

Campus Party Grows to 670; University Members Total 535

Campus party brought its membership total to more than 670 Sunday night and recorded the preliminary nominations of John Bott and Eugene Curry for the party's All-University president and secretary-treasurer candidacies respectively.

About 320 new members signed up at the party's second mass meeting of the semester. Final nominations and election of party candidates will be taken up next Sunday — and then a week's wait until the spring campaign gets under way.

Charles Blunt received a preliminary nomination for the party's junior class president candidacy.

While addressing the party on the matter of committees, Chairman Bernard Magdovitz told the members that 49 of 50 committee applications had been "taken" from the Hetzel Union desk. He said, "If the other party wants to do this, that's fine by me—but we're not going to." He made the further implication that the parties must "take the 'gentleman's code' seriously."

The "gentleman's code" refers to the All-University Elections Committee's policy of not punishing minor infractions of the Elections code.

Class clique officers elected at the meeting were (unopposed candidates denoted by *):

●Senior class clique — Chairman, Edward Franklin*; vice chairman, Thomas Kinsey*; executive secretary, Evelyn Bunting over Sally Jervis; recording secretary, Julie Hoar*; and treasurer, Nancy Hubbell over Joseph Fenkel.

●Junior class clique — Chairman, Wells Hunt*; vice chairman, Ronald Griffith*; executive secretary, Gail Schultz over Marcia Griffen and Nancy Foebel; recording secretary, Carol Fegley over Maureen Erb; and treasurer, James Elliot*.

●Two vacated sophomore class offices were filled — Chairman, Robert Wayne over Barbara Slubin, and treasurer, Virginia Dunkerton over Jan Calloway, Julie Loyd, Gay Chuba and Jacqueline Long.

Spring Week Contest Begins

A 3-day contest beginning today will be conducted to find a slogan for Spring Week.

The slogan should tie in with the television theme of Spring Week.

A five dollar gift certificate for a long-playing record will be awarded to the person submitting the winning entry.

Entries may be placed in boxes in Simmons, McElwain, Atherton, and Waring halls and the Hetzel Union desk.

The slogans will be judged by the Spring Week Publicity Committee.

No Student Tickets Remain for 'Juno'

All student tickets for the Dublin Players' production of Sean O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock" were given out by 5 p.m. yesterday.

The sale of the tickets to non-students will begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow and will continue through Thursday.

Any remaining tickets will be made available to students beginning at 9 a.m. Friday.

The appearance of the Dublin Players, scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday in Schwab Auditorium, is the 12th program in the present Artists' Series.

OPENING TONIGHT

Department of Theatre Arts presents

Ring Round The Moon

By Jean Anouilh

Mar. 4, 5, 6

8 p.m. Little Theatre
FREE TICKETS Green Room

Three freshman party offices were filled. Two of them were unopposed. Patricia Woodhull, recreation education major from Coatesville, was elected executive secretary. Marilyn West, education major from Ashley, was elected corresponding secretary.

Marjorie Harnett, physical education major from State College, defeated Michael Cntakes, education major from Bethlehem, for treasurer.

At the party's executive committee meeting Sunday afternoon, Chairman John D'Angelo said, "This may be a mud-slinging campaign, but we can duck the mud instead of slinging it back."

The committee discussed the possible political results of the controversy over All-University President Robert Steele's trip to New York to present student contributions to Larry Sharp.

"We have a definite political weapon here," said Michael Schofield, senior class party chairman. But he questioned the ethics of using the controversial trip as a political weapon.

Steele was elected last spring to the presidency on the Campus party ticket.

D'Angelo inferred at the committee meeting that the Steele issue is being considered for use in the University party platform. A committee member said, "Let's stand pat now until the facts are brought out."

The committee decided on the following system of assessments for candidates and party workers: $25, All-University offices and senior and junior class presidencies; $20, other junior and senior class offices; $4, voting members of the executive committee; $2, non-voting members; $1, members of other party committees.

Area Consistory Hears Blue Band

The Concert Blue Band, directed by James W. Dunlop, professor of music education, presented a concert program before the Williamsport Consistory Thursday.

Included on the program were numbers ranging in style from the march, "Jubilee" by George Kenny to Don Gillis' "Tulsa," a musical story of Oklahoma, its land, and people.

Thesis Play Tickets Remain

Tickets for "Ring Around the Moon" remain at the Green Room in Schwab Auditorium.

"Ring Around the Moon" will be presented at 5 p.m. today, tomorrow and Thursday in the Little Theatre in connection with International Theatre Month. The play is a production of the Department of Theatre Arts, not the Five O'Clock Theatre as was erroneously reported in Saturday's Collegian.

Since 1950, International Theatre Month, sponsored through UNESCO for better international understanding, has been celebrated annually by theatre people throughout the world. This year Gov. George M. Leader has proclaimed March as the International Theatre Month for Pennsylvania.

Brandow Will Address Econ Seminar Today

Dr. George E. Brandow, professor of agricultural economics, will speak on "The Joint Economic Committee and the Role of the Economist in the Determination of Public Policy" at an economics seminar at noon today in dining room "B" of the Hetzel Union Building.

Outing Club Will Meet

The Outing Club Cabin and Trail Division will meet at 7 tonight in 317 Willard to plan the April Shenandoah hiking weekend.

Glenn Worried Warm Weather May Cause Flu

The warmer weather so far has brought no increase over the normal number of cases of colds, influenza and grippe among students, but Dr. Herbert R. Glenn, director of the health service, yesterday said, "I'm scared of this kind of weather."

"If we're going to have anything, it will be now," he said. No serious cases of flu are now being treated at the infirmary, Glenn said. Students are still showing up at the infirmary with German measles — seven cases were reported last week.

Glenn said the measles last for about three days. The current crop of cases is not unusual, he said. German measles have occurred like this among students for the past several years.

Roger Seremula, junior in arts and letters from Northampton, was reported "doing all right now" in the Centre County Hospital after an appendectomy Feb. 21. He was taken to the hospital by the University ambulance on Feb. 12.

Vesper Service Today To Be Led by Williams

The vesper service from 4:30 to 5:00 p.m. today will center around the theme "Love and Suffering."

Preston N. Williams, assistant University chaplain, will guide the service, and the Tuesday Vesper Choir, directed by Willa Taylor, will offer "Incline Thine Ear, O Lord" as the anthem.
