Obernkirchen Children's Choir To Sing at Schwab Tonight

"Angels in Pigtales" will appear before students, faculty and townspeople at 8:30 tonight when the "happy wanderers" of the Obernkirchen Children's Choir present their concert in Schwab Auditorium.

The Choir, consisting of 31 girls and six boys, will sing folk songs of several countries and a special

The Artists' Series committee has requested persons with tickets for the Obernkirchen Children's Choir concert tonight who find they will not be using them to give them to someone who can use them. The demand for tickets has been much greater than the committee has been able to supply.

arrangement of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

This is the choir's second tour in the United States. It first arrived here in 1954, unknown and unheralded, and in less than two months it returned to Germany leaving behind them an unprecedented record of successes. They sold out Town Hall in New York five times.

The Obernkirchen Choir bears the name of its home village near Hanover, Germany, in the British Zone, just six miles from where the Pied Piper legend originated.

The Choir was organized by Edith Moeller, a child psychologist, singer, guitarist and social worker, her partner Erna Pielsticker and her brother, orchestra leader and conductor, Friedrich Wilhelm Moeller. They were seeking to raise funds for a children's home in Obernkirchen.

Miss Moeller organized the Choir hoping that by giving local concerts, they could raise enough money to start building the home.

The concert tonight is the 15th in the present Artists' Series. The program will be:

"America, the Beautiful" by Samuel A. Ward, "Die Nacht" (Night) by Franz Schubert, "In Stiller Nacht" (Silent Night) by Johannes Brahms, "A Legend" by Peter I. Tchaikowsky, "Maria durch ein Dornwald ging" (Mary Went Through a Forest of Thorns), "Der Kuckuck" (The Cuckoo) by Laurentius Lemlin, "Mignonne" (Darling) by Guillaume Costeley, "Echo-Lied" (Echo Song) by Orlando di Lasso.

"Necklied" (Teasing Song) by Bela Bartok, "Hochzeitslied aus Poniki" (Poniki Wedding Song) by Bartok, "Die Tochter der Heide" (The Daughter of the Heath) by Hugo Distler, "Deep River" arranged by H. T. Burleigh.

"Kolokolschick" (Softly the Little Bell Rings), "Where the Bee Sucks" by Dr. Thomas A. Arne, "Der Schneider Jahrestag" (The Tailor's Anniversary) "Reiterlied" (Rider's Song) by Friedrich Wilhelm Moeller and "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" by Moeller.

Trion Local Initiated By Alpha Phi

Alpha Phi sorority has initiated 37 active members and pledges of Trion as charter members of Gamma Rho chapter of Alpha Phi.

Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and Mrs. Marion H. Barrett, hostess in McElwain Hall, were initiated as alumni members.

Alpha Phi members from the universities of Syracuse, Cornell, Bucknell, Boston and West Virginia came to the University to initiate the new members Saturday.

Trion received its charter as a local club from the Senate Committee on Student Affairs in March of 1956. In February 1958, Trion members became pledges of Alpha Phi.

The new officers of Alpha Phi are Janice Waddell, president; Maureen Pickering, first vice president; Celia Fordemwalt, second vice president; Patricia Turner, recording secretary; Anita Lorah, corresponding secretary, and Kay Binder, treasurer.

Slumping Sales Forces Froth To Use Collegian

Froth, assayer of antiquated antidotes, has finally conceded to the superiority of The Daily Collegian.

Because of a reported slump in sales, the Froth admen finally turned to the Collegian for assistance, hoping that a full-page advertising "take-off" in yesterday's paper would spur sales for the magazine today.

Yesterday's advertisement heralded this issue as a "lampoon" slicing up everything and everybody on campus. It boasts such by-lines as Clark Kent, Sam Nuebbish, Fidel Castro, and Viva Zapata.

Also spotlighted are an exclusive interview, one of Cabinet's momentous decisions, a raft of new cartoons, etc., ad nauseum.

It's on sale at the Bulletin Board, the Corner Room, and Waring Hall. Phooey!
