

Baseballers' Win Skein At Stake Against Hoyas

Penn State's baseball team will be shooting for its sixth and seventh consecutive victories this afternoon when it faces Georgetown in a twin-bill at Washington, D.C.

The Lions, who whipped a strong Gettysburg team, 7-3, in their last outing, haven't lost since Ohio State beat them three weeks ago, 9-4. Since then, they have trampled Bucknell, 12-0, Syracuse, 11-0, and 8-5, Navy, 7-3, and Gettysburg.

Cal Emery and Ron Riese, the big two of the Lion mound corps, are scheduled to twirl this afternoon. Emery, who has never lost a regular season game in 14 engagements, will hurl in the 9-inning opener and Riese, 2-0 for the year, will go in the abbreviated 7-frame nightcap.

Emery hasn't hurled since he beat Navy on a 3-hitter over a week ago. But a long layoff, doesn't usually mean much to the 6-2, 190-pound portside, who has allowed only three earned runs in 38 innings this season. He's been known to pitch some of his best games with a week's rest.

Riese was the victor in the Gettysburg tilt. The pint-sized righthander, who graduated from a relief job into a starting role, also owns a win over Syracuse. He has allowed only six earned runs in 26 1/2 frames and has given up just three free passes.

Bedenk will go with his regular starting lineup for today's games. That would be, in batting order: Larry Fegley (.341) at

'2 Foes' for Netters At Syracuse Today

The Penn State tennis team will try to overcome two foes today at Syracuse—the Orangemen and its only opponent for the past week and a half, the rain.

Rain has completely disrupted the net schedule, causing postponement of the last two matches with Lehigh and West Virginia. One other match was also dropped from the schedule due to rain, an away affair with Bucknell.

The only match in the last four that beat the bad weather rap was the Lion-Quaker face-off at Penn on April 30. The Lions dropped that one, 8-1.

Penn State's infamous monsoon season has also played havoc with the netmen's practice sessions—the last one being a week ago yesterday. So it will be a rain-rusty net team that will be attempting to get its third win and a .500 average after losing "five straight"—to Colgate and Penn and three to the weather.

Coach Sherm Fogg is courting the same juggled lineup he planned to use in the last two matches in an attempt to find a winning combination.

The netters as usual will be led by Captain Fred Trust in the number one spot. The first change is at the number two position where Charlie Bibleheimer exchanges places with Chuck Quetta, regularly the third man.

The fourth and fifth men also change places, with Dick Jacobs moving up and Gene Flick dropping one place. Mel Royer will be back on the sixth court after missing the Penn match.

According to Syracuse pre-season releases, Coach Gene Garret lists a transfer student, Dick Wooley, as the top player on his young team. All six starters are juniors.

Five returning lettermen complete the first six, led by Al Maquir in the second position. The others are Dave Applehof, Tom Rosenthal, Dick Scolaro and Bill Seager.

Coast Relays Start Tonight

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Five world records were seen in jeopardy last night as a huge field awaited tonight's 32nd running of the West Coast Relays.

Three world record holders are competing in field events and might eclipse their marks in the pole vault and shot put. Other records in danger are the discus and mile relay.

Bos Gutowski, who cleared 15-9 3/4 in the pole vault in the NCAA meet last year for a new world record, heads the field in his event. The Occidental College star faces at least three others who have cleared 15 feet—Ron Morris, formerly of USC, Jim Brewer, a frosh at USC, and George Roubanis, the Greek national from UCLA.

Exchange areas served by General Telephone are shown in dark tone.

We're proud to be No. 2

The people who live in the United States have more of almost everything—including telephones. Therefore it's possible, in such a fabulous country, to be the No. 2 communications system in size—and still have a great opportunity for service and growth.

General Telephone serves, for example, more telephone customers than the total number of telephones in such a country as France. And this list is growing—at the rate of 1,000 new customers every working day—partly because so many of the areas we serve are suburban areas, which are the fastest-growing areas in this country.

All of which confronts us with many challenges. If we cannot be the largest, we can surely aspire to be the finest—to do whatever we do better than it has been done before. So we're happy to be No. 2. It keeps you on your toes.
