3000 bail. He is charged with being an accessory before and after the fact of the forgery and also with filing identification numbers from a pistol.

District Attorney John Miller said that if the youths plead guilty, they will appear before a "guilty court" Nov. 12. The special court is held for persons who plead guilty and do not wish to appear before the Grand Jury.

If a "not guilty" plea is made, Miller said the case will come before the regular December term of court, which will begin Dec. 26.

Rade was committed to jail last weekend in default of bail for the alleged firearms violation. Upon preliminary questioning by State College police, Rade implicated Schulman in the alleged forgery case, police said.

Justice of the Peace Guy B. Mills said police checked Schulman's identification and, when it was verified, he issued a warrant for the Philadelphia's arrest.

When Schulman was questioned by State College police, Mills said he implicated Rade as being an accessory to the felony.

Coed Hours Extended For Prom Weekend

The Women's Student Government Association Senate has approved an extension of women's hours for the Junior Prom weekend.

Freshmen will have an interchangeable 12 and 1 o'clock permission tonight and tomorrow night. Upperclassmen will have a 2 o'clock tonight and a 1 o'clock permission tomorrow night.

Teamsters Ignore Corruption Charge

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—The executive board of the Teamsters Union decided unanimously today against doing anything about corruption charges against its leaders—a course practically guaranteeing AFL-CIO expulsion.

Retiring Teamsters President Dave Beck, himself enmeshed in the charges, said the board voted to appeal a recent AFL-CIO suspension order and seek to fight off outright expulsion at the federation's convention Dec. 5 at Atlantic City, N.J.

Beck said the Teamsters bosses have no thought of kicking out President-elect James R. Hoffa or otherwise ridding their ranks of alleged corrupt influence as ordered by the CIO-AFL Executive Council.

Moreover, Beck said he really expects the appeal to the AFL-CIO convention to fail. He said he'd certainly have to be an optimist to think otherwise.

Beck said the Teamsters are ready to go it alone, if that's what the AFL-CIO wants. He said the Teamsters might be better off outside the AFL-CIO.

On this note of defiance Beck made it clear that the 1½-million-member truck drivers union—or its leaders anyway—haven't the slightest notion of launching any investigations of alleged misuse of union funds or abuse of union powers.

These were among the charges raised by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Beck's attitude was that it's up to the courts solely and not to unions to punish any corrupt labor bosses. His trial for alleged evasion of more than $250,000 in federal income taxes has been put over until next April.

Cabinet OKs Plans To Simplify Parking

All-University Cabinet last night adopted a set of recommendations made by the Student Encampment Workshop on Regulations, Controls and Student Welfare designed to eliminate a long-standing source of student discontent—the parking problem.

Also discussed and approved were the same workshop's recommendations on recreation, drinking, student insurance, check cashing service, town relations and double jeopardy and double responsibility in campus judicial bodies.

The following recommendations on the traffic problem were adopted by Cabinet:

● That the Borough station a traffic policeman at the corner of Pugh St. and College Ave. between 11:45 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday when the University is in session.

● That parking and stopping be banned on Shortlidge Rd. from Pollock Rd. to College Ave. from 10:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Freshman Elect 51 To Student Councils

By PAT EVANS

Voting for freshman representatives to six student councils ended yesterday and 51 students were elected to council seats.

James Stratton, president of the Inter-College Council Board, referring to the voter turnout, said, "The returns were pathetic."

Peter Fishburn, chairman of the All-University Elections Committee, said, "The voting showed a smaller percentage than should be expected from such elections."

Elections Committee helped conduct the elections this semester for the first time.

Twenty-one students were elected to the newly-formed Division of Counseling Student Council, instead of the planned 20. There was a four-way tie for the last three council seats. Ten per cent of the DOC students voted.

Elected were Wayne Mason, James Pringle, Judith dePonceau, Sandy Meade, Leonard Rosenbaum, Fred Taylor, Richard Kovacs, Judith O'Neil, Gray Wells, Jack Smith, Barbara White, Joseph Fenkel, Barbara Motson, Robert Federoff, David Hill, David Streeter, Martin Scherr, Rosalie Mundo, Marilyn Lieberman, Frank Urban, and Michael Hazel.

Home Economics Student Council had the highest voting. Seventy-five freshmen, 33 per cent of the class, voted. The six freshmen elected to the council were: Jane Ingley, Lani Barlow, Susan Szabo, William Boyer, and Elizabeth Eagelman.

Council president Patricia Moran said, "I am very pleased with the turnout, although it could have been better." In last year's fall elections 50 per cent of the home economics freshmen voted.

In the Chemistry-Physics Student Council elections, 35 per cent of the college sophomores voted. They elected Charles Weyandt to the council seat for a sophomore in chemical engineering.

Twenty-eight per cent of the freshmen in the college voted. Freshmen elected were Steven Brown, chemical engineering; Louise Bederka, chemistry, physics and science, and Fred Pomerantz, pre-medicine.

Voting percentages were approximately the same as last fall, when 33 per cent of the eligible students took part in the elections. Carroll McDonnell, Jr., (Continued on page twelve)
