

Lion-Size Problem: Stop Greene

Passing Game Expected; Kasperian Runs at Home

contest. Engle issued an emphatic "He will not play!" when asked if he intended to use Jacks today. But, as has been known of coaches in the past, he may change his mind should the necessity arise.

The game is also a personal homecoming for Penn State halfback Dave Kasperian. Kasperian was born in Worcester.

He could not make his high school grid team because he was too light. Now, he is the Lions' leading ground-gainer with 380 yards in 94 carries for a 3.6 average. Quite ironic, to say the least.

Holy Cross hopes rose when it was learned that halfback Ed Hayes, considered the best of the Crusaders' running backs at the start of the season, will be back in action today. Hayes was injured in the Crusaders' VMI game and has since appeared in only the Dartmouth game.

Penn State, however, will find themselves without two of their most prominent relief men—guard Willard (Bull) Smith and halfback Bruce Gilmore. Both men are lost for the season with knee injuries.

Patrick, in his scouting report, injected a new angle into the contest in his scouting report. According to Patrick, the Lions can look for the Crusaders to be up for the game because of the two previous beatings they absorbed at the hands of the Lions.

"The whole ball club (Holy Cross) remembers that 46-0 defeat last year and should be aiming for this game," Patrick said. Patrick especially mentioned Greene as a Crusader who will be out to redeem himself for his performance last year when he had several passes intercepted and two kicks blocked.

Although it is still a quiet note around the Penn State campus, a win for the Lions is a must if they expect to remain in contention for a possible bowl bid—however small that contention may be right now.

At the moment, the Lions were mentioned in contention for a possible bid to the Cigar Bowl. And, according to latest reports, the Gator Bowl selection committee will take another gander at Eastern records before naming its two competitors. A Nittany loss would completely dissolve any bowl possibilities for Penn State.

The game also puts a personal streak of Engle's on the line. The past five times an Engle-coached outfit played the Crusaders, his teams have always come out the winners. In his last three years at Brown University, Engle's teams have whipped the Crusaders and, as already mentioned, he won both games while at the Lion helm.

Lions Haven't Won Title Since 1951 Harriers in IC4-A's Monday

By GEORGE FRENCH
The Penn State cross-country team will seek its first IC4-A title since 1951 Monday afternoon on the 5-mile Van Cortlandt course in New York City.

The Lions will receive stiff competition for the crown from Fordham, St. John's, Notre Dame, Syracuse, St. Joseph's, Pitt, Manhattan, Cornell and defending champion Michigan State.

Michigan State will be very hard pressed to retain the title after losing its 4th, 5th and 12th place finishers in last year's meet. Last year the Spartans, led by their Scot-Canadian ace, Henry Kennedy, who won the individual crown, won the meet with a low of 34 points. St. Joseph's was a distant second with 148 points, followed by the Lions with 158 points.

Earlier in the fall a flu-weakened Nittany squad dropped a 24-

31 decision to the Spartans, but the Lions are expected to be in top form for Monday's encounter.

Last week's 23-32 loss to Manhattan on the Van Cortlandt course is expected to have little bearing on the Lions' performance Monday except that the Nittany harriers are not likely to make the mistake of running the first mile too fast as they did against the Jaspers last Saturday.

Varsity Coach Chick Werner inserted the top five finishers in the Manhattan meet—Captain Fred Kerr, Ed Moran, Chick King, Joe Thompson and Dick Engelbrink—into his IC4-A lineup and held a time trial Wednesday to determine the other two members of the team.

State College's Clem Schoenebeck won the time trial in 26:40 for the five miles, followed by senior Al Jones, who ran the course 37 seconds faster than he had ever done before. Werner seemed quite pleased with the results of the time trial and the generally good performances of his harriers throughout the week.

Werner had reason to be pleased, for if Schoenebeck and Jones do as well on Monday as they did on Wednesday, the chances are extremely good that Lion harriers will carry home their seventh IC4-A title since the sport was begun in 1912. The Nittany squads won the title in 1926, 1927, 1928, 1930, 1950 and 1951.

Norm Gordon's freshman squad has an even better chance to bring back a title to University Park. The Lion yearlings' top competition will be supplied by Manhattan, but on paper the Lion frosh appear to have the edge.

Running on the freshman team will be Denny Johnson, Herm Weber, Ken Hunter, Bill Schoenebeck, Dick Anderson, Ron Landon and Skip Johnston. Johnson, undefeated in three meets this season, appears to be the top choice for the freshman individual title.

Sooners-Irish Meet Today In TV Game

By the Associated Press
In 79 football meetings, Yale and Princeton have established one of the game's oldest and finest traditions. Oklahoma and Notre Dame have done much the same thing in just three.

They're a contrasting pair of important games and among the most interesting on a schedule loaded with contests in which sectional championships may be decided and bowl invitations earned.

Some of the others include a tussle between Mississippi and Tennessee which carries quite a bit of tradition along with other factors of importance; the Big Ten title battle between Iowa and Ohio State; the Texas A&M-Rice struggle in the Southwest Conference and Duke's clash with Clemson in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Oklahoma, which so far this year hasn't shown much of its old explosive scoring power, needs an imposing victory to remain in the race for the national championship.

Although it has clinched the Big Eight championship and a place in the Orange Bowl game, Oklahoma is only a shaky second in the Associated Press poll ratings. As long as top-ranked Texas A&M and third-ranked Auburn keep rolling along, the Sooners have to do more than just win to hold their place.

Navy, which has indicated it would accept a bowl invitation if it beats Army this year, plays George Washington. Army, which has said it isn't interested in post season games, meets Tulane.

Standout games in the East are: Colgate-Syracuse, Penn State-Holy Cross, Brown-Harvard, Penn-Columbia.

Out On a Limb

Disagreement reigns supreme with The Daily Collegian's glorious grid experts this week. In only six of the 15 "Games of the Day" do our hapless prognosticators (now there's a word for you) join in alliance. And in every one of those games, our proficient crystal-ball gazers naturally string along with the favorite.

They even have the nerve to go against the advice of staff analyst Earl "I'm Always Right" Kohnfelder in picking the nation's number one team, Texas A&M, over Rice. Kohnfelder is among the 60,000 persons expected at that Southwest Conference tilt.

But the boy with the wildest imagination is sports ed "Vicious" Vince Carocci, currently sharing the lead with "Lucky" Lou Prato. "Vicious," who has always had Irish blood in his veins (via the Mediterranean Sea and Scranton) hopes to call mighty Oklahoma's bluff by predicting victory for Notre Dame.

"Vicious" also makes "loner" picks with SMU, Iowa, and Stanford. This could be "Vicious'" week.

But "Lucky" Lou has a few of his own tricks. He doesn't think Vanderbilt can lick Florida ("They should never have beaten us," he says.) And he also takes Southern Cal over the probable Rose Bowl representative Oregon.

"Magnificent" Matt Mathews seems to have an affinity for women for he disagrees in only one instance with the coaches' representative, Louise Nixon, an illustrious secretary in the football office.

The Hamilton Hillbillies, Nittany 25 and the Hamilton Wildcats copped their second wins of the intramural basketball season Thursday night at Recreation Hall.

The Wildcats beat the Hamilton Hustlers, 38-23; the Hillbillies walloped Hamilton A, 52-24; and Nittany 25 defeated Dorm 21, 19-14.

The victories enabled the Hillbillies and Wildcats to take the lead in their respective leagues and Nittany 25's victory put them in a tie for first place in their division.

The three fraternity games on the schedule saw Kappa Delta Rho defeat Beaver House, 29-21; Acacia edge Delta Chi, 28-25; and Phi Sigma Delta beat Kappa Sigma, 31-15.

In the independent contests, the Night Riders defeated the Cardinals won over the McElwain Men, 26-22; and Nittany 34 beat the Nimble Nittanics, 33-14.

leading scorer of the night with 16 points, as he led his teammates on to their first victory of the season.

Maruca, Derby, Hill and Fridy were tied for second place scoring honors as each netted 12 counters.

Conway, Dave Bonello, Henry Fletcher and Rich Lucas also hit for double figures.

Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Delta Rho, Sigma Chi and Alpha Sigma Phi are all defending league champions. They have all won their first games this season. Alpha Sigma Phi was the fraternity champion last season, when it halted KDR's 2-year monopoly.
