

Sororities To Consider Quota Raise

Grace Antes, president of Panhellenic Council, has asked members of Panhel to discuss the raising of the sorority quota with their respective groups and to reach a decision before the next meeting on Dec. 3.

Mrs. R. Mae Shultz, assistant dean of women, told Panhel Tuesday that approximately one-third of the 356 coeds who rushed informally did not receive bids. She also said when informal rushing ended only six sororities filled their quotas and that the remaining sororities had room for 50 coeds.

Several Panhel members said their sororities did not fill their quota because they were saving spaces for coeds who will be rushing formally in February.

As the quota is now set, a sorority is limited to 50 coeds in the fall semester. In the spring semester the sorority is also limited in 50 members, but graduating seniors are not counted in the quota as members.

A motion to raise the quota from 50 to 55 was tabled until the council's next meeting. If the quota is raised to 55, there will be 120 more openings in sororities.

Panhel tabled a motion not to co-sponsor the IFC-Panhel Ball. The council decided to wait until the Interfraternity Council votes on a proposal that fraternities financially underwrite the dance.

A report on a rushing code, which defines illegal rushing and gives the penalties for such, was tabled until the next meeting.

This was done so that Barbara Rilling, Panhel rush chairman, may revise several points with which members of Panhel disagreed. These points include the question of personal contact during rushing period and the method of reporting infractions of the rushing code.

Four May Apply For AIM Judicial

Application blanks for one permanent seat and three alternate seats on the Association of Independent Men Judicial Board of Review are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

Applicants must be of at least second-semester standing and have an All-University average of at least 2.2.

Saturday noon is the deadline for applications.

LaVie 'Farmer' Photo

The staff of the Penn State Farmer, Forester and Scientist will have a picture taken for LaVie at 8:40 tonight at the Penn State Photo Shop.

—Daily Collegian photo by Ron Miller
PITTSBURGH HERE WE COME! Students line up on a Recreation Hall stairway yesterday morning to buy tickets for the Lion-Pittsburgh game. A total of 300 tickets remain.

Special Field Trips Mark National Education Week

Education class field trips and special classroom discussions this week mark the observance of National Education Week.

The week has been designated by the National Education Association to make people more aware of the problems and progress of education.

The Education Student Council has planned a tea to be held from 4 to 5 p.m. today in dining room C of the Hetzel Union Building to mark the observance. Paul Thamas, graduate student from India, and Buntarman Sumantri, graduate student from Indonesia, will speak at the tea.

Faculty members and students from the college and members of Education Student Council will attend. The tea is open to the public.

Shortly after World War I, members of the American Legion and the National Education Association expressed a need to make the public more conscious of the importance of education in the functioning of a democracy.

National Education week, promoted mostly on a local level, is marked by teachers organizations and school assemblies.

John R. Rackley, dean of the College of Education, will deliver the keynote address today at the Central District Convention of the State Education Association at Lock Haven.

Collegian Staff Promotes Ten

Six members of The Daily Collegian advertising staff have been promoted to junior board and four to sophomore board.

Promoted to junior board were Rosemarie DiEmidio, senior in journalism from Easton; Ronald Martino, senior in journalism from Altoona; Laurel Brutout, junior in journalism from Ambridge; Sharlene Baret, senior in journalism from Pittsburgh; Rachel Waters, junior in arts and letters from Wilmington, Del.; and Frank Vojtasek, junior in journalism from Reading.

Promoted to sophomore board were Nancy Leiblic, sophomore in education from New Castle; James McGrew, junior in journalism from State College; Harriet Leaver, sophomore in education from Easton; and Darlene Anderson, sophomore in journalism from Meadville.

Ag Student Council To Drop Absentees

Spurred by continual member absenteeism, the Agriculture Student Council has voted to dismiss members who miss two meetings a semester without sending an alternate in accordance with the council's constitution.

Richard Craig, junior in horticulture from Clairton, said of the 43 council members, the most to attend any meeting this year was 27.

Russell Beatty, president, said the work of the council has been greatly hampered by the absences, because a quorum is never present.

A motion to amend the constitution regarding the time to seat new council members has been on the agenda of every meeting this year, but no action has been taken because of the number of absentees.

Duane Tobias, treasurer, said several member clubs had not paid their dues. Robert Heilman, junior in dairy science from Norristown, moved that a fine of $5 be imposed upon clubs that have not paid their dues by December.

Beatty appointed Craig chairman of a student recruitment committee. Committee members are Glen Klippenstein, junior in animal husbandry from Bryn Athyn, and Walter North, senior in agronomy from Haverstown.

The student recruitment plan is an idea devised to interest high school students in agriculture at the University. Agriculture students give talks to high school students in their home towns during the semester vacation.

Beatty said the enrollment of the University has been increasing, but the enrollment in the College of Agriculture has remained the same in proportion until last year when it increased about 12 per cent. He said that the student recruitment plan, which was introduced last year, may have been partially responsible for this.

Shambaugh Named LaVie Chairman

George Shambaugh, editor of LaVie, has been named chairman of the LaVie Board of Directors.

Other officers are Edward Dubbs, senior in journalism from Waynesboro, vice president; Woodrow W. Bierly, news assistant in the Department of Public Information, secretary, and George Donovan, director of Associated Student Activities, treasurer.

H. Eugene Goodwin, director of the School of Journalism, was named a member of the board.

Through the Looking Glass

with Jan

Unfortunately we've reached that awful stage between home games and Thanksgiving. It happens ever year and is usually accompanied by a deluge of bluebooks. It's been proven, though, that a break in studying is very beneficial. Why not take yours while browsing at Ethel's.

The Keys of the Kingdom are at your fingertips with a new key ring from Ethel's. Each one an individual type . . . with gold or silver medallions or uncut semi-precious stones. They're just $2.00 . . . a treat for yourself as well as a lovely gift.

For the Someone who has everything, Ethel suggests a new diamond studded belly-button brush. What could be better for just $1.00 (a neb-bish card would be the perfect complement.)

Just a Reminder that

Christmas-is-a-coming . . . and Ethel has some of the most beautiful and unique Christmas cards you've ever seen. Everything from modern slim-jims to traditional holly and wreath cards. They're for you to buy just as they are or better yet to have personalized. Get a head start on the crowds . . . pick out yours today.

Ethel Messer

112 E. COLLEGE AVE. 7

FREE

6 Campus Views in attractive photo album (picturing Old Main, Library, etc.)

Send it home for the folks to enjoy

FREE with every film developed and printed

Centre County Film Lab

122 W. Beaver Ave.

25 [👑] Hallmark SLIM JIMS FOR YOUR PERSONAL SIGNATURE - 1.50

smart, distinctive styling . . . Hallmark Christmas Cards in the new Slim Jim shape! Many designs and themes from which to choose . . . religious, traditional, or modern. Come in now to select from our complete stock. As advertised on the Hallmark Hall of Fame.

McLANAHAN'S open til 10:30 every night