

Avengeful Booters Host Penn Today

By LOU PRATO

Last season Penn State's soccer team suffered only two losses and one tie in eleven outings. The booters haven't been too successful this fall in avenging two of those setbacks but they get a chance to avenge the third when Pennsylvania visits Beaver Field this afternoon. Kickoff time is at 2:30 p.m.

Penn and Navy were the only teams to beat the Nittanies in 1956 and West Chester was the culprit in that deadlock. The Lions have demonstrated their revenge capabilities this season by losing to West Chester, 5-1, and tying the Middies, 2-2.

(Adding an ironic sidelight, all of last year's games were played on the opponent's home turf while this season the Lions are the host club.)

Penn's 3-2 conquest last fall can hardly be forgotten by Nittany soccer fans. The Lions outthrustled, outkicked, outran and outplayed the Quakers for 88 minutes.

And that wasn't all. The victory ended a 22-game unbeaten skein for the Lion booters and gave the arch-rival Pennsylvania school its first win over Penn State since 1918. The series which began in 1911 now stands at 13-3-2 in favor of the Lions.

Two of those Penn State victories have been recorded in the Ken Hosterman coaching regime—a 6-0 win in 1953 and a 3-2 victory the following year.

There will probably be some changes in the Lions' starting alignment today from the end which opened against Army last Friday. The major alteration will be at left fullback where veteran Paul Bauer returns after a week's absence because of a broken nose.

Ihor Chyzowych, the starter at left full against the Cadets and an all-around utility starter, may find himself on the sidelines at game time. Chyzowych has played at every position except center halfback and goalie this season. Hosterman indicated yesterday that he plans to use Chyzowych, "but I'm not sure where," he said.

The diminutive sophomore may be moved back to fullback with Bauer shifting to center half. The regular center half, Gary Miller, was kicked in a practice session this week, and "may" be forced to miss today's contest.

The rest of the Lions' first array is pretty well set with Jim Hedberg and Dave Hasse teaming up at the wings; Per Torgerson and Mike Stollmeyer displaying their talents at the insides; Bill Fielder working at the mobile center forward slot; Herb Hertner and Howie Maeirhofer flanking the center half; captain Ralph Brower tackling the right fullback post; and sophomore Ralph Becker guarding the nets.

Fiedler, the Lions' leading scorer with 14 goals, was on the "doubtful" list earlier in the week because of a broken toe suffered at West Point. But he will be in the lineup today.

In reserve, Hosterman will have veteran Walt Krauser at halfback (he could be a starter at right half); Marlin Stover at fullback; Lorren Kline, Lou VanRafelghem and Pete Wadsworth on the forward line; and Jerry Bruce and Don Dougald at goal.

POSSIBLE LINEUPS:

PENN STATE	POST	PENN
Becker	G	Williams
Brower	RF	Briggs
Bauer	LF	Lee
Hertner or Krauser	RH	Buten
Miller	CH	Jerbas
Maeirhofer	LF	Will Schroth
Hedberg	OR	Strickland
Stollmeyer	IR	Rockett
Fiedler	CF	Davis
Torgerson	IL	Ray Schroth
Hasse	OL	Mayall

Penn State Subs: Ihor Chyzowych, Jerry Bruce, Don Dougald, Pete Wadsworth, Lorren Kline, Lou VanRafelghem, and Marlin Stover.

New Tribe GM Lane Talks Trade with A's

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14 (AP)—Frank Lane, new general manager of the Cleveland Indians, was laying the groundwork today for a possible player trade with the Kansas City Athletics.

Johnson said he needed pitchers and outfield help and Lane said infielders were his prime concern.

Players mentioned included outfielders Al Smith and Rocky Colavito of the Indians and second baseman Billy Martin and first baseman-outfielder Vic Power of the Athletics.

—Daily Collegian Photo by Joe Patton
KEY TO DEFENSE—Starting fullbacks Paul Bauer, left, and Ralph Brower, right, and reserve goalie Don Dougald will be the keys to the Lion soccer team's defense against Penn today. All were members of last year's Nittany squad which dropped a 3-2 decision to the Quakers.

Stevens Leads DU To Swimming Win

By BEN BRONSTEIN

Three fraternities scored overwhelming victories over their opponents in intramural swimming action last night.

Delta Upsilon trounced Tau Phi Delta, 35-6; Delta Chi whipped Alpha Epsilon Pi, 27-10; and Sigma Chi won over Alpha Gamma Rho, 27-14.

Adie Stevens led his DU teammates to their resounding win by personally copping three first places, thus emerging the individual star for the evening.

Stevens' wins were in the 60 yard free style (:32.0) and the 60 yard breast stroke (:40.5). He also edged his teammate Ogie Norris, 17.5 points to 16.2, to score his final triumph in the diving contest.

Norris won the 60 yard back stroke with a time of :43.6 and also teamed with Rae Hoopes, George McLeod and Dick Hammond to take the 120 yard relay event with a clocking of 1:02.8.

Mike Stollmeyer, of Lion soccer fame, utilized his powerful kicking legs to lead his Delta Chi team to its victory in competition with AEPi. Stollmeyer's :34.2 won the 60 yard free style, and he led the relay team to its 1:01.5 winning time in the 120 yard relay. Teammate Bob Shiffner was no less a deciding factor as he won the 60 yard back stroke (:40.6), placed second in diving, and was a member of the victorious relay team also.

Delta Chi's other first place was in the 60 yard breast stroke with Jim Hepler the victor. AEPi's sole win was in diving in which Pete Glick won with 13.1 points.

In the final meet of the night, Jim Short proved to be the ace of Sigma Chi by winning the 60 yard free style, timed at :34.6, and diving to victory with a total of 13.4 points. Sigma Chi's Tom Barnes was the first to finish in the 60 yard back stroke (:43.4).

Sigma Chi's relay team won its event also (1:08.3). AGR's lone first place was provided by Dick Campbell in the breast stroke (:44.2).

As a MATT-er-a-FACT

By MATT MATHEWS
Assistant Sports Editor

PITT'S LAST 'BIG' YEAR

At the annual Pittsburgh JayCee All-Star game held in August we were in the company of Pitt's... sports publicity director "Beano" Cook when someone made the comment, "This is our (Pitt's) last 'big' year."

Nobody believed him.

At the time, Pitt had one of its most highly-rated teams (anywhere from sixth through tenth on the pre-season polls) prepping for mighty Oklahoma. And many writers in that press box, including this one and naturally "Our Boy Beano," thought that the Panthers had a good chance of knocking off the football giants from Norman, Okla.

But Cook thought that the Panthers would lose four others. They were Southern California (whom they beat by two TD's), West Virginia or Syracuse (they lost both by upsets), Penn State and Miami (who they meet in a TV game December 7 in sunny Florida.)

Cook was wrong on a few counts—too many counts. The Panthers now own a dismal 3-5 record with wins over SC, Oregon (6-3 on a last-minute TD) and hapless Nebraska. Right now, they are resting up for us.

But to get back to the main topic: Is this really Pitt's last big year?

Every team will naturally lose some of their big stars. And although this is nearly the end of another season, we will not elaborate more on the upcoming Pitt losses other than to state that they will lose first stringers end Dick Scherer, tackles Jim McCusker (ohh how he'll be missed) and Ron Kissle, guards Dan Wisniewski, Dick Carr and John Guzik (the most underrated player on the team) and All-America center candidate Charlie Brueckman. As a matter of fact, that's the whole line.

But its not our job to give you the inside on Pitt, and we will get down to our part of the problem: What does Pitt have coming up from the freshman team.

Well, we covered the Lion-Panther frosh this year and the Panther cubs impressed us not. Now this is in complete contradiction to what Pitt Freshman coach Steve Petro espoused prior to the opening of the season.

Petro called his 1957 edition "the finest squad since the one on which Corny Salvaterra (remember him?) was a yearling."

Things didn't go too well for Petro's "finest squad since" (to put it mildly) and they dropped their first two games to the Lions, 13-7, and the Middies, 25-13. Then they scored "impressive" shut-outs over West Virginia, 34-0, and Kent State (where's that?), 44-0.

After this last victory of his 2-2 season, Petro regained his confidence and issued the following: "If we could only play Penn State and Navy again."

There was actually only one athlete that stood out for the Panthers in our mind. He was end Mike Ditka who scored the only TD for the yearlings in their loss to the Lions. And although Petro's train of thought makes the upcoming Panthers a top outfit, we can't see it.

With the graduation losses and the non-outstanding talent coming up for Pitt next year, maybe that guy was right when he said "This is our last 'big' year."

★ ★ ★

Penn State alumnus Bill Adler got his TV Guide magazine and Gulf Oil to co-sponsor the State-Holy Cross game over Pittsburgh's biggest radio station, KDKA. Just wondering whether this will be good or bad for us.

IM Boxing Entries Due

All entries for the Intramural boxing tournament must be turned in by 4:30 p.m. Tuesday to the IM office at Recreation Hall. Each competitor must enter himself.

Introducing — the Arrow Car Coat

Here's a wonderful coat for outdoor activity. It's windproof, water repellent, finger-tip in length—looks and feels great. Yours in two models; choice of lightweight patterned lining or quilted lining and detachable hood for colder weather. Arrow Car Coats from $19.95. Other jackets from $12.95. Arrow Crew neck sweater just $10.00. Cluett, Peabody & Company, Inc.

ARROW

CASUAL WEAR

first in fashion

