Jay Feldstein took one first place and two second place honors while Kermit Winkelblech took one first place and one second. Feldstein received awards in the Oration, Speech Reading and National Topic Closing Speech contests and the senior division of the Intersquad Contest.

In individual competition, the Oration Contest was won by Feldstein with Paul Balserac taking second place. Alan Elms and Feldstein took first and second place honors respectively in the National Topic Closing Speech Contest.

Robert Adams placed first in Extemporary Speaking and Gerald Bogus, second. The Speech Reading competition was won by Winkelblech. Feldstein placed second.

The intersquad competition excluded members who had participated in more than five tournaments throughout the year. Competition was within each class.

The winners of the senior division were Byron LeVan and Kermit Winkelblech. Junior awards were given to William Dawson and Herbert Cohen and sophomore awards went to Leonard Julius and Arthur Ichter. Peter Galic and Fredric Pomerantz were the freshman winners.

Lacrosse--

(Continued from page seven) three. Jim Winpenny's goal was the sixth for the Lions in the first half. Dickinson scored three in the first half but two of them came when the Lions were a man short due to penalties.

The game was a big disappointment to Lion lacrosse fans. From the way the stickmen had been performing in their last few games, they seemed to be a cinch for the title.

Lion mentor Farnie Baer was probably the most disappointed, but he took the loss in stride. "Dickinson just got hot in the second half and we cooled off," he said.

Even in defeat the Lions looked good. They never stopped trying, and gave the crowd a good solid performance. It still wasn't enough. Dickinson's captain Don O'Neill said that Penn State just didn't get the breaks that the Red Devils did. "Our guys wanted to win so badly that they just couldn't be stopped in the second half," he said.

"The Lions' hopes for the Penn-Del title and a winning season both went down the drain with the Dickinson loss. The stickmen have one game remaining with Colgate this Saturday.

Questa and Trust quickly took the first set of their doubles match, 6-2, but met stiff opposition before winning the second set, 11-9. Royer doubled with Don Harnett for the third duo victory, 6-4, 6-3.
