

Soccermen Play Cadets Away Today

By LOU PRATO

WEST POINT—Penn State's once-beaten and once-tied soccer eleven winds-up the foreign part of its 1957 schedule here this afternoon against an upset and revenge-minded Army team. Game time is at 3 p.m.

The Lions, who will be seeking their sixth win of the year, are a slight favorite to trim the Cadets but anything can happen (and it usually does) on Army's home field. A visitor seldom leaves the "friendly" Army confines with a victory, but when he does, he usually takes with him a kit full of "bumps and bruises."

Of course, the last time the Nittanies paid the Cadets a visit, they carried off a 3-1 victory. But that doesn't guarantee anything this year. In fact, it only makes the Cadets more revenge-minded.

Add this to the humiliation Army received last fall in its visit to the Nittany Valley (Penn State won, 8-1) and you can see why Lion Coach Ken Hosterman isn't taking this game lightly.

Penn State will carry a 5-1-1 record into the game against West Point's 3-2 mark. However, both Army losses were suffered away from home.

Hosterman will make only one change in the Lion starting lineup which faced the Middies last Saturday. That switch, Marlin Stover for Paul Bauer at left fullback, is made necessary because of a broken nose injury suffered by Bauer in the Navy fray.

Tony Tremonte, Hosterman's number two left fullback and a part-time starter, is also on the injured list with a blood clot in his leg. Thus, Hosterman will have to depend on Stover, an inexperienced junior, to fill the key defensive post.

If Stover fails, then Hosterman will probably switch starting center forward Ihor Chyzowych to the fullback slot. Chyzowych, a hustling sophomore, has already seen duty at inside, center forward, wing, and halfback this season.

The rest of Hosterman's starting array will find Ralph Becker at the goal; captain Ralph Brewer at the other fullback slot; Herb Hertner, Gary Miller, and Howie Maierhofer at the halfbacks; Jim Hedberg and Dave Haase at the terminals; and Per Torgeson and Bill Fiedler at the insides.

Penn State's gymnasts are unbeaten seven times, and Eastern team champions eight times, in 18 seasons under Gene Wettstone.

Smallest Lion Squad To Face Marquette

A 34-man Penn State traveling squad—the smallest of its kind since Rip Engle took over the head grid reins at University Park—left at 7:30 this morning for the Marquette encounter Saturday afternoon at Milwaukee, Wis.

Engle explained the reason for his small roster this week with the comment, "They're all the boys ready to play ball . . . and some of them are slowed up with injuries."

Engle is forced to leave behind three of his most experienced performers because of injuries—quarterback Al Jacks, guard Willard (Bull) Smith and halfback Bruce Gilmore.

Jacks is still out with a separated shoulder while Smith is nursing a pulled ligament in his knee. Both injuries were obtained in the Syracuse game. Gilmore tore a cartilage in his knee against West Virginia last Saturday. In order to give the Lions a third left halfback in case of necessity, Engle has been working Ben Williams and Bill Mendicino at that post. Williams has played fullback all season while Mendicino is normally a right halfback.

The traveling squad: ends—Les Walters, Paul North, Norm Neff, Romeo Panozzo, Ron Markiewicz and Jack Faris; tackles—Joe Bohart, Bill Wehmer, Frank Urban, Charlie Janerette, Andy Stynchula and Tom Mulreany; guards—Sam Stellatella, Richie McMullen, Skip Stallfox, Captain Joe Sabol, Frank Korbini and Earl Kohhaas; centers—Bob Rice, Charlie Ruslavage and Steve Garban.

Quarterbacks—Rick Lucas, Bob Scrabis and Pete Cimino; halfbacks—Pat Botula, Dave Kasperian, Mendicino, Bucky Paolone, Eddie Caye and Andy Moconyi; fullbacks—Maurice Schleicher, Bab Caprara, Pete Shopa and Williams.
