IM Boxing Tournament Will Begin December 3

Boxing, annually the most exciting and closely-followed sport on the Intramural program, will begin December 3. Entries for the 16-day tournament close at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Bouts for the eight independent and fraternity weight classes begin at 5 p.m. and usually end at 6. The bouts are arranged on a first-come, "first-served" basis.

Contestants will be permitted a three-pound allowance over the following divisions — 121, 128, 135, 145, 155, 165, 175 and unlimited. Each man must enter himself and is requested to enter in a weight class not more than five pounds under his normal weight.

Champions from any previous IM boxing tourney must move up at least one weight class. A champion in the unlimited weight class is ineligible to compete along with anyone the IM department rules is too accomplished to compete with the others in his division.

The IM office will also submit the names of all boxing entries to the University Health Service. Individual health records will be checked and some individuals will be asked to undergo a physical check-up.

A bout will consist of three rounds. The maximum length of a round will be two minutes. Rounds are usually shorter since the length depends on the discretion of the referee and attending physician. Headgear, mouth protectors and 16-ounce gloves are compulsory equipment furnished by the IM department.

Penn State and Pitt will return to their one-time traditional Thanksgiving Day date for their 1958 football duel.

Penn State again will hold a campus-based 1-day basketball clinic for high school coaches Saturday, Nov. 30.

WE'RE FOR SEBO—BUT PENN ISN'T!

It seems they're having a bit of trouble at the University of Pennsylvania over its football coach. Steve Sebo, coach of the current Quaker eleven, has been asked to turn in his spurs by the alumni, the nonfootball-playing student body, and the press.

But, Sebo isn't the only one being asked—and not so politely—to leave. These people are also gunning for current Penn Athletic Director, Jeremiah H. Ford. And, it looks like they have a case for themselves.

Since the Ford-Sebo athletic era began at Penn, the Quakers have won exactly five of their last 34 football games. This is the reason for bouncing Sebo. This year, the combined fall Penn athletic teams have posted a 12-20 won-lost mark. Four of those victories were scored by the freshman cross-country team. Athletics, it seems, is on the decline at Penn and so is Ford's popularity.

Actually, we were at first indifferent to the drive to get rid of Sebo and Ford—that's their business was our opinion on the matter. But now, we see a new angle entering the conflict: Penn upset highly-rated Yale last Saturday, 33-20. Now, we wonder, what is the next move of the critics going to be?

If nothing else, Sebo has the complete backing of his ball club. That was evident when the team presented him with the game ball from the Yale victory Monday at Penn's practice. At least for the moment, the critics may be silenced.

Should Penn win its remaining two games—Columbia and traditional Thanksgiving Day rival, Cornell—Sebo may have calmed his opponents. A loss in either club will almost certainly start the cries again. Sebo and Ford both must realize this—right now they are on that proverbial hot seat . . . and it's getting hotter by the minute.

Our opinion on the matter runs like this: Sebo's record is certainly far from impressive. But, he has been troubled by lack of talent since he took hold of the coaching reins. We're always for the underdog—and Sebo's certainly an underdog right now.

We'll be rooting for Pennsylvania success in the Quakers' last two games. But should Penn buckle and lose either or both of those games, we're afraid the game's over for Sebo—and Ford will probably hang with him. Such is the life of a football coach.

THE LITTLE SAVER

Among America's great savers, George T. Coffee is a legend. One day, George discovered that by going to sleep with his shoes on, he could save a full 60 seconds dressing in the morning. Multiplying this by 365 days—gave him over 6 hours saved per year. Then, multiplying this by 8 years—gave him 48 hours—or two full days saved! George was giddy. "Think of it," he mused. "Two full days saved to do anything . . . read, sleep or go to Europe!"

Another time, George passed a store that advertised "Save $50 When You Buy These $100 Suits!" George immediately saw the fantastic opportunity . . . realizing that he could save $100 by not buying any of these suits. Thereupon, he proceeded not to buy ten suits and rolled up a tidy $1,000 in a few seconds.

However, the best saving George ever did by far—was when he happened on the Van Heusen Vantage Shirt. Vantage is a shirt you don't have to iron . . . so you save on laundry bills. Wash it—hang it up to dry—that's all. "So what," you sneer, "aren't there other shirts that can do the same thing?" "Mebbe," we sneer, "but Vantage is a cotton shirt—with all of cotton's natural softness, porosity and comfort. And it only costs $5!"

Men—grab a pencil in your fist. Figure out your laundry bill for shirts for a year. Then figure out the price for seven Vantage shirts. You'll find that Vantage shirts actually pay for themselves in the laundry bills you save! See you at the bank.

P.S. You can also save yourself the trouble of searching for lost collar-stays. For Vantage shirts have Collarite sewn-in stays which can't get lost, keep the collar neat, always.

The Vantage . . . practically takes care of itself. No ironing . . . just wash 'n' wear. Only at . . .
