IFC Board Issues DTD Reprimand

By BILL JAFFE

The Interfraternity Council Board of Control last night issued a letter of reprimand to Delta Tau Delta Fraternity for not exercising adequate supervision in the weekend "steamshovel" incident, George Wills, chairman of the board, said.

The Board also warned the fraternities to give proper respect to investigating police officers, and Wills said the Board intends to cooperate fully with local police on fraternity affairs.

"The tone of parties over the weekend was unusually noisy and the board will clamp down on parties being held not in the fraternity house proper," Wills said.

The Board heard Sgt. William Seckinger of the State College police testify that the members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity were using abusive language in front of a police officer and disturbing neighbors.

Seckinger said the weekend was one of the noisiest in a number of years and numerous complaints of excessive noise were called to the attention of the police.

Richard Wilson, house president, testified as to the fraternity's party plans on Saturday and explained the sequence of events which led up to the time he was awakened by Sgt. Seckinger at 5 a.m. Sunday.

James Greeves, sophomore in metallurgy from Washington and a member of the fraternity, testified as to his part in the malicious mischief charge filed by local police.

Greeves along with James H. Allen Jr., sophomore in chemical engineering from Merion, and two guests at the fraternity from Narbeth, were fined $61.50 apiece by Justice of the Peace Guy G. Mills.

They were bound over to the Centre County jail for operating a steam shovel early Sunday morning and later posted bond for their release.

Tribunal Asks Pro Till '59 For Junior

William Kern, 22, junior in civil engineering from Slatington, has been recommended by Tribunal for disciplinary probation until June, 1959, for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The Senate subcommittee on discipline will consider the recommendation today.

Kern was first arrested April 19 and detained overnight in Bellefonte for violating a borough ordinance prohibiting drinking in public. He and a friend were fined $10 and $7.75 costs each for disorderly conduct.

Kern was arrested the next night in State College for driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $100, had his driver's license revoked for a year and was placed on probation for two years.

Tribunal recommended disciplinary probation until the end of the fall semester for a sophomore in business administration for using an excuse form he found in a waste basket to try to be excused from a bluebook.

Alumni Drive Opens To Pledge Seniors

Editorial on Page Four

An all-out drive to pledge graduating seniors to join the Alumni Association and the Alumni Fund will be conducted next week.

Final plans for an Alumni Pledge Week, to be held for the first time this year, will be made at a kick-off meeting at 8 tonight in the Hotel State College.

Using "Take Penn State With You After Graduation" as its theme, the week-long drive will use both mail and personal contact to obtain pledges to join the Alumni Association and to contribute to the Alumni Fund after graduation.

The project is headed by Thomas Hollander, senior class past president.

The personal contacts will be made late next week by class agents, who were chosen by a committee headed by Suzanne Smith, former Women's Student Government Association president.

Approximately 125 class agents have been invited to attend the kick-off meeting tomorrow night. There is one agent for every 10 to 15 members of the class.

The agents, which form the "grassroots" of the class structure, usually are named after graduation. This marks the first attempt to set up the class structure before graduation.

A college coordinator will head the work of the agents in each of the nine colleges. The coordinators are Robert Steele, Liberal Arts; Myrna Paynter, Education; Roger Levin, Mineral Industries; Barbara Jones, Physical Education; Patricia Moran, Home Economics; Russell Beaty, Agriculture; Carroll McDonnell, Chemistry and Physics; Robert Stroup, Engineering and Architecture; and Michael Walker, Business Administration.

Speaking at the kick-off meeting will be Ridge Riley, executive director of the Alumni Association; Ross B. Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the Alumni Association; Robert Beam, assistant director of the Alumni Fund; and Hollander.

Sr. Class Board Forms

Applications for the Senior Class Advisory Board are available at the Hetzel Union desk.

Forms must be submitted by noon tomorrow.

May Day Rescheduled for Rec Hall

The Women's Student Government Association House of Representatives voted yesterday to hold Saturday's 36th annual May Day ceremonies in Recreation Hall—rain, or shine — rather than on the lawn in front of Old Main.

The ceremonies were originally scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Saturday on the lawn in front of Old Main, and Recreation Hall was to be used in the event of inclement weather. The time will remain the same.

Barbara Martino, house of representatives secretary, made the motion to conduct the event indoors.

Lois Henderson, house chairman and chairman for May Day, gave two reasons for the change in plans:

•The rainy weather has prevented workers from erecting bleachers on Old Main lawn because trucks are not allowed on the lawn when the ground is damp. Workers would have to carry the bleachers from the main roads, entailing extra time and work.

•The expenses of putting the bleachers on the lawn would increase because of the overtime that would be necessary to complete the job.

Ernest B. McCoy, dean of the College of Physical Education, has given his approval to the new plans. There will be no program change.

NATO Will Seek More Than Talks

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The North Atlantic Alliance launched a peace offensive of its own yesterday by telling the Soviet Union: Let us try everything possible—not just summit talks—to eliminate war.

Rising above the Kremlin's roadblocks, the 15 NATO foreign ministers again invited the Soviets to join them in working out the complex machinery for safe, controlled disarmament.

The United States, Britain and France carried this idea a step further by agreeing to take some of their smaller NATO partners to a possible summit meeting. Italy was mentioned specifically.

The Western Big Three abandoned their stand for four-power summit talks in a joint statement.

The Soviets had sought previously to break the four-power framework by suggesting East-West parity at the summit, with the inclusion of Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Soviets also talked of an even broader conference that would include such uncommitted nations as India, Egypt and Sweden.

Neither of these ideas had won Western approval. But the way is opened now for adjustments in the delegations of both sides.

The NATO nations promised in a communique issued at the end of their 3-day spring meeting to push technical studies of disarmament within their own alliance if the Soviets refuse to lend a hand.

This would enable them to keep coming forward with disarmament proposals the Soviets would find harder and harder to reject.

All NATO foreign ministers agreed during three days of consultations here that any summit meeting must be adequately prepared and must show in advance some prospect of East-West agreement on a basic point of world tension.

The latest Soviet note on summit preparations created little stir in the NATO Council. French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said it contained "absolutely no new element."

The French, in fact, came to the same conclusion as the Americans—that the Russians are still stalling.

Twenty Students Fined $97 by Traffic Court

Twenty students have been fined a total of $97 by Traffic Court for illegal parking, registration stickers not being displayed and failure to report for violations to Campus Patrol.

Eight automatic fines were given for failure to appear before the Court and $28 worth of fines was suspended.

Final Cabinet Referendum Vote Due

All-University Cabinet will take its third and final vote on the proposed referendum amendment to the Student Government Association constitution at 7 tonight in 203 HUB.

The amendment states that a petition signed by three per cent of the student body could call for a general vote on any issue Cabinet has approved.

The amendment, approved for the second time last week, must be read and approved three times before it becomes part of the constitution.

The place of The Daily Collegian on Cabinet will also be brought up for discussion.

The amendment contains a clause stating that if 20 per cent of the students voted in a special election the majority decision would bind Cabinet's vote on the issue.

The third point of the plan is that this vote could be overruled only by a three-fourth vote of Cabinet.

Two motions to amend the referendum were defeated at a previous meeting: one to raise the petition quota to 5 per cent and another to set a petition total of 500.

Robert Piccone, co-editor of the Student Handbook, will present a progress report on the handbook.

Lion Says Rain Will End Today

"Thish rainz sho sloshy thad id's fling ub my den," gargled the Lion as he floated by his barometer.

The rain, in fact, ruined his plans for an out-of-doors picnic today by taking all the curl out of the potato chips he had stored on a high shelf for sunny times.

"Oh glub!" he continued, "the forecast for today is for continued cloudy weather with occasional light rain or drizzle. 'It's supposed to diminish and end during this afternoon," he remarked cheerfully. "The temperature will reach a high of 52-58 degrees, he said. "Nothing's so rare as a day in May," he mumbled as he paddled away on his umbrella.

Free Chest X-Rays Available Today

Free chest x-rays will be available today and tomorrow for students, faculty and other personnel of the University at a mobile unit located near the Ritenour Health Center at Shortlidge and Pollock Roads.

At 3 p.m. yesterday 137 persons had had the free x-rays, which are made available by the Bureau of Tuberculosis Control, Pennsylvania Department of Health.

The unit will be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 6 p.m. today and tomorrow.
