Mardi Gras Kings To Parade Tonight

Twenty-four candidates for Mardi Gras king will parade with their royal retinues in a motorcade tonight.

The parade will form at the Jordon Fertility parking lot at 7:30 tonight and wind around the Nittany-Pollock area and the new women's dorms, arriving at Recreation Hall at 8 p.m. Each car may contain no more than four sponsor group members and their king. This year for the first time the kings must wear a costume related to their sponsor group's theme.

The parade will be cancelled in case of rain. Announcement of the cancellation would be made during the 6 p.m. news broadcast over radio station WMAJ.

The Mardi Gras carnival based on Creole and French life in New Orleans will begin when the parade arrive at 8 p.m. and continues until 11 p.m.

Participating groups may begin setting up booths in Rec Hall at 5 p.m. They will be assisted by members of Mortar Board and Alpha Phi Omega, men's national service fraternity.

At 9:30 p.m. the kings will be presented in their stately array.

Students may cast penny votes for the king of their choice until 10:30 p.m., when the five finalists with the highest number of penny votes will be announced. Each penny counts as one point.

Kings and their sponsor groups are:

Men Debaters Will Enter Tournament at Rochester

Four members of the men's debate team will leave this morning to take part in the International Tournament at the University of Rochester.

The tournament is the first this semester for the team. Teams from the United States and Canada will participate.

The teams will debate the national topic. Resolved: That membership in a labor organization as a condition for employment should be illegal.

Members of the affirmative team are Jay Feldstein, junior in arts and letters from Elizabeth, and David R. Scott, senior in agricultural economics-rural sociology from Harrisburg.

Negative team members are Gerald Bogus, junior in arts and letters from Brownsville, and Robert W. Adams, senior in business administration from Johnstown.

David Jabusch, assistant debate coach, graduate student in speech from State College, will accompany the team.

The tournament opens today and closes tomorrow night. The team will return to campus late tomorrow night or early Sunday.
