

Debaters Participate In Vermont Tourney

The four members of the men's debate team who took first place in the International Tournament two weeks ago are participating in a tournament at the University of Vermont.

Borough Refers Traffic Request To Commission

Borough Council has referred to the traffic commission a student request to have a policeman at the intersection of College Avenue and Pugh Street between 11:45 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. daily.

The request was made by Herbert Heffner, representative of the All-University Cabinet committee on town affairs. He asked on Monday that the policeman be placed at the intersection to regulate the heavy flow of traffic during the lunch hour. The policeman would be on duty every day classes are held.

The council also gave a vote of confidence to the airport authority.

The vote was given regarding construction of an airport in the area. The council also gave the authority permission to consult the University and any other interested parties for advice. It made no financial commitment or any other agreement with the authority.

The council approved Ordinance 532, which recognizes the existing police force in the borough and continues it. It also sets up four ranks: chief of police, sergeant, corporal and patrolman. Until Monday, the borough had no ordinance officially recognizing its police force.

Ulrich to Speak At Journ Event

E. Huber Ulrich, vice president and public relations director of Curtis Publishing Co., will speak at a luncheon Monday at the State College Hotel.

Ulrich attended Purdue University and is a 1922 graduate of the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania. He is director of the state Chamber of Commerce and the U.S. Trade-mark Association, and a member of professional and civic groups.

The Journalism I class will hear Ulrich discuss the magazine field at 11 a.m. Monday in 112 Buckhout.

TIM Opens Survey On Clubhouse

A survey to determine interest in the "Club TIM" project, which began yesterday, will include 200 juniors, 200 sophomore and 200 freshmen.

According to a report made to the Town Independent Men Council Wednesday, the survey not only will try to discover how many TIM students would like a clubhouse but to see how many would contribute financially. The freshmen are being included because of the large proportion that move into town in their sophomore year.

In other business at the meeting it was announced that campus radio station WDFM will sponsor a record hop in the Hetzel Union ballroom if TIM will sponsor it and provide publicity. The council decided to sponsor a total of four dances in the near future on a trial basis. This motion was made with the provisions that George L. Donovan, manager of student activities, approves the use of the HUB and that the TIM social committee determines the four dates.

James Wambold, council president, said Charles Heiny was dropped from council because of three absences. The council elected Hugh Wagner, junior in business administration from Gowen City, to fill the vacancy.

Wambold also announced the following committee chairman appointments: Donald Fara a baugh, social; David Detzer, publicity; Louis Testen, membership; Paul Rosenberger, constitution; Donald Dennis, finance; Charles Bartholomew, projects; Stanley Wielobob, intramurals; and Leo Fregly, secretarial.

Missing--

(Continued from page one) disappear without some trace." She said she has called school friends of the youth as far away as California and Vermont and has also checked with relatives.

"I just can't understand it at all," Mrs. Rhoad told a Collegian reporter last night. "We have never had a bit of trouble with him."

Mr. and Mrs. Rhoad are going to visit the campus today to get their son's belongings and to talk with Ronald Casey, McKee residence hall counselor.

Approximately 40 teams from the New England and Middle Atlantic states are enrolled in the tournament which began yesterday and ends tonight.

Members of the affirmative team are Jay Feldstein, junior in arts and letters from Elizabeth, and David R. Scott, senior in agricultural economics-rural sociology from Harrisburg.

Negative team members are Gerald Bogus, junior in arts and letters from Brownsville and Robert W. Adams, senior in business administration from Johnstown.

The teams will debate the national topic, "Resolved: That membership in a labor organization as a condition for employment should be illegal."

Harold J. O'Brien, professor of public speaking and acting debate coach, is accompanying the team.

The four debaters and their coach left Lewistown by train Thursday afternoon. They expect to return to campus late tomorrow night.

A team from the University participated in the tournament last year but did not place. Dartmouth college took first place and the University of Vermont second.

Auto Hits Son Of Grad Student

A 6-year-old son of a University graduate student was slightly injured Thursday afternoon when struck by a car on campus.

David Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Chambers, is under observation in Centre County Hospital, Bellefonte, for bruises of the head. He was treated by a State College physician before being taken to the hospital.

Mrs. Edith C. Houston, Lemont, was driver of the car which struck the Chambers boy. Campus patrolmen said the child ran from behind a parked car.

Chambers is a graduate student in chemistry.

Players' Ad Crew

Players' advertising crew for "Amahl and the Night Visitors" and "Apollo of Bellac" will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Schwab Auditorium loft.

'Operatic' Blue Band To Perform at Pitt

Not only will loyal Lion rooters see their football team in its last scheduled game of the season, but they will be treated to a half-time performance by the marching Blue Band today.

This is the second year in a row the Blue Band will make the trip to Pittsburgh, and the band members have been drilling overtime for their "classical" halftime show.

Before starting the show, the band will march in and pay tribute to both universities as it spells out "Pitt," then "State" on the field. During the latter formation, the band will play the "Alma Mater."

The band will then proceed to form six formations depicting songs from various operas, paying tribute to Pittsburgh's cultural program.

While the band forms two long lines, the drum major and the Nittany Lion will march down the "wedding aisle" to the strains of the Wedding March of Lohengrin. Following this, the Blue Band will play "A Wandering Minstrel" from the Mikado as its members stroll over the field.

From there, the Blue Band visits Spain with a rendition of the "Toreador Song" from Carmen. During the number, the band will form a bull ring as a foreador (probably the Nittany Lion) marches around the ring.

In homage to an opera of biblical fame, the band will play "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Samson and Delilah and go into one of its most difficult formations: a palpitating heart.

No sooner do the members stop the palpitating routine, then they start galloping around the field to the Overture from the opera by William Tell. The multitudinous Lone Rangers will end their antics in a special formation for a special little-known opera: "Ernio Kovack-ski." In this formation, the Blue Band will play the theme from Ernie Kovacks' television show.

Honorary Society Initiates 10 Coeds

Ten sophomores have been initiated into Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary scholastic society.

Initiates are Gail Berkowitz, Sandra Bodnar, Darla DeRoss, Faith Horne, Mary McFarland, Lois Martin, Grace Sears, Dorothy Smeal and Nancy Werner.

Parking Limit For Downtown Recommended

The State College area Chamber of Commerce has recommended to the borough traffic commission that parking be limited to one hour in the downtown area.

The area is bordered by Pugh Street, Beaver Avenue, Frazier Street and College Avenue, according to Eugene M. Fulmer, secretary of the Chamber.

Fulmer said parking would be limited to one hour except at places already designated for shorter parking periods.

The Chamber recommended that parking meters charge one cent for 12 minutes and 5 cents an hour. It also recommended that the 1-and 2-hour parking limits be more strictly enforced throughout the rest of the borough.

In the event of a shortage of personnel to police the parking areas, the chamber recommended the hiring of "meter maids" to patrol the downtown parking areas and enforce parking regulations by imposing fines for violations.

The chamber also recommended the installation of "Fine-O-Meter" boxes on parking meters. This would enable parking violators to drop payment of fines into the boxes, thus saving a trip to the Municipal Building.

Behind the ROTC Question

BusAd Council to Investigate ROTC

Fifth of a Series

At the suggestion of its president, the Business Administration Student Council has established a committee to investigate the compulsory ROTC question and report at the council's Dec. 4 meeting.

President Michael Walker asked council members to interview members of the faculty, ROTC officers and students and come up with concrete facts which would aid Walker when he votes on the question at the Dec. 5 All-University Cabinet meeting.

The Business Administration Council is the first group to consider the question which has set up a committee to investigate it. (The Liberal Arts Student Council resolution, the first on the question, was sponsored by eight or ten students.)

Four other student government groups have considered the question. The Engineering and Architecture and the Chemistry and Physics Student Councils voted to favor abolition of compulsory ROTC.

The Agriculture Student Council voted to favor retaining the program but to disfavor its inclusion in the College of the Liberal Arts as was recommended Nov. 7 by the Committee on Educational Policy of the University Senate. Leonides Council voted to favor or compulsory civil defense training for women, another proposal of the Senate committee, but took no action on other aspects of the question.

In asking for the council committee Walker implied the other groups were jumping blindly into the question by voting on something they knew little about.

The Senate committee recommendations included establishment of an integrated ROTC-CD course required of all men and women for two years and establishment of a School of Military Science and Civil Defense in the College of the Liberal Arts.

The Liberal Arts Council resolution, which none of the councils accepted intact, recommended rejection by the Senate of its committee report, abolition of compulsory ROTC and inclusion of a civil defense course in the men's and women's required physical education courses.
