

John Hopkins Prof To Talk on Chivalry

Dr. Sidney Painter, chairman of the department of history at the Johns Hopkins University, will speak on "French Chivalry" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

Following this lecture, Dr. Douglas Bush, Gurney professor of English Literature at Harvard University, will speak on "The Problem of Belief." Bush's lecture will be co-sponsored by the Committee on Religious Education and the Liberal Arts Lecture Series.

Painter is a specialist in the history of England and France in the 12th and 13th centuries and is the author of many volumes on the Middle Ages.

Two of his major works are "French Chivalry" and "The Reign of King John."

Among his other books are "William Marshall, The Scourge of the Clergy," "Peter of Dreux, Duke of Brittany," "History of the English Feudal Barony," "The Rise of the Feudal Monarchies," "Medieval Society," "The Past That Lives Today," and "A History of the Middle Ages."

Painter is a fellow of the Medieval Academy of America and a member of the editorial board of "Speculum" and "Medievalia et Humanistica," learned societies.

From 1950 to 1955, Painter served on the Committee on International Exchange of Persons.

A graduate of Yale University, Painter also received his doctor of philosophy degree there. He has served on the faculty of both Yale and Johns Hopkins and since 1945 has been the chairman of the Johns Hopkins history department.

'08 Class Sets 2 Scholarships

Two $400 scholarships will be provided under the provisions of a scholarship fund established by the Class of 1908.

The scholarships have been established on the occasion of the 50th reunion of the class, which will be held here as a part of the Class Reunion and Alumni Institute Program, June 12 to 14.

D. F. Evans, of Drexel Hill and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., secretary of the Class of 1908, said the scholarships will benefit freshmen. Each of the students selected for an award, however, may continue to receive the award for each of his four years if he continues to meet scholastic requirements.

In making the awards, preference will be given to enrolling freshmen who are descendants of members of the Class of 1908, a spokesman said.

Original damage estimates of $68 were changed after a complete study of the damage done showed it to be approximately $95. The subcommittee's approval of the recommendations is dependent on the students paying the damage costs.

One of the students receiving suspended suspension had appeared before the judicial board the week before the other three students. At that time he accepted all responsibility for the damage.

Weintraub Edits Novel by Shaw

Dr. Stanley Weintraub, instructor in English literature, has contributed an introduction and notes to the "Unfinished Novel," by George Bernard Shaw, which is being published in limited editions for the first time in the United States and England.

In his introduction, Weintraub relates that Shaw rediscovered the unfinished manuscript some 40 years after he stopped working on it in 1888. Shaw added a brief preface and sent the manuscript, with its present title, to the National Library of Ireland in 1946.

The subject of the novel is medicine. Shaw described it as "a complete throwback to the Victorian novel with its triangle of husband, wife and lover who reappear some 10 years later in my play, 'Candida.'"

A leading American Shavian, Weintraub is editor of "The Shaw Bulletin," journal of the Shaw Society of America.

THE ENGINEERS HAVE HAIRY EARS

Today in this age of technology when engineering graduates are wooed and courted by all of America's great industries, how do you account for the fact that Rimbaud Sigafos, who finished at the very top of his class at M.I.T., turned down hundreds of attractive job offers to accept employment as a machinery wiper at the Acme Ice Company at a salary of $20 a week with a twelve-hour day, a seven-day week, and only fifteen minutes for lunch?

..Engineering Grads are Wooed and Courte..

I know what you are thinking: "Cherchez la femme!" You are thinking that Mr. Acme, head of the Acme Ice Company, has a beautiful daughter with whom Rimbaud is madly in love and he took the job only to be near her.

Friends, you are wrong. It is true that Mr. Acme does have a daughter, a large, torpid lass named Clavdia who spends all her waking hours scooping marzipan out of a bucket and staring at a television set which has not worked in some years. Rimbaud has not the slightest interest in Clavdia; nor, indeed, does any other man, excepting possibly John Ringling North.

So how come Rimbaud keeps working for the Acme Ice Company? Can it be that they provide him with free Marlboro Cigarettes, and all day long he enjoys that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box?

No, friends, no. Rimbaud is not allowed to smoke on the job, and when he finishes his long, miserable day, he has to buy his own Marlboros, even as you and I, in order to enjoy that estimable filter, that incomparable flavor, that crazy flip-top box.

Well, friends, you might as well give up because you'll never in a million years guess why Rimbaud works for the Acme Ice Company. The reason is simply this: Rimbaud is a seal!

He started as a performing seal in vaudeville. One night on the way to the Ed Sullivan show, he took the wrong subway. All night the poor mammal rode the B.M.T., seeking a helping hand. Finally a kindly brakeman named Ernest Thompson Sigafos rescued the hapless Rimbaud.

He took Rimbaud home and raised him as his own, and Rimbaud, to show his appreciation, studied hard and got excellent marks and finished a distinguished academic career as valedictorian of M.I.T.

Rimbaud never complained to his kindly foster father, but through all those years of grammar school and high school and college, he darn near died of the heat! A seal, you must remember, is by nature a denizen of the Arctic, so you can imagine how poor Rimbaud must have suffered in subtropical New York and Boston, especially in those tight Ivy League suits.

But today at the Acme Ice Company, Rimbaud has finally found a temperature to his liking. He is very happy and sends greetings to his many friends.
