

Maryland Stickmen Clobber Lions, 22-5

By MATT MATHEWS

The Penn State lacrosse team lost their home opener yesterday to Maryland. At one point in the game, the Lion stickmen were only one goal behind. That was 1:03 mark when the score was 1-0 on the opening goal by Terrapin attackman Dick Corrigan. The final score was 22-5.

Roger Goss scored two of his four goals before Johnney Behne put the Lions in the scoring column. Behne hit from the middle on a pass from Fred Donahoe.

Behne also scored the second tally for the home forces on one of the best one-man scoring moves that has been seen on Beaver Field. The junior midfielder picked up the ball off the right of the crease, was temporarily checked by four opponents as he completely circled the back of the goal and finally scored from the opposite side of the crease.

Donahoe accounted for the other three scores as he and Behne proved to the sparse crowd that they are by far the Lions most experienced ball handlers.

Sophomore attackman Jim Winpenny handled the ball very nice the few times he got it, but his companions on the attack trio were either playing with larger than usual holes in their leather-laced sticks or using the wrong glue. The most outstanding offender was Barry Price who dropped the ball more than he held it. This was only Price's fourth game of the year.

In front of the goal was Burt Houseworth. Houseworth, the same man who allowed only one-fourth of the Navy's shots to score last week, could only stop 13 of Maryland's 35 official shots (that does not include the many Maryland shots that either missed the goal or were not touched by the goalie).

At an early stage of the game, Houseworth had five saves while 12 goals (that's a save average of less than one-third—almost the reverse of his Navy feat). Houseworth played the entire game.

At one point in the match the Lions gave up thirteen straight goals before Donahoe broke into the scoring column (and the monotony) for the home team.

Coach Earnie Baer's first team mid-field did yeoman service, but could not get together with the offense or defense. Donahoe and Behne work the lead trio along with a potentially good third man, Chip Henderson. Henderson was very effective in eluding the defense the few times he tried. The "D" unit mid-field—composed of Dick Bullock, Dick Weedon and Dick Hammond—showed a lack of both speed and size.

Another of the small incidents which made it a long hot afternoon occurred as a photographer for the Pittsburgh Press held up the game for over 20 minutes. His main comment was "Just one more shot boys, just one more shot." The fans would have appreciated it if the Lions had saved more of those shots for the game.

ON THE DEFENSE . . . nearly all afternoon was the Penn State lacrosse team in losing to Maryland, 22-5. Defensemen Dick Dill (34) and Ray Tuleya (32) are watching goalie Burt Houseworth.

National Sports Briefs

From the Associated Press

Cincinnati Redlegs general manager Gabe Paul filed a formal protest yesterday against an umpire's ruling that allowed the tying run in the Redlegs' 5-4 loss to Philadelphia Tuesday.

The Montreal Canadians will try to go ahead in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup Playoff Finals when they host the Boston Bruins this evening. The best-of-seven series is tied at two-all.

New York's crusading District Attorney, Frank Hogan, told the press yesterday that the current investigation of pro boxing will take several months. Hogan made the statement after a two-hour conference with Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York state athletic commission.

An alumni team featuring prodigies Sam Huff and Joe Marconi will help West Virginia wind up its spring football drills May 10. More than 35 alumni have already accepted invitations to play on a team that will be coached by ex-Mountaineer stars Freddie Wyatt and Chick Donaldson.

Beta Sig Triumphs

IM VOLLEYBALL

Beta Sigma Rho's thrilling comeback victory over volleyball powerhouse Alpha Zeta, 11-15, 17-15, 17-15, Tuesday night was the highlight of the current IM volleyball tournament.

Lambda Chi Alpha garnered victory number three and moved into a first place tie in League A when it rallied to overcome Sigma Tau Gamma, 10-15, 15-9, 15-8.

Tau Phi Delta also took its third win in as many outings, nipping Phi Epsilon Pi, 15-12, 15-12. Delta Upsilon, playing the role of an underdog, knocked Beta Theta Pi from the unbeaten ranks, 15-5, 15-10.

In other games, Sigma Pi beat Alpha Rho Chi, 15-9, 15-13, and Alpha Gamma Rho beat Phi Kappa, 15-9, 15-8.

IM BADMINTON

IM badminton moves into individual flight championships Friday night with eight matches. The outstanding match, according to Donny Watkins, an assistant IM director, will be between last year's champion "Jim" Phaungphadki of Pi Lambda Phi and Russel Foss of Phi Delta Theta.

As of yesterday, only the first six flights were ready to crown individual champions. The finals consist of a playoff between the eight flight champions.

Flight 1—"Sam" Phaungphadki, Pi Lambda Phi, vs John Behler, TXI.
Flight 2—Jay Waterman, TDC, vs Jim Biggs, SAE.
Flight 3—Bob Teetzell, SNU, vs Joe White-man, Tau Phi Delta.
Flight 4—Per Torgeson, PGDelta, vs Joel Gouza, Sigma Chi.
Flight 5—Don Robinson, AZ, vs Alex McKay, Pi Kappa Phi.
Flight 6—Fred Smyser, APD, vs Jim Kane, PKSig.
