

Miller Criticizes Ike Coeds May Enter Beauty Pageant On Integration Stand

By DIANE DIECK

President Eisenhower failed to carry out his Constitutional duty to see that the laws be faithfully executed when he "did absolutely nothing about the Southern integration crisis," according to Col. Francis Pickens Miller of Virginia. Miller spoke on "Resistance to Integration" Sunday under auspices of the Religious Education Commission of the University Christian Association.

He said Eisenhower was forced to the drastic action of sending paratroopers to quell the Little Rock uprising because he had evaded the issue ever since the Supreme Court decision.

In a bitter indictment of Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D.-Va.), victor in their 1954 senatorial battle, Miller said that after the integration decision, the senator realized that only by appealing to the race issue could he retain control of the Virginia Democrats.

Describing Byrd as "relentless, ruthless, and Indian on the warpath" the Colonel laughed saying, "I don't know why the death rate in Virginia is so low."

"White supremacy advocates the Old Guard of the Democratic Party, those of the third rate minds, realizing they can't win are trying to stall Southern integration," Miller said. He quoted them as saying that massive resistance is the only answer to the Supreme Court's massive integration decision.

Miller said an end to compulsory segregation and not massive integration was the director of the Court's 1954 verdict. Questioned about the possibility of expelling the white supremacy advocates from the National Democratic Party, Miller, a card-carrying member, predicted that as long as Sam Rayburn is head of the Democratic National Committee, the supremacy men, the "vipers in the party breast" will remain.

Of the possibility of the "vipers" forming a third party, Miller chuckled and said they should go ahead and see how many votes they would get.

The old Southern aristocracy was more liberal than the "poor white trash" now in control in the South, Miller said.

But he said "The northern press has made a mess of integration progress by printing awful things as front page stories." He said public statements and speeches are ineffective in this cause and man-to-man talks are the only solution.

Touching on the religious issue, Miller said the young Christian ministers of both races are the most courageous men in the South, for they are witnessing for their faith while on the firing line.

"Negro minister Martin Luther King was sent from God and the white supremacists should get on their knees and thank God that he is not organizing Mau-Mau raids among his people," Miller said.

Applications are available for the third annual Miss Centre County pageant to be held May 23 in Bellefonte.

Basic requirements for contestants are residence in Centre County or attendance at the University, reaching the age of 18 by the time of the Miss America contest in September and display of a talent for a 3-minute period. The local winner in the Bellefonte Junior Chamber of Commerce-sponsored contest will receive a $200 scholarship, a first place trophy, a tiara and an all-expense paid trip to the Miss Pennsylvania contest.

The first runnerup will be awarded a $50 U.S. Savings Bond and a trophy, and the second runnerup will get a $25 savings bond and a trophy.

All contestants will receive prizes donated by local merchants. Applicants may contact Daniel Clemson, senior in business administration from Bellefonte, entrants committee chairman, at ELgin 5-4096 or Mrs. Joseph O'Brien at ADams 7-4033.

University coeds have won the last two year's contests. Clemson said that the initial winner, Gloria Ward of State College, is now attending modeling school in New York City.

The runnerup that year, coed Patricia Reno of Forest Hills, went on to win the Miss Central Pennsylvania contest in Altoona and placed third in the Miss Pennsylvania competition. She is now a model in New York City.

Last year's Miss Centre County, Sally Stauffer of Erie, now Mrs.

Fred Waring Jr., was the co-winner of the Miss Congeniality portion of the Miss Pennsylvania contest and won a scholarship in the talent segment.

The master of ceremonies will be William F. Weimer, advertising manager of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh.

Weimer was master of ceremonies for the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City from its inception in 1935 until 1945.

Psych Prof. Will Speak Tonight on Marriage

Dr. Clifford Adams, professor of psychology, will speak on "Looking Forward to Marriage" at 7:30 tonight in the Waring lounge.

The lecture is one of a series sponsored by the West Halls Council.

ENGINEERS! THE HANDBOOK OF CHEMISTRY AND PHYSICS

39th Edition (1957-58)

Limited Time Only

Regular Price 9.00

KEELER'S PRICE 5.50

KEELER'S

The University Bookstore

Where there's a Man... there's a Marlboro

The cigarette designed for men that women like

Mild-smoking Marlboro combines a prized recipe (created in Richmond, Virginia) of the world's great tobaccos with a cellulose acetate filter of consistent dependability. You get big friendly flavor with all the mildness a man could ask for.

Marlboro

YOU GET A LOT TO LIKE—FILTER · FLAVOR · FLIP-TOP BOX

Standard box of all with the exclusive "self-sealer"

Mac Sez...
It's time for a change

It's spring! Aren't you tired of wearing those heavy flannel suits and sport coats? Don't you think it's about time you bought yourself some smart spring clothes? You'll want to look your best for the remainder of Penn State's beautiful spring.

We have a full line of university-styled wash and wear cord suits. These suits, as nationally advertised in Esquire, are 75% Dacron and 25% Cotton. We have a full line of colors—charcoal grey, charcoal brown, light blue, light grey, and loden green. You might expect to pay as much as $39.75 and up for one of these beautiful suits. Our value-packed price—$29.95

We have just received another order of smart blazers. Due to the large demand, we have been forced to order for the third time. These imported Zephyr wool blazers are available in midnight blue, and are ivy lined. They also have those dazzling antique brass buttons. You won't want to miss out on this value—only $24.95.

Be smart. Spring week is coming. A cord suit or blazer will be the ideal thing to wear.

Don't forget—A walk around the corner to W. Beaver Ave. will always save you money.

Danks & Co.

MEN'S SHOP

Entrances on W. Beaver Ave.

A long white ash means good tobacco and a mild smoke.

The "filter flower" of cellulose acetate (modern effective filter material) in just one Marlboro Selectate Filter.