Unemployment Stirs New Action to Halt Business Recession

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report showing 5,173,000 unemployed set off new arguments Tuesday on whether to cut taxes, and spurred other moves to combat the recession.

Proposals for job-creating public works vied with tax cutting as a favorite weapon.

Saltzer Wins Presidency Of Leonides

Rita Saltzer, sophomore in education from Valley View, was elected president of Leonides yesterday.

Miss Saltzer, who served as Leonides chairman for Spring Week and Mardi Gras last year, defeated Elizabeth McKenzie, junior in education from Montrose, by a considerable margin.

Voting figures were not released.

Linda Segar, junior in education from Sayre, won over Barbara Barniker for the vice presidency.

The office of recording secretary will be held by Daunna Doebler, sophomore in education from Jersey Shore, who defeated Adele Reyter, junior in medical technology from Freeiland.

Barbara Marcus, junior in education from Bethlehem, was elected corresponding secretary. She defeated Susan Borchers, sophomore in journalism from Scranton.

The new officers of the council were elected yesterday by independent voting in the lobbies of Atherton, McAllister, Simmons and McElwain Halls.

New officers will be shown in at a meeting of Leonides Council at 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Lion Predicts Snow Flurries

"Measles, dad-rat it! Measles!" the Nittany Lion snarled to himself as he paced the floor of his mountain hideaway.

He had planned to return to campus today to resume his job as an on-the-spot weather forecaster. But when he heard that eight students were measles patients at the University health center last week, he decided to remain in seclusion—he's never had the measles.

Here's the Lion's off-the-spot forecast for today: partly cloudy skies and scattered snow flurries, with a high temperature of 35 to 40 degrees.

University Post Filled

William Lathan, junior in pre-medicine from Philadelphia, last night became University party's candidate for senior class vice president.

He replaces Philip Gottlieb, junior in zoology and entomology from Philadelphia, who withdrew from the race yesterday. Gottlieb gave this reason for his withdrawal:

"I am working on a research project concerning the stress effects of high intensity noise on animals . . . After the meeting (Sunday night, when he was put on the party ticket) I was informed by my adviser that the project he wants me to work on this semester will consume too much time for me to engage in any extra-curricular activities before September."

A special meeting of University party was held at 7 last night in 203 Willard to select a candidate to replace Gottlieb. About 25 persons attended.

Lathan was unopposed for the candidacy. He was nominated by

The All-University Elections Committee will meet at 7 tonight in 213 Hetzel Union to review the platforms submitted by Campus and University parties for approval for use in the spring campaign.

Charles Welsh, junior in labor-management relations from Pittsburgh, and the party's candidate for senior class president.

Lathan will oppose Campus party candidate, Patricia Lenhardt, junior in history from Key West, Fla., in the elections March 25, 26, and 27.

University party was given "emergency" permission to use the classroom in Willard for last night's meeting, since the Senate Committee on Student Affairs will not discuss alleged abuse of rooms until tomorrow, according to Edwin P. Nye, chairman of the committee.

Both parties will have to answer to the Senate committee on their alleged abuse of Schwab Auditorium and Sparks Building.

Ray V. Watkins, University scheduling officer, said the damage done in 121 Sparks, where the University party met Sunday night, was "not as bad" as that done by Campus party at Schwab.

Nye's committee will meet tomorrow. Nye said the party chairmen have not been summoned to the meeting, but that they could come if they wished.

WJGA House to Meet

The Women's Student Government Association House of Representatives will meet today at 12:30 p.m. in 107 Boucke to discuss May Day.

Eisenhower was reported, after a White House conference with GOP congressional leaders, to have decided to delay any administration tax cut proposal for at least a month.

However, he set up a meeting Wednesday with his economic advisers which the White House said would deal with tax suggestions as well as other means for overcoming the slump.

Eisenhower also arranged a discussion of the whole tax picture next Tuesday with Cabinet members sitting in with the party leaders in Congress.

1. Two Democratic leaders in the House, Reps. McCormack of Massachusetts and Mills of Arkansas, introduced legislation to liberalize unemployment compensation benefits.

Their bill would have the federal government finance payments for 16 weeks after regular jobless benefits are exhausted.

Generally speaking, these benefits under the federal-state systems last no longer than 26 weeks. The 16-week extension previously had been reported under study by the Republicans but McCormack and Mills got in ahead.

2. The Senate Public Works Committee approved a resolution by Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas urging a speedup in civil public works already appropriated for. A similar resolution covering military works is pending.

3. Sen. Chavez (D.-N.M.) introduced legislation authorizing a five-year public works program to cost $14,219,000,000. It would emphasize dams for flood control, irrigation and power.

The vote on Johnson's resolution was 9-1, after it had been amended by Sen. Francis Case (R.-S.D.) to include the following sentence:

"The Congress commends the President and the executive agencies for such action as they have taken to accelerate the programs."

Applications Due For Angel Flight

Today is the last day for freshman, sophomore and junior women with All-University averages of 2.3 or better to register for Angel Flight at the Hetzel Union desk.

Spring rushing will begin at 7 tomorrow with a tea in McElwain lounge, and will end March 22 with notification of final selection.

Coed First to Collect on Insurance

A coed has collected $214.65—the first claim paid in the student accident and insurance plan—to cover costs of an operation performed as the result of an illness.

Only $8 of the coed's expenses were not paid. The maximum allotted for hospital room and board by the insurance policy is $15 a day, and the hospital where the coed was a patient charged $17.

Claim forms may be obtained and turned in at the Doty and Finch Insurance Agency, in the State College Hotel building. The agency is the local representative of Continental Casualty Co., which sponsors the voluntary student program.

Students who applied for coverage in the program have not yet been sent their policies, according to Louis Wonderly, chairman of the student committee which worked to set up the plan.

The policies cannot be mailed until filing is complete at the insurance commissioners' office in Harrisburg. Wonderly said this probably will take another week or so.

He emphasized that students are covered from the time they mail in their application for coverage. The fact that they have not yet received the actual policy makes no difference, he said.

About 2600 students are covered by the insurance program, which was begun this semester. The feasibility of setting up such a program had been studied for years by Lion's Paw, senior men's society.

An All-University Cabinet committee of Wonderly and Edwin Henrie worked last semester on getting an actual plan into operation.

The students who have enrolled in the program are covered until Sept. 10. Coverage extends over vacation periods as well as the school term.

2 Left Debt For Printing

Editorial on Page Four

Two former Lion party clique chairmen owe debts totaling $312.53 to the Nittany Printing and Publishing Company for purchases of campaign materials, it was disclosed yesterday.

The former party officials, both graduated, are John Godayte and Gordon Pogal. Godayte was last year's clique chairman and Pogal was clique chairman in 1955.

The debt includes both a bill incurred in 1957 and a bill carried over from 1955, an official of the printing company said yesterday.

David West, former Lion party clique chairman, said yesterday the purchases were not authorized by the party and the bills were sent to individuals and not to the party.

West said that since the party did not authorize the bills, it has "no legal obligation to pay the money." There is, however, a "moral obligation" on the part of the party, he said.

All student activity purchases are supposed to be made by requisition through the Associated Student Activities office, according to Director George L. Donovan. Donovan said the Lion party members who incurred the debt did not follow this procedure.

Because the men who made the purchases have graduated, West said, the only pressure which can be exerted on them by the University to pay the bills is by writing letters. If this doesn't work, he said, then legal action will be taken.

West said when he took over as treasurer of the party, he "tried to make good" the debt. He said he did not feel he should have to pay the debt before the campaign, however, since the party itself did not incur it.

West said he is willing to use the money remaining in the party treasury to erase part of the debt. There is now approximately $28 in the treasury, West added.

Donovan said that when his office heard of the debt, a conference was held with West, William O'Neill, clique chairman before West, and Chester Zimolzak, party treasurer last year.

Perkins said he has not yet "proceeded to any crystallized point" on the issue.

Science Group Renews Prof's 3-Year Contract

The National Science Foundation has renewed its $24,500 contract with Dr. Rustom Roy, professor of geochemistry, for a 3-year period.

The earlier study, "The Phase Rule and Polymorphism," involved research on the fundamental chemistry of changes in crystalline phases.

Critic to Lecture Tonight

Alfred B. Girardy, visiting critic in the Department of Architecture, will present a second open lecture at 7:30 tonight in 112 Buckhout.
