

Morse's Conduct Blasted Over Aid to Education

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Senator Gordon R. Allott (R-Colo) fired a charge of disgraceful conduct at Senator Wayne Morse (D-Ore) today in an argument over aid to education.

The argument took place in the Senate Education Committee where Secretary of Welfare Marion B. Folsom presented President Eisenhower's four-year, $1,200,000,000 school program.

Union Boss Steps Down For Health

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6 (AP)—William P. Maloney, aged and ill labor baron faced with corruption charges, quit today as president of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Maloney stepped out reluctantly with an accompanying statement from his physician that he must retire or face early death from recurring heart and kidney ailment.

The union boss, 77, was accused in recent Senate Rackets Committee hearings of being a virtual dictator over his 250,000-member union who got his job originally after some of his opposition was "murdered, gangland style, in the streets of Chicago."

There was testimony that Maloney looted union funds through lush expense accounts and maintained three homes, expensive cars and a luxury yacht at union expense.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Maloney further benefitted from union funds taken from two union locals in Chicago. Maloney was trustee over the locals nearly 30 years. McClellan said Maloney had refused to reveal contents of 10 or 11 safety deposit boxes and suggested revenue agents should examine them.

Strickler Would Accept Governor Nomination

COLUMBIA, Pa., Feb. 6 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, tonight announced his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Strickler, who was lieutenant governor from 1947 to 1951 under Governor Duff, said he decided to enter the race because of a grass roots movement urging him to run.

One of the largest deposits of fossilized fish in the world—geological age is estimated at about 40 million years—is near Kemmerer, Wyoming.

Ike Blamed For Trouble In Economy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Several Democratic senators criticized President Eisenhower today for what one of them called the serious economic trouble the country is facing.

That was the phrase used by Senator McNamara (D-Mich.) in co-sponsoring a bill by Senator Kennedy (D-Mass.) to increase unemployment compensation payments and widen the range of coverage.

Kennedy said present benefits cover only a fraction of the current loss in wages.

Joining in the move, Senator Clark (D-Pa.) accused the President of not taking the lead when the states failed to act.

"Instead," Clark said, "he has stood silently by and let the situation continue to drift while unemployment hardships grow."

It was not disclosed that the administration is asking Congress for emergency funds to help handle increases in unemployment insurance benefit payments.

Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security, told the House Appropriations Committee that insured unemployment in the week ended Jan. 4 was 2,779,000, an increase of almost 400,000 over the previous weekly high in January 1950.

The plan is a product of a year-long study by an administrative committee. Total enrollment by 1970, as envisioned in the report, is expected to exceed 35,000. This would include about 10,000 students in centers.

Lowenberg to Address National Foods Group

Dr. Miriam E. Lowenberg, professor and head of the Department of Foods and Nutrition, has been invited to speak at the National Food Conference Feb. 24 in Washington, D.C.

Morse called the program completely inadequate, and said he was shocked that the administration doesn't know what the needs are.

He said one scientist had told him that the United States has lost a whole generation of students because of lack of school facilities.

"Why doesn't the President ask Congress to measure up to this situation?" he asked.

Allott thereupon accused Morse of using the committee hearings for petty partisan politics. He said he considered it a disgrace to use this committee as a forum for such a purpose.

"I'm very shocked and sorry to hear the speech of the senator from Oregon," Allott said.

The administration bill provides, among other things, for 10,000 scholarships a year for exceptionally able high school graduates and 605 million dollars in federal funds to strengthen the teaching of science and mathematics in public schools.

Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.) is pushing a bill to provide four times as many scholarships. Indications point to a committee bill calling for much higher spending than the President asked.

Stevenson Plans To Visit Russia

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee for president in 1952 and 1956 will visit the Soviet Union this summer to "educate himself" on modern conditions there, an associate said today.

William Blair, Stevenson's Chicago law partner, said the Democratic leader will go to England and Belgium on law business in late spring.

He added that Stevenson plans to follow this up with a trip to Scandinavia and then go into the Soviet Union for two or three weeks.

Stevenson's last visit to Russia was as a newspaper correspondent after his graduation from college.

In 1953, Stevenson took a trip around the world and since then has visited Europe and Africa.

Justice To Propose 2nd Vice President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court says he will present to a congressional committee next Tuesday a presidential succession plan featuring a possible second vice president.

Musmanno's proposal would take the form of an amendment to the Constitution and would allow the President to delegate any or all of his powers to the vice president in case of incapacity.

The Pennsylvania jurist outlined the proposal at Bethesda Naval Hospital where he is convalescing following recent surgery. The proposal will be presented to the Senate subcommittee on constitutional amendments.

The second vice president would be elected when and if the regularly elected vice president took over the duties of a dead or disabled president. He said the second vice president could be named in this manner:

Three nominees would be chosen by the national committee of the president's political party, and one of the elected vice president by Congress.
