

Collegian to Hold Open House

DICK DRAYNE, an advanced reporter, gets the facts for a story over the telephone.

EDITOR ED DUBBS and managing editor Judy Harkison discuss editorial policy. Dubbs and Harkison write most of the editorials.

THE RIM is a center of activity where stories are checked and headlines are written. Marion Beatty (right), copy editor, and Ralph Manna (center), assistant copy editor, supervise the work.

SPORTS MINDS join forces as Vince Carocci (sitting), sports editor, plans his pages with Matt Mathews (right), assistant sports editor, and reporter Mack McGaughan.

OPEN HOUSE at The Daily Collegian will be held from 4 to 9 p.m. today at the offices on the Carnegie Building ground floor. Students and faculty have been invited to see the Daily Collegian in operation.

A Daily Collegian Photo Feature by George Harrison and Marty Scherr.

PHOTOGRAPHY EDITOR George Harrison selects negative for a "mug" shot with Bob Thompson, an advanced photographer.

COLLEGIAN IS PRINTED at the Nittany Printing and Publishing Company on Frazier Street. William Canouse, night foreman, and Lou Prato, assistant sports editor, arrange the type in the page form.

PRESSES ROLL at 6 a.m. and within 20 minutes, 6500 papers are printed. Charles Heinley stacks the papers as they come off the press.

DICK LIPPE delivers the papers to fraternity houses and dormitories in time for the breakfast table.

STUDENT PICKS up papers in front of the Collegian office.

CIRCULATION MANAGER Marlene Marks and Vicki Schmitt, a staff member, operate the addressograph machine before taking the papers to the post office.