Emery's 3-Hitter, 5 Errors By Navy Bring 7th Win

Cal Emery's three-hit pitching performance and a leaky Navy defense helped Penn State's baseball team to its seventh win of the year yesterday afternoon at Annapolis, 9-2.

The Lions, who have lost only two games this season and both to national power Ohio State, banged out only two more hits than the home club. But five Navy errors, including three in the six-run fifth inning, helped the Nittany cause considerably.

It was the sixth straight win for Emery who has never lost a regular season game in two-years of competition. The Lion ace was untouchable after the third inning, allowing the Middies just three hits—all of them singles—in the first three frames.

Once again the towering lefty was a little to free with his base on balls, giving up six. But he made up for that somewhat by fanning four.

Only two of Penn State's nine runs were earned and both of them were tallied in the initial frame. Navy's third inning tally was it's only earned one.

Giants Wallop Phillies Behind Antonelli, 10-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Giants parlayed a six-hit pitching performance by left-hander Johnny Antonelli and four home runs into a 10-1 victory over Philadelphia and Robin Roberts, Wednesday, to grab back first place in the National League.

A crowd of 7,886 saw rookies Bob Schmidt, Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport, along with veteran shortstop Daryl Spencer slam homers. Antonelli came out winner for only the second time in 11 career meetings with Roberts. Home runs accounted for nine of the ten runs.

The victory gave the Giants nine wins against five setbacks and first place by one-half game over the Milwaukee Braves and the Chicago Cubs. Chicago beat the Braves 8-2.

Hannum Resigns As Hawks' Coach

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Alex Hannum is out as coach of the world pro basketball champion St. Louis Hawks, but the mystery grows as to why and how.

A heated mid-season dispute between Hawk owner Ben Kerner and Hannum apparently played some part in his departure. There was speculation that a salary dispute left the door open for Kerner to announce his coach's resignation.

Kerner announced through a spokesman that Hannum had telephoned his resignation, giving the season that he must devote more time to his building contracting business. Kerner's announcement said the resignation caught me by surprise.

Lion Golfers Squeak by Hoyas, 4-3

By LARRY JACOBSON Penn State's highly-rated golf squad almost had the carpet pulled from under its feet before squeaking by winless Georgetown University yesterday at Georgetown, 4-3.

The win was the sixth for the unbeaten Lions, but wasn't the type designed to help Coach Joe Boyle's digestive processes.

Three of Boyle's first four men bent the knee to some sub-par shooting by the Hoyas, and the match was not won until the last Nittany golfer reported in.

Included in the losing category were captain Pat Reilly, previously undefeated Bill Davidson, and—most surprising of all—a heart-breaking loss by Bob Bainbridge. It took some phenomenal golf to send Bainbridge to his first loss, and was the first time he had to play more than 13 holes.

The loss was the sixth straight for Georgetown, including matches with Navy and the University of Pittsburgh.

Little Johnny Felus and number seven man Scott Stultz sparked the Lion effort, both winning by one-sided scores.

Playing in the third slot, Felus swamped Hoya Frank Yeatman, 8 and 6, chalking up his fourth victory in six tries. The "Little Lion" (5-feet-2-inches) was one under par after 12 holes on the par 70 Georgetown Prep course.

Stultz added his sixth win to an undefeated record with a whopping 9 and 7 win over Mike Frey.

Charlie Decker and Roy Altman picked up the remaining Nittany wins. Decker, playing in his usual number five spot, toppled Georgetown's Kent Merkle, 5 and 3, for his fifth win in six starts. Undefeated Altman picked up his sixth win with a 4 and 2 victory over Chuck Walton.

The three Lion losers played well enough to win, but ran into some hot Hoya shotmakers.

Number four man Bainbridge lost to Hoya Frank Saponaro, 1 up, after being four down with four holes to play. The Lion golfer parred the first nine, only to find himself 2 down to Saponaro's two-under par first nine.

Saponaro increased his lead to 4 up after 13 holes, then lost three straight to Bainbridge. Both men bogied the last hole, and the Nittany linksmen had lost his first match.

Davidson, playing number two, bowed to Hoya Ed O'Donnell, 4 and 3, for his first loss in six matches, while Reilly lost 3 and 2 to Georgetown's top golfer, Mark Stuart. Stuart was one under par when the match ended.

PUTTING AROUND—Pitt beat the Hoyas 5-2, while Navy topped them 7-0. Although the Hoyas are improving with each match, the comparative scores foretell a rough time for the Lions when they meet Pitt Saturday.

Ron Rainey ... adds to RBI's

The Lions' big inning was the fifth when they scored six runs on three Middie miscues, two hit batsmen (Steve Baldy and Larry Fegley), a walk, a single by catcher Don Stickler and Charlie Caldwell's two-bagger.

First sacker Gary Miller, the Nittanies' batting leader with a .500 average before yesterday's game, also hit a double as did Penn State's RBI leader Ron Rainey.

Coach Joe Bedenk's crew returns to action again tomorrow when they host once beaten Gettysburg at Beaver Field.

Leon Hart Retires From Pro Football

DETROIT (AP)—Leon Hart retired Wednesday from professional football as an active player after seven seasons with the Detroit Lions.

The Detroit Football Co. said the former Notre Dame great will join the Lions' broadcasting team as a color announcer.

Thus ends one of the most colorful and turbulent careers in recent National Football League history.

The Lions said Hart signed a one-year contract for radio-television commentary.

Hart, a three-time All-American end at Notre Dame in 1947, '48 and '49, was the Lions' bonus choice in 1950 after taking a host of college honors, including the Heisman Trophy and Maxwell Award.

His greatest year as a Lion was in 1951 when he received 12 touchdown passes and gained 544 yards and scored 72 points.

Goalie Subs on Diamond

Walt Krauser, general utility man on the 1958 Penn State baseball team, was the No. 1 goalie on the soccer team last fall.

Dean Charlie Speidel

Charlie Speidel, at the wrestling helm since 1927, is dean of the Penn State varsity coaching staff.

Cal Emery, Penn State's pitcher-first baseman, led the 1957 baseball team in home runs with three.
