FIVE CENTS

Carnival Ticket Sales, 50,000, Break All Previous Records

Spring Week carnival sales of 50,000 tickets exceeded last year's total of 33,000 by almost 20,000 tickets and broke all previous records, according to David Tressler, Spring Week business manager.

Tressler also reported that carnival took in a record gross income of $7000, which leaves an approximate net profit of $3300, as compared to last year's $5500 gross income, and $2900 net profit. The increased profit was due in part to larger sales by concessions and rides on which Spring Week gets a 25 per cent return.

Spring Week, as a whole, lost about $1300 last year to an unusually large expense of $2500 incurred by the Talent Show, and the double expense of obtaining Recreation Hall for two nights. A comparison with this year's overall total is not available since all money is not in for Awards tickets. An estimated 2100 were sold as compared to last year's 1000; also Recreation Hall was in use only one night and the talent was obtained at less expense.

One point separated Phi Kappa and Sigma Alpha Mu, overall Spring Week winners, and their nearest competitors, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Theta.

Phi Kappa and Sigma Alpha Mu had 56 points to 55 for Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Theta. The former groups took first place in the float parade and second place in the carnival in the panel and quiz category.

The latter groups won second place in the float parade and carnival in the western division and received points for a finalist in the Miss Penn State contest.

Alpha Gamma Rho and Phi Mu took third place with 49 points. They were first place in the Queen of Hearts tournament and first in the police and detective division of carnival.

Delta Sigma Pi and Alpha Xi Delta came in fourth with 47 points, winning first place in the float parade and third place in the western category.

Two groups tied for fifth place with 44 points. They are Phi Sigma Delta and Alpha Epsilon Phi, winning first place in the western category, and Phi Delta Theta and Delta Delta Delta, first in the police and detective division of carnival.

Alpha Chi Sigma and Kappa Delta placed sixth in Spring Week with 31 points. They won third place in the police and detective carnival division.

2 Sophs Charged In Shovel Incident

By NEAL FRIEDMAN

Two sophomores are out on $500 bail on a charge of malicious mischief—operating a steam shovel—in the climax of a weekend which State College Chief of Police John R. Juba described as one of the most noisy he has seen in the borough.

The two were bound over to Centre County Court by Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills after he had fined them on a charge of disturbing the peace in the operation of a back hoe (steam shovel) along with two other men from Narberth, a suburb of Philadelphia.

Collegian Cubs to Meet

There will be a meeting of Collegian Cub Reporters at 7 tonight in the Collegian office. Attendance is mandatory.

Former Student Indicted; Trial to be Held May 19

The Centre County Grand Jury in Bellefonte yesterday returned an indictment against James Burns, former senior in hotel administration from Altoona, on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

He will be tried in Centre County Court on May 19.

The charge resulted from an accident which occurred January 10 when Burns was driver of a car in which his fraternity brother, Jack Welsh, at that time a junior in forestry from New Castle, was killed.

Burns himself suffered the loss of his right eye, cuts about the face and eye and a dislocated right hip as a result of the crash.

The pair was traveling toward State College from Bellefonte on route 545 about four miles outside of State College when the 1:30 a.m. accident occurred.

State Police said the car went off the right side of the road and into a ditch being dug for a pipeline when the accident occurred.

The car hit a pile of dirt and stone, then struck a tractor which was parked beside the road. Welsh and Burns were taken to Centre County Hospital in Bellefonte at 2:30 a.m. by an Alpha Fire Company ambulance.

Welsh died about four hours later of a fractured and cut skull and a fractured jaw.

Burns was in critical condition and semi-conscious when admitted to the hospital, but his condition improved later in the day. Doctors at first felt it would not be necessary to remove Burns' eye, but a few days later they were forced to do this.

Burns was released from the hospital shortly before the start of the spring semester.

Both Welsh and Burns were members of Theta Xi fraternity. Burns was formerly chairman of the Interfraternity Council Purchasing Association.

Welsh had completed a term as house manager of his fraternity the week of his death.

James H. Allen Jr., sophomore in chemical engineering from Merion, and James Greeves, sophomore in metallurgy from Washington, along with Harry Jackson and Gavin Bruce Speirs, the two Narberth men, did about $1000 damage to the power-operated shovel in the 400 block Garner avenue Sunday morning, according to State College Police.

The four were fined $61.50 each by Mills before being turned over to the court.

All four were taken to Centre (Continued on page two)

Civil Defense Test To Be Held Today

There will be a mass civil defense test sometime between 9 and 11 a.m. today.

It will last approximately 15 minutes, using the customary cycle of three signals. The Power Plant horn will signal the start of the test.

The first signal, to be sounded sometime after 9, will be a 3- to 5-minute blast, requiring no public action. The second signal will be the "Take Cover" signal. All persons, including students walking on campus, must take shelter, and all traffic, except for emergency vehicles will be halted. The third signal, similar to the first, will announce the end of the test.

NATO to Revamp Summit Strategy

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (P)—NATO foreign ministers organized their own diplomatic offensive yesterday for a summit conference. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles cautioned against falling into Russian-laid traps on the road.

The ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty nations—confident now in their own ability to keep in step—heard British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd expound the view that the Russians are losing their enthusiasm for a top-level meeting.

Lloyd suggested the world public was beginning to see through Kremlin diplomatic ruses.

In a confident mood, the NATO ministers made it clear they intended to keep the Russians on the defensive by working hard for summit talks—the kind that would have real meaning.

Underlining this, West Germany's Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano said his government would insist that any summit conference discuss German reunification—the most elusive topic in world diplomacy.

Informants gave this picture of the ministers' deliberations during two closed sessions on this opening day of their three-day spring meeting.

Close to in Copenhagen's Christiansborg Castle, the ministers congratulated themselves on keeping in such close touch that they were able to agree on quick counters to Soviet diplomatic and propaganda moves.

Dulles told his Atlantic alliance colleagues that on the stony road to the summit they must avoid giving any political advantage to the Russians which would more than offset anything the Westerners were likely to gain from the talks themselves.

Burglars Enter Sport Goods Store

Burglars cut a hole in a plate glass window of a downtown sporting goods store and stole approximately $60 worth of fishing equipment.

Borough police said the robbery occurred sometime between 11 p.m. Saturday and early Sunday morning at the Sportsmen's Shack, 135 Calder Alley.

Police said a hole, apparently made by a glass cutter, was the only sign of entry.

Independent Honor Group Seeks O.K.

A newly formed honor society for independent students—Promethean—will apply for a charter from the Senate subcommittee on organization and control, David Detzer, chairman of the Association of Independent Men public relations committee, said last night.

Detzer said the society will need 12 charter members and an adviser before it can apply for recognition.

Membership in the society will be open to any independent student regardless of class year. The society will be co-educational and the constitution limits membership to 30 students.

Requirements for the society will include a 2.4 All-University average and a minimum number of activities as outlined in the new constitution.

Membership in the group will be continuous as long as the requirements are maintained.

To date, nine students have agreed to be charter members of the organization. They are Charles Bartholemew, Charles Blunt, David Detzer, Edward Frymoyer, Robert LaBar, Barbara Marcus, James Nussbaum, Rita Saltzer and James Wambold.

Ed Council to Discuss Annual Banquet Tonight

The Education Student Council will discuss plans for its annual banquet at 8 tonight in 214 Hetzel Union.

The banquet will be held May 21 in the HUB. The council will also discuss the possibility of having students assist the advisors during registration for the fall semester.

AIM Governors to Air Directed Vote Tonight

By DAVE FINEMAN
Collegian City Editor

A directed-vote constitutional amendment will be proposed at the Association of Independent Men Board of Governors meeting tonight.

A similar amendment was defeated on Dec. 11 last year by a vote of 20 to 6 after a three-hour debate.

David Byers, a member of the AIM executive committee, said the amendment to be proposed tonight would provide that the AIM president could not vote on All-University Cabinet "in direct opposition to the wishes of the Board of Governors."

This would not mean, Byers said, that the AIM president would necessarily have to vote as directed by the Board of Governors, since he could abstain.

"It merely states that he could not vote in direct opposition," Byers added.

Byers also said the Board of Governor's direction would be absolute only if backed by a two-thirds majority, since the presidential veto, already a part of the AIM constitution, would still be in effect.

The opposition against the December attempt was led by William B. Crafts, assistant dean of men in charge of independent affairs, and John Morgan, AIM president at the time.

Crafts called the directed vote a "shackle." No group on campus has this type of provision, he said, and if approved, it would put the board "in a mighty funny position."

James Goodwin, a member of the Board, supported the proposal in December, saying it would uphold the principle of representative democracy.

"AIM is supposed to deal with the independent man," he said, "and this group (AIM) is supposed to be a sounding board for the independent man's opinion."
