

Coaches Rate Pittsburgh Coed Named to Hockey Team Best of Lion Grid Foes

There are many people connected with Penn State football who think that Pittsburgh, the Lions' next and last opponent, is the best team Coach Rip Engle's squad will have to face this season—and that includes the Lion coaching staff.

Assistant coach J. T. White, the Lions' scout for the Pitt game, said that the Panthers, despite their 3-5 record, are "a great ball team when at full strength."

White watched the Panthers lose to Army, Syracuse and West Virginia—all former Lion foes—but said that, with the exception of the Army game, either loss could have gone the other way. Syracuse edged the Panthers, 24-21, while West Virginia scored a 7-6 victory. Army rolled over Pitt, 29-13, but the score was only 6-6 at halftime.

However, in all three games, the Panthers have been handicapped somewhat by injuries to key players. In fact, injuries have been Coach Johnny Michelosen's biggest worries.

However, while the Lions were waging a dogfight with Holy Cross last Saturday, Pitt had a weekend off—and plenty of time

Being named to one of the top eight field hockey teams in the country is becoming a habit for Maxine Hampton who was named for the second consecutive year to the mid-east hockey team in try-outs last week.

As a freshman last year, Miss Hampton was the first Penn State coed to be selected to play in the U.S. field hockey tryouts.

Again this year, she was named to the left fullback position on the mid-east second team by the selections committee of the Mid-East Field Hockey Association. She was chosen on the basis of her outstanding defensive play and smooth stickwork at Batavia, N.Y. last Saturday as a member of the central Pennsylvania college team.

Maxine took the first step to success when she was chosen for:

the central Pennsylvania college team, Nov. 9, at Wilson College along with three of her Penn State teammates—Betty Spencer, Joan Brown and Janet Kuntzman.

During the Thanksgiving vacation Maxine will play as a member of the mid-east's second team against teams from the other seven sections of the country at Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

A third semester business education major from Darby, Maxine has been playing field hockey for seven years—since she was in junior high school. Dr. Mildred Lucey is Maxine's hockey coach at Penn State.

DU Upsets Swim Champs In Quarter-Final Action

By NORM LOCKMAN
Tau Kappa Epsilon, defending champs of the '56 intramural swimming season were upset by Delta Upsilon 25-16 on Tuesday night in the quarterfinal meets at Glennland Pool. Three other fraternity teams advanced to the semi-finals.

Delta Chi winners: Mike Stollmeyer, Bob Schiefner, Jim Hepler, Jake Engle and Jim Short.

Adie Stevens, Rae Hoopes, and the relay team—George McLeod, Dick Hammond, Ogie Norris, and Hoopes—combined efforts for the DU win. Stevens took the free style in :32.2 and Hoopes won the 60-yard breast stroke sprint in :46.8.

The 120-yard relay event finished in 1:01.1. Jim Rossi helped the TKE cause with wins in the back stroke (:39.4), and the diving competition with 22.2 points.

Other competition saw Delta Tau Delta defeat Delta Sigma Phi, 25-16; Alpha Tau Omega beat Beta Theta Pi, 27-14; and Delta Chi defeat Sigma Chi, 24-17.

ATO-Beta Theta Pi winners: Carl Tonberg, Ed Schwar, Larry Baur, Harry Sload, Bill Wiel, Bill Pindar and Jack Mallory.

DTD-Delta Sigma Phi winners: Bob Berry, Bob Pulver, Harry Calley, Ron Kolb, Jim Eastman and Ron Passmore. Sigma Chi-

to recuperate. With the possible exception of Brueckman, who is sidelined with a shoulder separation, all the Panthers are expected to be ready for the Lions.

White said that the Panthers have a hard-running ground game with an adequate passing attack. He said that, although the Panthers show more power on the ground, most of their scoring that he has seen has come by passing. "They can run the ball but when they need a pass they throw it," he said.

Again, the Lions will be facing a team that outweighs them physically. Pitt's line, topped by McCusker at 241 and tackle Ron Kissel at 230, boasts an average weight of 214 against the Lions' 197. Backfield weights read: Penn State 183, Pitt 187. The team average weight is: Penn State 192, Pitt 204.

Individually, the Panthers star McCusker at tackle, Dick Scherer at end—a second team end on the INS All-East team, incidentally—Brueckman, when physically fit, at center and a solid backfield topped by Scisly, Haley, fullbacks Fred Riddle and Bob Stark and an adequate quarterbacking corp of junior Bill Kaliden and sophomore Ivan Tonicic.

White said he was looking for another rough, tough Penn State-Pitt battle, but assistant coach Joe Paterno probably summed up the coaches' feelings the best when he said: "Pitt is by far the best team we'll face all year."
