

Quakers Whip Netmen, 1st Time in 16 Years

The Penn Quakers beat the Nittany Lion tennis team, 8-1, to score a resounding upset at Philadelphia yesterday. It was the first time Penn has beaten State in 16 years.

Penn scored a second achievement besides winning its first match in the Lion-Quakers series—its first win of the year after losing four straight.

It could be said that fate, via the law of averages, ruined the Nittanians in this crucial match, but Coach Sherm Fogg did not offer this as an excuse. He said "there's just something missing. We should have won five matches but lost them."

Gene Flick scored the only win for the Lions, making a fine comeback to take the number five match, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. Flick had played number four in every other match this year, and had an even 2-2 won-lost record.

Replacing Flick in his old position, Don Harnett lost to Gerry Finerman, 1-6, 2-6, to drop his third match of the year.

In another Lion lineup change, Gene Jacobs replaced Mel Royer in the number six spot. Gray Perkins downed Jacobs by winning the last two sets, 5-7, 3-6. Jacobs had won the first set, 6-2.

In the battle of number one men, Quaker captain Ralph Levitan beat Lion captain Fred Trust by winning the first and third sets, 3-6, 1-6. Fred had started a sterling comeback by taking the second set, 6-2, but Levitan recovered in the third.

Like Trust, Charlie Bibleheimer took the middle set in his match but lost the two outside ones. The score was 5-7, 7-5, 7-9.

Chuck Questa, who has Penn State's top singles record this season (3-4), lost to Bob Robbins, 2-6, 4-6.

The Lions retained their regular doubles lineup. Trust and Questa won the first set of their match, 6-4, but Levitan and Finerman rebounded on the last two, 4-6, 1-6. Flick and Bibleheimer dropped two identical sets, 2-6, 2-6, to Robbins and Friedal.

The Quaker duo of Spenser Kipe and Axel Jonasson beat Jacobs and Royer, 3-6, 2-6.

The Lions meet Lehigh, who boasts the two top netters in Pennsylvania—Bill Scarlett and Lowell Latchaw, Saturday at the Beaver field courts.

Cindermen Meet W.Va. Saturday

Varsity Track Coach Chick Werner held time trials in the 100- and 200-yard dashes and the broad jump yesterday to bring the total of his traveling squad for Saturday's dual meet with West Virginia to 28 men.

Penn State is a heavy favorite and will be looking for its first victory of the outdoor season.

Penn State's high flying vaulter Ogie Norris will find tough competition in the form of the Mountaineers' Dave Tork. Tork has cleared the 14'-1 1/4" mark and is the holder of the West Virginia record.

The Mountaineers are favored in the 100-yard dash and the 120-yard high hurdles. Their sophomore sensation Ray Peterson is their top man in the sprints.

Peterson has run the 100-yard dash in 9.75 and is favored to cop first place laurels Saturday.

Favored in the 120-yard high hurdles is West Virginia's Chick Sherwood. Sherwood took first in this event against Virginia Tech as he covered the distance in 15.4.

The teams have equal strength in the weight events and winners here are anybody's guess.

West Virginia has compiled a 3 and 1 record thus far, defeating Slippery Rock, Westminster and Virginia Tech and losing to the Virginia Military Institute.

KDR Wins in IM Golf Play

IM GOLF
Team play got underway in the IM fraternity golf tournament this week.

Kappa Delta Rho took the spotlight when they won their first two matches. KDR's team opened by beating Alpha Chi Rho, 3-1. In the second match they beat Theta Xi, 4-1.

In other matches, Lambda Chi Alpha beat Triangle, 4-1; Chi Phi beat Alpha Zeta, 4-1; Tau Kappa Epsilon edged Sigma Alpha Mu, 3-2; and Sigma Alpha Epsilon dumped Sigma Pi, 4-1.

IM BOWLING
The Fowls continued their torrid pace in Indie League A when they beat the Bruins, 4-0. Bob Nelson once again bowled the high single game, a 233.

The Vets held second place by virtue of a 4-0 win over the Capitalists.

In League B, the Gutterbailers clung to their slim lead as they beat Twenty & Three, 4-0. McKee III & IV moved into second place in League B as they beat the Brats, 3-1.

SWEENEY IN THE TREES

Spring is here—the season of tree-sitting contests. This I applaud. Tree-sitting is healthful and jolly and as American as apple pie. Also it keeps you off the streets.

Tree-sitting is not, however, without its hazards. Take, for example, the dread and chilling case of Manuel Sigafos and Ed Sweeney, both sophomores at the Nashville College of Folk Music and Woodworking, and both madly in love with a beautiful also named Ursula Thing, who won their hearts singing that fine old folk song, I Strangled My True Love with Her Own Yellow Braids, and I'll Never Eat Her Sorghum Any More.

Both Manuel and Ed pressed Ursula to go steady, but she could not choose between them, and finally it was decided that the boys would have a tree-sitting contest, and Ursula would belong to the victor. So Manuel and Ed clambered up adjoining aspens, taking with them the following necessities: food, clothing, bedding, reading matter, and—most essential of all—plenty of Marlboro Cigarettes.

We who live on the ground know how much you get to like with a Marlboro. Think how much more important they must be to the lonely tree-dweller—how much more welcome their fine, mild tobacco; how much more gratifying their free-drawing filters; how much more comforting their sturdy, crushproof flip-top box. Climb a tree and see for yourselves.

Well supplied with Marlboros, our heroes began their tree-sitting contest—Manuel with good heart, Ed with evil cunning. The shocking fact is that crafty Ed, all unbeknownst to Manuel, was one of three identical triplets. Each night while Manuel dozed on his bough, one of Ed's brothers—Fred or Jed—would sneak up the tree and replace him. "How can I lose?" said Ed with a fiendish giggle to his brother Fred or Jed.

But Ed had a big surprise coming. For Manuel, though he did not know it himself, was a druid! He had been abandoned as an infant at the hut of a poor and humble woodcutter named Cornelius Whitney Sigafos III, who had raised the child as his own. So when Manuel got into the tree, he found much to his surprise that he had never in all his life felt so at home and happy. He had absolutely no intention of ever leaving.

After seven or eight years Ed and his brothers wearied of the contest and conceded. Ursula Thing came to Manuel's tree and cried, "I am yours! Come down and pin me."

But Manuel declined. Instead he asked Ursula to join him in the tree. This she could not do, being subject to mopyery (a morbid allergy to woodpeckers), so she ended up with Ed after all.

Only she made a mistake—a very natural mistake. It was Jed, not Ed, with whom she ended up.

Ed, heartbroken at being tricked by his own brother, took up metallurgy to forget.

Crime does not pay.

Tigers Hand Yankees First Home Defeat, 10-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit clobbered Whitey Ford Wednesday, 10-1, as the Tigers became the first club this season to defeat the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

Frank Lary, twice a loser, broke into the winning column with a seven hitter to snap the Yanks' six-game home winning streak. A crowd of only 7,191 saw the game on a cool, windy afternoon.

The Tigers ripped into Ford for 12 of their 14 hits while Lary mowed down the Yanks without too much trouble. Successive doubles by Ford and Hank Bauer accounted for the New York run in the third.
