

Turk Troop Movements Give Syria New Jitters

DAMASCUS, Syria, Nov. 11 (P)—Syria put on a new show of war jitters today after the army reported unusually large Turkish troop movements at night along the northern frontier.

High excitement was generated also by mass street demonstrations and new editorial attacks against Hussein of Jordan, King of the brother Arab state to the south. Speakers and editorials accused him of betraying Arab nationalism and threatened him with liquidation.

Developments which otherwise could presage a new crest of the Middle East crisis were somewhat balanced, however, by unconfirmed reports from Arab sources at the United Nations in New York that Syria and the United States had agreed on steps to improve their relations.

The agreement was reported to include a new exchange of ambassadors to fill vacancies created by a near rupture last August when Damascus army chiefs accused the United States of plotting overthrow of the Syrian government.

The agreement was said to have been reached in a meeting last week between Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Asst. Secretary of State William M. Rountree.

As a result of the army reports of Turkish military movements, all Syrian troop units in the north were put on alert, and the Syrian Cabinet held a two-hour meeting in the middle of the night.

An army spokesman described the Turkish movements as "large-scale, night-long, unusual and unprecedented."

Frenchman Asks NATO Armament

PARIS, Nov. 11 (P)—Arming of all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with atomic weapons was urged today by a French senator.

The proposal for "a common program, not only in research, but in the use of atomic weapons," was put before a closed session of the military committee by NATO's Parliamentary Assembly by Gen. Marie-Emil Bethouart.

Explaining his suggestion in an interview, Bethouart said he intended for the plan to cover all NATO countries, including West Germany. "My proposal is not for individual nations but for a stockpiling by all the NATO allies," he said.

Britain and the United States presently are the only atomic-equipped NATO powers. Bethouart's proposal was seen as an indication of widespread continental uneasiness over British-American nuclear strategy excluding other NATO members.

NATO's civilian boss, Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak, last week came out for creating a trained international force able to draw on a NATO stockpile of nuclear weapons.

PanAm Starts Pacific Crash Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 (P)—Pan American began an investigation today to ascertain if there was "any evidence of a crime" involved in the baffling disappearance in the Pacific of a Stratocruiser carrying 44 persons.

A spokesman emphasized there is "nothing to indicate there has been a crime."

At 11:32 a.m. today, a Coast Guard station operator at Upolu Point, Hawaii, reported hearing what he thought could be faint SOS signals.

Capt. Donald MacDiarmid, Coast Guard chief of operations, began a check, but said, "we are hearing those things all the time." He said it was possible someone was testing emergency equipment.

In San Francisco, the Pan American spokesman said the airline's investigation included checking into insurance carried by passengers on the plane and looking into the background of various personnel.

"We were under the impression the Federal Bureau of Investigation did this," the spokesman explained. "Now we learn that the FBI enters in only when there is concrete evidence of a crime. That is not the case here."
