

Twice-Beaten Middies Face Booters Tomorrow

Navy — perennially one of the leading soccer outfits in the nation — invades the Beaver Field soccer turf tomorrow morning in the third straight home tilt for the Nittany Lions. Game time is 10 o'clock.

The Middies were runner-up to Maryland last year for the southern collegiate soccer title, finishing the season with a 10-2 record. But there's a leak in the Annapolis vessel this year. In fact, Navy is in the midst of one of their poorest seasons in history, posting a 2-2-1 record in their first five encounters.

But don't let that get you over-optimistic. That lone deadlock was with Maryland — a scoreless double overtime affair. And Penn State's toughest foe this fall outside of West Chester has been Maryland. The Lions edged the Terps 2-1 in a come-from-behind effort.

Navy opened the season with a 7-0 rout of Brooklyn College but Yale blanked them, 2-0, in their next outing. Then came the Maryland stalemate, a win over Georgetown and a loss to Penn. That Penn setback was last Saturday.

Glenn Warner, Navy's fiery coach, foresaw all the trouble in his pre-season team estimation.

Said Warner: "The possibility of equaling last year's fine record looks like an impossible task due to the fact that graduation took more than its usual toll. I'm afraid we have too many spots to be filled to measure up to last year's team."

There were exactly seven "spots" for Warner "to fill" this year. Included among the departed septet were defensive ace Andy Massimino — an all-America honorable mention at fullback last fall and 1956 Captain Jim O'Connell.

Heading the returnees is Captain Harvey Cameron, one of the stars in last year's 2-1 Navy victory over the Lions. Cameron is at left halfback this season after seeing two years' duty as a regular fullback.

The other first stringers back are center half John Meehan, inside left Mike Woodbury and right wing Zeke Zariquiey. Meehan is a junior while the others are seniors.

Despite the loss of seven men in Navy's starting alignment, the Middies will still field a veteran team against the Lions. Five of the other starters in tomorrow's first array earned monograms last autumn including junior center forward Dick Abington, the man who tallied Navy's winning goal in that 1956 fray with Penn State.

That means two positions, outside left and right fullback, will be held by inexperienced men. Among the best bets for the fullback slot is junior George Yerkes and sophomore Joe DeMasi. Junior Dick Abel is one choice at the terminal but Lynn Hale is also being considered for that post.

Penn State has a wide margin in the all-time series between the two clubs but Coach Ken Hosterman's personal mark is as close as a Gillette shave. The Lions lead 20-8-3 but Hosterman has won only 2 of 3 outings. His 1954 unbeaten National champions blanked the Middies 2-0 and his undefeated 1955 co-National kingpins rapped Navy, 3-1, before last year's loss.

Phi Kappa Bowling Victor

Phi Kappa swept bowling honors in Wednesday evening's fraternity A League Intramural bowling by taking all three high scoring titles and a 4-0 victory over Sigma Chi.

High singles went to Bill Mello, who bowled a 205 in his second game. Dennis Uhrin, for the second straight week, copped high series by rolling a 534 — three points over his last three-game tally. The team score for Phi Kappa was 843.

The results of the other league matches were:

Alpha Gamma Rho over Theta Chi, 4-0; Delta Tau Delta beat Alpha Sigma Phi, 4-0; Tau Kappa Epsilon defeated Delta Theta Sigma, 3-1; Phi Kappa Psi lost to Phi Epsilon Pi, 3-1; and Sigma Pi bowled to a 2-2 tie with Delta Chi.

Now, in the fourth week of bowling on the Recreation Hall alleys, Tau Kappa Epsilon shares the laurels for top keggers in the Fraternity A league with Delta Theta Sigma. Both have a 9-3 won-lost record, but TKE leads in actual over-all pin-fall with an average of 724 compared to Delta Theta-Sigma's 712 average.

Sigma Chi is third in the league standings with an 8-4 record and Alpha Sigma Phi, 4-0; Tau Kappa a 698 pin-fall average.
