East Campus Entrance May Get $10,000 Gift

Second of a Series

"An entranceway to the east campus," not a memorial archway as reported by the senior class gift committee, is one of the five final suggestions for the $10,000 senior class gift, Thomas Hollander, president of the class of 1958, said.

Hollander pointed out that an archway would be impractical, as heavy trailer trucks might not be able to clear it.

The suggestion, as adopted by the gift committee, read "Memorial Archway for Shortlidge Road." Hollander says that it is impossible to specify Shortlidge Road, because future construction and expansion may relocate the east end of campus.

James H. Coogan, assistant director of public information, said, "The Trustees would decide on the location of the entrance if that project is selected to receive the $10,000 gift."

Walter H. Wiegand, director of the physical plant, said present plans include the Shortlidge Road and College Avenue intersection as a major entrance to campus. However, this is not east, according to University plans, but south. He says the entrance to the east campus is by the sewage disposal plant, near the home management houses. A highway cloverleaf for route 545 is being planned for this area.

Walter W. Trainer, head of the division of landscape construction and maintenance, in 1938 drew up plans for entrance gates at both Shortlidge and Burrows Roads. His plans for the Shortlidge Road Entrance specify a brick structure, capped with limestone. Pillars on either side of the road would curve outward. Steps would lead to the sidewalk. Trainer is doubtful if $10,000 would be sufficient to construct the entranceway because of increased building costs.

Trainer's design for the Burrows Road entrance is a gate with arches on either side of the road.

When questioned as to a probable location of the east campus entrance, Trainer said he didn't know where it could be located if not at Shortlidge Road.

Richard Zeller, co-chairman of the senior class gift committee, said the proposed entranceway, if selected for the gift, will be (Continued on page five)

Panhel Kills 'Open Rush' Proposal

A motion proposing "open rushing," which would make sorority rushing similar to fraternity rushing was defeated by the Panhellenic Council, last night, and a system of preferential bidding for informal rush was approved.

The preferential system replaces the previous system used for informal rush in which bids were submitted directly to the rushee from the sorority. With that system, the rushee could receive more than one bid.

The "open system," which was defeated, would have permitted oral bids and invitations to rushees and entertainment of rushees outside of the suites.

The preferential system will use the IBM machines for the entire bidding procedure. The preference list of the rushee will be matched with the preference list of the sororities.

Compulsory registration for rushing and the ruling that all visits by rushees after open houses be preceded by a written invitation were retained from the rushing codes of previous years.

The council also passed the motions that rushing be from 1:30 to 8 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and that no men be permitted in the suites during rushing.

Gatherings in any residence hall room other than chapter rooms will not be permitted.

Department Title Change

The Department of Sociology has changed its name to the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Work in both fields is offered by the department and the new name is similar to those used at other land-grant universities.

Additional Parking Due at Whipple's

Students will find easier parking at Whipple's Dam soon; officials have announced that steps will be taken to alleviate the parking problem at the park.

Ralph Park, forest ranger at Whipple's, said that 150 parking spaces will be added by widening the shoulder of Laurel Run Highway, which runs through the park, and expanding the parking area to provide for an additional 50 spaces.

Park added that a number of other improvements will greet picnickers and bathers when the park officially opens on Memorial Day.

The sand beach, extended to 900 feet from last year's 254 feet, is being made ready for the season. The eight picnic shelters and numerous stone fireplaces will be augmented by the addition of five charcoal burners. Open grates for broiling meats and flat iron plates which can be folded over to form grills will be provided.

Charcoal and starter fluid will be sold at a concession stand at the park.

Whipple's is located nine miles south of State College and has long been a favorite recreation spot for students and area residents.

In addition to swimming and picnicking facilities, boats are permitted outside of the swimming area which is marked by buoys. There are no boats for rent at the park.

No motor boats are allowed and boats may not be moored overnight.

Beginning Memorial Day and continuing through Labor Day, there will be two lifeguards on duty at the park from noon to 8 p.m. The two guards are increased to from three to five on holidays and weekends.

4 Coeds Enter 'County' Contest

Four University coeds are among the first six entrants in the Miss Centre County Pageant to be held at 8:30 p.m. May 23 in the Bellefonte Junior High School auditorium.

Kathryn Shannon, junior in applied arts from Bellefonte; Christine Chesney, sophomore in chemistry from Petersburg; Sylvia Mae Diehl, junior in arts and letters from Flinton, and Jean Bixby, sophomore in arts and letters from State College, are the coed entrants.

Dan Clemson, entry chairman, said Saturday is the deadline for filing. Any coed interested in entering the contest has been asked to contact Clemson at Elgin 5-4096 or Mrs. Joseph O'Brien at Adams 7-4033.

The winner will have a chance to vie for the Miss Pennsylvania title and an opportunity to win the Miss America award.

4 Receive Awards At MI Banquet

Richard Heacox, David Houghton, Roger Levin and George Sellers were presented awards by John D. Ridge, associate dean of the College of Mineral Industries, at the MI Council and faculty banquet yesterday at the Eutaw Steak House.

Heacox, senior in metallurgy from Derry, received the $100 Jerome N. Behrman Award. The award is given to a graduating senior in the MI College who is planning to do graduate work at the University.

Houghton, junior in meteorology from Media, was awarded the $250 William Grundy Haven prize. The recipient of this award must have high scholarship and show evidence of his dependability and loyalty to fellow students and to the University. Houghton has a 3.9 All-University average.

Levin, senior in metallurgy from Glen Richey, received the $250 Ellen Steidle Achievement Award. He and Sellers, junior in geophysics and geochemistry from Philadelphia, each received a $75 Steidle Award. This award is given to the junior and senior who have been particularly active in advancing the welfare of the College of Mineral Industries.

Levin was president of the MI Student Council, a member of the Inter-College Council Board and the Interfraternity Council Board of Control.

Sellers is a member of the MI Student Council and past junior class president.

Visitor to Speak Tonight On India's Present Role

Dr. Eddy Asirvatham, professor of political science at Bihar University in India, will speak at 8 tonight in 121 Sparks.

His topic will be "India's Orbit in the Satellite Age," a speech on the role of neutral countries.

Tonight's lecture is part of the series, "Perspectives on World Crises," co-sponsored by the University Christian Association and the American Friends Service Committee.

Alum Fund May Hit $1 Million

The Alumni Fund is expected to hit the $1 million mark in alumni giving sometime this year.

The fund, organized in 1953 to handle and promote alumni giving, has collected almost a million dollars in five years.

The gifts have supported such projects as the Helen Eakin

Graduating seniors may obtain memberships to the Alumni Association at a desk in the Hetsel Union Building and the Alumni Office, 104 Old Main.

The HUB desk is situated across from the auditorium.

Special rates of $2 for one year and $70 for a life membership are available to seniors if they join on or before Commencement. The life membership may be purchased on an installment plan with $10 down.

Eisenhower Memorial Chapel, Alumni Scholarships, furnishings for the Hetsel Union Building, the University Library and Stone Valley Dam.

Although the University is a state-aided institution, only about 38 per cent of its income comes from the Commonwealth. This covers the "bread-and-butter essentials"—faculty and staff salaries, classrooms, laboratories and general maintenance.

The fund was set up to provide such things as library acquisitions, scholarships, art collections and other "extras" which "contribute to the social, cultural and spiritual life of the student body."

Gifts to the Alumni Fund have ranged from $1 to several thousand dollars. Most have been in the $10 and $25 group.

During the Centennial year, the fund raised $234,000 for the University, the largest amount given to a state university by its alumni in 1955. The amount has never been surpassed by the fund. Last year's contributions fell just short of the $200,000 mark, including some $8000 contributed by parents for the Stone Valley Project.

A partial breakdown of how the funds have been used since 1953 shows:

Chapel, $239,967; colleges and departments, $42,914; Alumni Memorial Scholarships, $68,167; Levi Lamb Grants-in-aid, $59,501; designated scholarships, $126,876; Hetsel Union Building furnishings, $57,068; University Library, $10,620; University religious activities, $25,910; and Stone Valley, $42,890.

Graduating seniors this week will be asked to pledge annual donations to the fund beginning in 1959. Class agents will call upon the seniors later this week to sign pledge cards to join the Alumni Association and to contribute to the Alumni Fund.
