Fee Forms To Be Sent Thursday

Bursar David C. Hogan has announced that forms for the payment of the spring semester fees will be mailed to all students on Thursday.

The forms will contain a letter from Controller Carl R. Barnes reminding students that all fees must be paid before registration. The forms will enable the students to pay by mail or in-person.

Hogan asked that students who plan to pay by mail send in their completed forms as soon as possible so receipts may be returned in time for registration.

Fixed charges for the semester will remain at $175 for in-state students and $375 for out-of-state students. Combined room and board charges will also remain the same as last semester.

Hogan reminded students enrolled under Public Law 550 (Korean Veterans) that the Veterans Administration pays all educational benefits directly to the veteran who is responsible personally to the University for payment of his total fees and charges, according to Hogan.

The Bursar's Office in the basement of Willard Building will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. including lunch hours Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Any questions concerning payment of fees may be addressed to this office.

Additional campaigns for George "Larry" Sharp, sophomore accident victim, are being carried on in his home town of Upper Darby and by students in his high school. Pictures and stories about Sharp have been run in papers throughout the state.

The University campaign was started to raise money to help pay for some of Sharp's hospital expenses. He has been paralyzed since Oct. 11 when he broke his neck in a fall from a trampoline. His hospital expenses have been estimated to run between $25,000 and $30,000.

BusAd Council Votes Against Rotation System

The Business Administration Student Council has voted 16-7 against the present fraternity-independent rotation system in the election of All-University officers.

Vincent Marino, sophomore from Clearfield, on Wednesday told the council the present rotation system was "detrimental to student government." The system "deprives good men from taking office just because it is an offset for the fraternity members or the independents. If the system is abolished, fraternities may win the first few elections but this will only emphasize the problem and will nullify the behind a common goal."

Jack Halpern, senior from Altoona, spoke in favor of the system. "Indies aren't interested in student government," he said, "and those who are interested can't get enough support from other Indies. Therefore, the rotation system should be kept."

Burton Hollander, vice president of the council, will be acting president for the next eight weeks. Michael Walker, president of the council, will take part in a business administration internship program. Louis Herman was elected second vice president in order to take over the duties of the vice president.

Frosh Punished For Cheating

One freshman has been placed on disciplinary probation and another was given a failing grade in a course for cheating in examinations.

Dean of Men Frank J. Simes said a freshman in mineral industries has been placed on probation until June for cheating in a Chemistry I exam. The action was taken by the Committee on Academic Discipline of the College of Mineral Industries.

The academic discipline committee of the College of Business Administration gave a freshman a failing grade reportedly for using crib notes in a Geology 20 mid-term examination.

Simes said the business committee did not give stiffer punishment because of the student's "youth and attitude."
