

Study Shows Value Of TV Instruction

A study comparing test results in televised and direct instruction classes in which no textbook was used has added to the confidence that student achievement is not suffering from the use of televised instruction, according to Leslie P. Greenhill.

Greenhill, assistant director of academic research and services, spoke before a conference on television here.

Nittany Council Votes to Seat Pollock Heads

At a joint meeting of the Nittany and Pollock Council held Monday, the group voted to seat on the Nittany Council presidents of those dormitory units, which remain in Pollock area after most of the units are disbanded in February.

One of the representatives on the council from Pollock would also sit on the Association of Independent Men's Board of Governors as a representative-at-large. The motion must be approved again at the next meeting of the joint councils before it can become an amendment to the Nittany Council constitution.

Nittany Council president George Macinko, who presided at the meeting, appointed a committee to investigate the possibility of securing a patrolmen during meal hours at the corner of East Entrance Road and Pollock Road.

Pollock Council president Robert Owens stressed the need for a patrolmen because, he said, many accidents have been narrowly avoided during the past few weeks.

41 HEc Students Receive Awards

Forty-one students in the College of Home Economics will receive awards and scholarships valued at $5675 at the annual Awards Dinner tonight in the Hetzel Union Building.

All but two of the recipients were selected by the College Scholarship Committee on the basis of financial need, scholarship and potential leadership ability.

The two exceptions are the Borden Award of $300 which is given to the senior student in home economics with the highest All-University average and the Pittsburgh Home Economics in Business award which is given to a freshman in a Pennsylvania college to study home economics.

Walker Set To Speak At Ed Day

President Eric A. Walker will be the main speaker at the Education Orientation Day, tentatively set for April 11.

Ruth Johnson, junior in elementary education from Mt. Jewett, told members of the Education Student Council last night, that Walker and Dean John R. Rackley will speak to the high school students at a mass meeting opening the Orientation Day.

Letters will be sent to principals of high schools throughout the state inviting students who have been accepted in the College of Education for the coming year.

After the mass meeting the students will observe classrooms where courses are being taught by television and "live" by professors.

The students will have the opportunity of visiting the departments in which they are interested and have seminars with faculty members from those departments.

The concluding program will be a panel consisting of the visitors, students from the College of Education, faculty members and administrative officials.

The council also voted unanimously against the fraternity-independent system for electing All-University and class officers.

A committee was set up to investigate the possibility of having student council voting held in education classes. This was suggested to overcome the "poor" participation in election. Eleven per cent of the freshmen voted last week.

The study was made in Psychology 2 classes during the spring semester, he said. The same teachers taught a group of students by televised instruction, and a comparable group by direct instruction.

All tests were based on lectures and were drawn up to "evaluate students' abilities to interpret data and understand principles as well as recall facts," he said.

When the test scores were compared, he said, no significant differences were found between the two groups.

The study was part of 30 experiments carried on in seven courses during the past five semesters to find out what effect, if any, televised instruction had on student achievement, he said.

The other six courses were general chemistry, meteorology, psychology of marriage, introductory sociology, introduction to education, and music appreciation.

In the earlier studies the same method was used but textbooks were used, he said.

The further study was made, Greenhill said, when critics pointed out that all the tests showed was students' ability to learn facts which he could easily get from a textbook and did not test his knowledge of principles.

From the results of these studies, he said, the question is not whether to use TV but how to use it.

Movie to Portray Trial of Zenger

The trial of John Peter Zenger will be portrayed in a movie entitled "Grandpa Changes the World" at 1 p.m. today in 112 Osmond.

The movie is sponsored by the Journalism 68 class, law of mass communications. The movie shows the first instance in history when truth was used as a defense in a libel case and a jury determined the law and fact.

The movie is open to the public.

Rock 'n Roll Tunes Earn Student Scorn

By BONNIE JONES

The pulsating rhythms of "rock and roll" are as appealing to University students as yesterday's Wheaties.

At least it looks that way, according to the results of the jazz poll taken last week to determine student preference in 13 different categories.

Popular standbys and progressive jazzists such as The Four Freshmen, Frank Sinatra and Gerry Mulligan received landslide votes, but not one "rocking" aggregation placed when the votes were tabulated.

The poll, sponsored by Jack Omol and Peter Duncan, members of the Jazz Club and the staff of WDFM, was the first of proposed annual jazz polls.

Ballot boxes were placed in Waring Hall, the Nittany post office, WDFM, the Hetzel Union desk and the Harmony Shop.

The winners will be considered by the Jazz Club for concerts next spring.

Such notables such as Schroeder and Lucy of "Peanuts" fame received four votes for piano and two votes for paper and comb respectively. Jack Benny also received one vote in the miscellaneous category of violin.

Winners in one, two, three order are:

Stan Kenton, Count Basie, Duke Ellington, bands; Miles Davis, Harry James, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, trumpet; Stan Getz, Vido Musso, Bill Perkins, tenor sax; Paul Desmond, Lee Konitz, Bud Shank, alto sax; Gerry Mulligan, Harry Carney, Serg. Chailoff, baritone sax.

Benny Goodman, Tony Scott, Jimmy Giuffre, clarinet; Johnny Smith, Barney Kessell, Sal Salvador, guitar; J. J. Johnson, Kai Winding, Bob Brookmeyer, trombone; Shelly Manne, Gene Krupa, Joe Morello, drums; the Four Freshmen, the Hi-Lo's, the Accidentals, vocal groups. Modern Jazz Quartet, Dave Brubeck Quartet, the Dukes of Dixieland, small groups; Charlie Mingus, Oscar Pettiford, Norman Bates, bass; Ella Fitzgerald, Chris Conner, June Christy, female vocalists; Frank Sinatra, Mel Torme, Nat "King" Cole, male vocalists; Dave Brubeck, Erroll Garner, George Shearing, piano; Milt Jackson, Lionel Hampton, Don Elliott, miscellaneous.
