

Khrushchev's Tour Seen As No 'Great Success'

BUDAPEST (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev completed a week's fence-mending tour of Hungary Thursday but there is no sign it was any great success.

It was the first publicized trip he has made here since the Soviet army crushed the 1956 revolt. The fact that he took

Science Hopes To Find Cause Of Mongolism

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Science may be on the threshold of learning what causes Mongolism, a Salt Lake City doctor says.

Dr. Chester A. Swinyard, here to attend the International Council for Exceptional Children, emphasized that too little is known of Mongolism to say definitely that it might be conquered in the foreseeable future.

"The Mongoloid," he said in an interview Thursday, "is born with typical physical features—slanting eyes, lax muscles, pot bellies. At the best, he may develop a mental age of about seven years. His life span is somewhat shorter than normal. He can be trained to care for himself and to hold down simple jobs.

"It appears that the rate of growth in the womb has been slowed down some way, that the child is born before it's ready.

"We don't know what causes this, but experiments with animals which are deprived of vitamin A produces results which bear a remarkable resemblance to Mongolism.

"It may be that the delivery of vitamin A from the mother to the baby in the womb is interrupted or blocked. If vitamin A deficiency is really to blame, the problem is not getting the vitamin A into the mother, but from the mother to the child in the womb."

Four Crew Members Perish As B47 Stratojet Explodes

NORTH COLLINS, N.Y. (AP)—A B47 Stratojet bomber was ripped in two by an explosion high over western New York yesterday and fell to the earth in flames, carrying its four crew members to their deaths.

A B47 can carry a nuclear weapon but the Strategic Air Command at Omaha, Neb., reported none was aboard. The flight was a routine training mission out of Lockbourne Air Force Base, Columbus, Ohio.

An Air Force spokesman said the B47 was about to begin an air refueling operation with a tanker plane.

The tanker was about a mile ahead of the B47 when the bomber exploded about 20,000 feet over the rural countryside 20 miles south of Buffalo.

Most of the plane fell in two flaming masses of wreckage that landed a mile apart in open farmland.

Tony Riccio, owner of a private airfield, was flying at 2,000 feet. He said he saw an intense ball of fire.

"A few seconds later," he said, "the ball of fire started to descend. Then it separated into two so much time for the visit, just after becoming premier as well as party boss, has made a lot of people ask just what it was for.

Khrushchev spoke at some of the strongholds of the revolt—the steel town of Stalinvora, the mining center of Talabanya, and the Budapest industrial suburb of Csepel.

He also made a bow to the peasants, now much in favor in Hungary, and to the intellectuals, now very much in the doghouse.

He made three points in all his public speeches:

● Party leader Janos Kadar is emphatically Khrushchev's man.

● Hungarian Communists were weak and stupid in allowing the revolt to occur, and they had better look sharp in the future.

● The country needs to step up production.

Ever since Kadar quit as Hungarian premier in January to devote himself to party work, he has been under sharp attack by Stalinists within his own organization.

From his exile in the Soviet Union, former Stalinist boss Matyas Rakosi wrote the Hungarian Central Committee saying that, because he was not in charge, party affairs were going from bad to worse.

Hungary is a weak spot in Khrushchev's armor. Stalinists blame his so-called liberalization policy for the revolt. Khrushchev blames Rakosi and the Stalinist leadership. An attack on Kadar, if successful, might lead to an attack on Khrushchev himself.

Moreover, some diplomats in Budapest say the economic situation in Hungary shows signs of getting worse rather than better despite the Soviet aid.

balls of fire. They didn't plummet, but fell slowly, very slowly. It probably took a whole minute before they fell to the ground."

British Undisturbed By United States' Recession

LONDON (AP)—The business recession in the United States so far has disturbed Britain very little.

The British economy maintains a fairly steady course. So far this year the unemployment figure has averaged only 1.9 per cent of the working force, although there are a few localized black spots.

Ike's Plan Backed By McElroy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy has warned military officers and civilian members of the defense organization not to make speeches against President Eisenhower's plan for revamping of the Defense Department.

He also issued what appeared to be a broad hint that such officers or officials should resign if they were so strongly opposed to the President's plan that they felt they couldn't work under it.

McElroy spoke out Thursday in reply to a question as to how far a military officer could go in opposition without becoming insubordinate.

He said all that is being asked in the Eisenhower administration plan for reorganization of the Defense Department is clarification of his authority and a modest flexibility in money matters.

U.S. Missiles Beat Reds'—Holaday

NEW YORK (AP)—William M. Holaday, director of guided missiles for the Department of Defense, said Thursday he believes the U.S. missile program is ahead of the Soviet Union's on an overall basis.

"From the information in the Defense Department and from Intelligence, we cannot say we are ahead in this or that in black or white but over-all we believe we are ahead," Holaday said.

Holaday told of steps being taken to test missiles on the West Coast as well as the East Coast.

He described Cape Canaveral in Florida as the primary range.

"We don't have Cape Canaveral loaded up but we are putting in necessary instrumentation and safety parts to test on the West Coast," he said.

Rebel Leader Hits Red's Foreign Policy

BUKITTINGGI, Sumatra (AP)—Revolutionary Premier Sjafruddin Prawiranegara has accused the Soviet Union of "trying to make another satellite of Indonesia."

He said it was now apparent that President Sukarno's regime is getting Soviet aid and this would compel the revolutionary government to accept any foreign military and economic help offered.

"If the current chill war becomes a Korean-type war, the Sukarno regime will be to blame," Sjafruddin told reporters Thursday. "If this happens, the revolutionary government hopes and expects that the free world will help us."

The revolutionary regime so far has avoided asking the West for help, although the Jakarta government has charged the Sumatrans are getting U.S. arms through Nationalist China.

Sjafruddin said the Russians had given Jakarta aid through credits, loans, and through grants of arms and military equipment.

The bespectacled leader said it actually was Russia "who has done nothing for Indonesian independence," adding:

"Russian help to Sukarno in the form of ten merchant ships and arms to crush out democratic and anti-Communist revolution is only to gain their own ends. Russia is trying to make another satellite of Indonesia as it crushed freedom in Hungary . . ."

Sjafruddin said if the rebels lose "the Sukarno regime will complete its evolution and transform itself into a pure form of Communist government."

100 Racketeers Land on Secret Government List

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hundred hoodlums are on a secret government list for special attention in a new drive against organized crime.

This was announced Thursday by Atty. Gen. William B. Rogers who described the hundred hoodlums as the top men in the rackets.

Rogers announced that a special group of former federal prosecutors is being organized in New York City to spearhead the drive. They will be headed by Milton Wessel, 34, who was an assistant U.S. attorney in New York in 1953-55 and now is in private practice there.

Directing the over-all campaign in Washington will be Malcolm Anderson, newly appointed assistant attorney general for criminal prosecutions.
