

7 to Probe Seating Plan Of Cabinet

The Senior Advisory Board launched a program to re-evaluate the seating on Cabinet by approving a committee of seven seniors to investigate the situation.

A recommendation of the Student Government Workshop at Student Encampment recommended Cabinet membership be streamlined.

The recommendation said, "A committee, appointed by Cabinet, made up of non-Cabinet members, should be established to evaluate the re-distribution of Cabinet seats.

It also said Cabinet could be established so that students would be represented in a 3-fold manner—through University-wide affiliation, as with All-University and class officers; through college affiliation, through college council presidents; and through living unit affiliation.

Members of the Senior Class Advisory Board will ask that the recommendation be referred to them.

Both the program and the committee appointments are subject to Cabinet approval.

The committee as it stands now consists of Chairman Jack Halpern, Robert Yeager, Barbara Bollinger, Carolyn Johnson, Molly Lockwood, Leslie Ann Shultz and Patricia Moran.

Other committee appointments are:

Class Gift: Chairman Elizabeth Marvin, Richard Zeller, Jack Halpern, Bernie Applebaum and Isabel Barnes.

Senior Reception: Chairman Barbara Bollinger, Patricia Moran, Jane Carson and Pat Miernicky.

Ohio State Body Supports Compulsory ROTC Training

Another land grant university has jumped on the bandwagon in consideration of compulsory military training.

The Military Council, the Reserved Officers Training Corps student representative body at Ohio State University, has voted to condemn any proposal to abolish compulsory training on the campus.

Col. Kenneth J. Cunin, professor of military science and tactics at Ohio State, said this is primarily a matter for its Board of Trustees and the state legislature to decide.

As is the case at the University, military science, or ROTC, is actually just another department, although the instructors are "on loan" from the Army. As such, ROTC is subject to the decisions of the Ohio State Board of Trustees. It will be up to this group as the decision-making body of the university to have the final say on the ROTC question.

So far, the Ohio State board has said it feels the purpose of the department is different in that it teaches citizenship and discipline.

In regard to the vote of the Student Senate of the University of Wisconsin to abolish compulsory military training, Cunin said, "It simply gave the University administration an indication as to how a certain percentage of the students on their campus feel about it. We have no way of telling right now whether their Senate is truly representative of student opinion."

"No matter what I said, I could be accused of being biased, since I am in the Army," he added.

The question of abolishing compulsory training has been brought about by a ruling of the Federal government concerning ROTC at land grant schools. This ruling says that "... instruction in military tactics is obviously a requirement of the states..." The ruling continues, "... it does not appear, however, that instruction in military tactics is any more obligatory on the individual student than is instruction in agriculture or mechanical arts."

2 Education Profs Hearing to Decide To Attend Seminar Nature of Accident

Two education professors will attend the seminar of the University Council for Educational Administration next week at the University of Chicago.

They are Dr. Walter J. DeLacy, professor of educational administration and executive secretary of the State School Study Council, and Dr. Franklin A. Miller, professor of education.

An informal hearing will be held, probably next week, to determine the exact nature of a $1400 auto crash Monday afternoon at Beaver Avenue and Barnard Street involving a student and a professor.

James W. Caldwell, senior in arts and letters from Albion, was treated for abrasions of the forehead received in a crash with a car operated by Wayne Webb, professor of physics. Webb was treated for slight injuries.

James M. Caldwell, senior in meteorology from Punxsutawney, yesterday was erroneously reported as the student involved.

'New Orleans' To Be Mardi Gras Theme

This year's Mardi Gras carnival promises to provide almost as much variety as the New Orleans festival.

"Creole and French Life in New Orleans" is the theme decided upon for this year's Mardi Gras, sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's hat society. This is the first year a theme will be used.

"Moulin Rouge," "The Petit Shave Shop," "La Trois Delta Quartier," "Creole Cafe" and "Creole Capers" display the flavor of the theme.

Twenty-three sororities, the Freshman Council and Leonides have entered booths in the carnival which will be held from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m. Friday in Recreation Hall.

Pictures of each group's candidate for Mardi Gras King will be displayed today through Friday at the Athletic Store. Penny voting will be held at the carnival and not at the Athletic Store as was erroneously reported in The Daily Collegian yesterday. Each penny will count as one vote for the king.

The groups and their booth themes are:

"Wham an Alpha Gam," Alpha Gamma Delta; "X Marks the Spot," Zeta Tau Alpha; "Creole Cuisine," Kappa Kappa Gamma; "La Orleans Cafe," Kappa Delta; "Storm the Bastille," Alpha Omicron Pi; "Le Jeu de L'Amour—Game of Love," Theta Phi Alpha; "Trion by the Bayou," Trion; "Aim for Fame," Kappa Alpha Theta.

"Chez Lafitte—at the home of Lafitte," Pyrose; "Shrimp Holiday," Gamma Phi Beta; "Sever a Sigma," Sigma Sigma Sigma; "Hit a Mask and Get a Flask," Sigma Delta Tau; "Creole Cafe," Alpha Chi Omega; "Game of the Garter," Pi Beta Phi; "Hoop a Chi-O Arm," Chi Omega; "Garter the Gam," Delta Zeta.
