WH Council To Purchase Address System

The West Halls Council last night approved a proposal to purchase a portable audio distribution system for its own use.

Council members said the system would better enable it to carry out its functions and activities. If the council now wants to use a public address system, it must rent one from Audio-Visual Aids.

The system will be used for indoor and outdoor functions.

Carl Smith, council president, said the dean of men's office has offered to pay half the cost of the system.

The council will suggest to the Waring information desk that WDFM, the University radio station, be broadcast over the public address system in both Waring lounge and lobby every night from "sign-on" to "sign-off" times except when the lounge is being used for special functions.

The council adopted both a $263 council and $1173 social committee budgets for the year.

The council also passed a motion favoring the issuance of bed spreads to students in the men's residence halls who wish them.

Town Streets To Be Paved

Most State College streets in the northern section of the borough have been paved and some paving will be done in the southern area if weather permits, according to Ray Riding, resident engineer in charge of the $3 million sewer expansion program.

Paving at present is limited to the northern half of the borough. Ridge avenue, Sunset road, Arbor way, Burrows street and Cherry lane from Atherton street to the borough line have been paved. Work has begun on parts of Hillcrest avenue.

In the southern area, streets on which sewer lines were first completed will be given paving priority. The only completed line in the south is Garner street from Parkway to Nimitz avenue.

Football--

(Continued from page six) they were never serious contenders Saturday. His team was definitely the stronger of the two and proved it when forced to.

As one Lion player put it after the game: "I'm sure glad this game is over . . . you never know what to expect from a team like this." Now the Lions turn their training efforts to the Holy Cross Crusaders and the Pittsburgh Panthers—two rivals of known strength.

HUB Shows Guggenheim Collection

A collection of paintings from the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, New York, N.Y., has been placed on exhibition at the Hetzel Union Building.

Harry F. Guggenheim, president of the Board of Trustees of the Guggenheim Foundation, said this is one of the 16 groups of paintings which the Museum is loaning educational institutions throughout the country in accordance with the trustees' plan to maintain a program of long term loans to centers where paintings of the type they feature are not commonly available to the public.

The trustees felt extended loans on view in the same locale for a lengthy period will have more educational value to the borrowing institution than the brief acquaintance afforded by a traveling show.

Through such an extended loan the community is given a chance to familiarize itself with the paintings and styles of painting which constitute it, it was felt.

Guggenheim said the loans are offered not as exhibits, but rather as nuclear groups around which the borrowing institutions may build exhibitions, or as groups which may attract other loans or gifts to the institutions showing them.

The paintings which will be shown for six months at the University include works by Braque, Feininger, Kandinsky, Klee, Leger, Marc, Mooly-Nagy, Schwitters and Xceron.

Runners-up and their sponsors were James Brown, Alpha Xi Delta; Richard Doyle, Alpha Epsilon Phi; Robert Steele, Alpha Chi Omega, and James Meister, Kappa Delta.

Fought will receive a $20 gift certificate from Jack Harper's and the four runners-up will each receive $5 gift certificates.

Chimes, junior women's hat society and sponsor of the Mardi Brawl, formed an honor guard to escort the king contestants to the bandstand. Jere Fridy, president of the Phi Mu Alpha band, which furnished music at the jam session, announced the winner, Miss Penn State, Sally Lou Rolston Goas, crowned Fought king.

Marian Beatty, chairman of Mardi Gras and a member of Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, which sponsored the carnival, presented the booth trophies. She said that student support of Mardi Gras had made it possible for Mortar Board to again sponsor a foreign student at the University.

Booths at the carnival were judged on the number of tickets sold.

The theme of Kappa Delta's winning closed booth was "La Orleans Cafe." Inside students could dance with sorority members for ten cents a dance.

Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma, clad as chefs, promised to serve dinner to the fraternity that hit its square on a dart board the most times. Delta Sigma Phi was the winning fraternity. The theme of the booth was "Creole Cuisine."

Proceeds from the Mardi Brawl have been set aside for a Chimes "floating" charity fund.
