

AIM Governors' Board OK's Indie Honor Society

The Association of Independent Men Board of Governors Tuesday night approved the new independent honorary society—Promethean—but not until Carl Smith, AIM vice president, questioned the purposes of the group and one of its charter members.

Smith asked David Detzer, one of the group's originators, whether its purpose was to honor independents for activities in independent organizations or in "just any old activity."

Detzer replied that it was for honoring persons in all activities so long as they are independents. Smith then questioned whether James Nussbaum, newly elected junior class vice president, belonged in the organization.

"He has just been elected to office and is unproven," said Smith. Charles Blunt then stated that he had run against Nussbaum and "as I recall, he had a rather impressive list of activities."

Smith also asked why Donald Dennis, another member of the board, had not been asked to join. Edward Frymoyer, AIM president, said that Dennis was to be asked to join at the close of the meeting.

David Byers raised the question of whether this would turn into a secret organization. Detzer replied, "No."

Charles Bartholomew, Town Independent Men president, reiterated Detzer's remarks saying "Promethean will not turn into a Lion's Paw or Kitty's Claw or anything like that." Bartholomew moved the question and it was passed by a voice vote.

Debate on other action was curtailed because of the time consumed with Promethean and the directed vote amendment.

The board appropriated $200 for the independent encampment.

In other action, the board appropriated $25 to the AIM band for their forthcoming concert and voted to place the trophy AIM and Leonides won for the Spring Week float parade to Nittany 20.

AIM Action Stirs Referendum Talk

A plan of referendum and initiative is being discussed in the wake of the approval, on first reading, Tuesday night of a directed vote amendment for the constitution of the Association of Independent Men Board of Governors.

Commenting on the directed voting amendment, David

Detzer, Town Independent Men Council representative, said he is not in favor of the motion. "I would rather see referendum, recall and initiative," he said.

James Goodwin, board alternate, agreed with Detzer that referendum and initiative would be good for AIM; however, he said last night that "he does not agree with a recall plan."

Referendum, Goodwin said, would be superior to the proposed amendment if it applies to the president as well as individual board members.

On recall, however, Goodwin said it would put the president in a position where he would be afraid of removal by students even when he did not know their wishes. The board will have no recourse on any matter on which they have not expressed an opinion, Goodwin said.

Goodwin said an amendment meant to clarify the proposed amendment will be presented at the next meeting. The amendment will require a two-thirds vote of the board of governors to bind the president to the board's wishes.

The Chemistry and Physics Student Council is presently the only group to have directed voting.

Donald Zepp, Chemistry and Physics Student Council president, said he does not believe a person's power as president is hurt by directed voting since he will usually have time to go back to his council with any new facts. However, Zepp said he would go against the council's wishes if he believed the members were not really informed or interested.

"There has been talk at the council," Zepp said, "about having a referendum system." Zepp said he felt referendum is better than directed voting because it shows the feelings of the students rather than those of just the council members.

Noted Architect To Give Talk

Carl Koch, assistant professor of architecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a leading architect, will speak at 7:30 tonight in the Hetzel Union Auditorium.

In addition to his teaching, he heads the New York firm of Carl Koch and Associates and has designed many buildings.

Koch's work has included the planning of housing developments; shopping centers; facilities for Boston Waterways, Inc.; a market place in Bhavnagar, India; the Boston Center Project; and overseas Military Air Transport Service bases.

The address is sponsored by the Department of Architecture and is open to the public.

Krogh to Show Slides

Dr. Richard N. Krogh, professor of Spanish, will show slides of Spain at the Spanish Club meeting at 7 tonight in the Home Economics Living Center.

Panhel Votes Constitution Rush Change

A system of preferential matching, in which the rushee's preference list will be filled before the sorority preference list in formal rush, has been approved for the second time and added to the Panhellenic Council constitution.

The system has been used for the last several years except for this year when a system was used in which the sorority preference list was filled first.

The system will involve the use of IBM machines.

President Phyllis Muscat announced that Alpha Kappa Alpha has been declared inactive by the Senate Committee on Student Affairs, but may reorganize at any time.

The council voted to continue aid to Susan Kalmar, a Hungarian student, next semester. Council members hope to raise $250 through contributions from individual sororities.

The council will help the University Christian Association, through the individual sororities, in conducting a survey to find lodging for foreign students in the coming year. Two volunteers from each sorority will devote three hours each to the drive.

43 Jrs. Named Class Advisers

BusAd Senior Appointed AFROTC Division Head

Robert O'Connor, senior in business administration from Erie, and a colonel in the Air Force ROTC, has been appointed Commander of the University ROTC division.

O'Connor will be responsible, with other subordinates, for the training and activities of 2600 Air Force cadets.

Girls' Softball Exam To Be Given Tonight

The national officials' softball examination will be given at the WRA Officials Club meeting at 8 tonight in 2 White.

There will be a 25 cents charge payable at the time of the examination.

Women planning to take the exam are to notify Joan Nessler before 4 p.m. Thursday in White Building.

ORCHESIS, Spring Dance Concert of the Women's Recreation Association, is to include such impressionistic numbers as the one shown here: "How High is High." The concert is being held tonight and Saturday night in White Hall.

Contracts Awarded For ROTC Building

By JEFF POLLACK

Contracts have been awarded for the $1,181,745 Wagner Building, the new military science building, to be located on Three-mile road just east of the flower gardens, according to Walter H. Wiegand, director of the Department of Physical Plant.

The new building, named after the late Lt. H. Edward Wagner, a University graduate who died in France in 1944, will be three stories high with a basement and an adjacent one-story laboratory.

The basement area will be used for housing stores and issuing uniforms and equipment, while offices and classrooms will be located on the other three floors.

The laboratory will be used to house heavy ordnance equipment.

The general contractor for the project will be the John McShannon Contracting Co. The McShannon bid was $362,800. Contracts were also awarded to the B. O. Daubert Co. for heating work; Millcreek Electric Construction Co. for electrical work; and Riggs, Distlar and Co. for plumbing work.

Wiegand also said an entrance will be built to the parking lot behind the Home Economics South Building from College Avenue. The two wings of the building, as well as the connecting structure to the Home Economics Building are scheduled for completion by April 28, 1960.

A contract has been given for a one-room addition to the Agricultural Engineering Building as well as for an additional storage building to be located on the University farm. The storage building will be pre-fabricated and of metal.
