

Williams Named Aide To Prexy

Dean of Admissions Clarence O. Williams was named Assistant to the President for Special Services yesterday.

Williams was commissioned to study standards, admissions and recruitment as they are likely to affect the University during the period of growth ahead.

Announcing the appointment, President Eric A. Walker said "only the most careful planning will enable us to prepare adequately for the flood of high school graduates that soon will be seeking admission to the colleges and universities of Pennsylvania."

Walker also said Williams will serve as his personal representative in executing details of the many educational projects now drawing the University steadily closer to the private colleges and universities of the state.

Williams, who joined the staff in 1926 as assistant professor of education, and who has held his present position since 1951, will assume his new duties July 1.

He anticipated that his new assignment will entail considerable spadework and planning in both faculty and student areas. Recruitment of new faculty members will also be one of his major concerns.

A native of Russellville, Mo., Williams is a graduate of Warrensburg, Mo., State Teachers College with a master of arts degree from Columbia University, and a doctor of education degree from New York University.

Display Shows New Venezuela

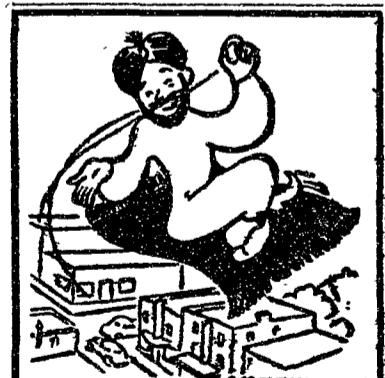

New developments in Venezuela are shown in posters in the display cases of the Pattee Library.

The developments are largely the result of revenue from the country's oil industry. Venezuela received over $1.3 billion for the development of their oil resources in 1956. Much of the money was spent on United States products.

International improvements include the Pan-American highway, which is in the process of construction, a slum clearance housing project in Caracas and an art museum, El Museo de Bellas Artes.

Scholarship Established For Senior in Foods

A $100 scholarship to assist a senior whose major interest is in the field of foods has been established by Matthew C. Mateer, operator of the Corner Room and State College Hotel.

"Ah-h-h-h! At last I've arrived at the source of that marvelous aroma!"

What puts us all in a good mood? The aroma and taste of well-cooked food

Odds on Making 4.0 Ain't So Good

Just how good are chances of making a 4.0 semester average? Not very good according to statistics from last fall.

Only 90 of 12,200 full-time undergraduate students, or 74 per cent, had perfect averages for the fall semester.

However, it's not quite as hard to make the dean's list. Last semester 810 students, or 6.6 per cent, had 3.5 or above averages.

President Eric A. Walker praised the students for their "outstanding scholastic achievement" last semester.
