

Gibson Receives Zaharias Trophy as Top Woman Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Tennis champion Althea Gibson yesterday was formally awarded the Babe Didrikson Zaharias Trophy as the 1957 "woman athlete of the year."

"This is the greatest honor of my life," the 30-year-old Harlem girl said as she took the giant silver bowl and a smaller replica from the donor, George Zaharias.

The larger trophy, almost as large as the Davis Cup, is for Althea's possession until it is awarded to someone else. The smaller version is hers for keeps.

The trophy is awarded annually on the basis of the Associated Press poll. The fabulous Babe, one of the world's all-time great athletes, won the honor six times before her death from cancer in September, 1956.

"The Babe asked me to set up a trophy for the outstanding woman athlete," Zaharias, bull-shouldered onetime wrestler, said. "I think she would have been very proud of Althea and also Pat McCormick, who won last year."

"What makes this such an outstanding honor is that it doesn't represent one sport but all sports," Miss Gibson said. "I hope I may be able to win it again although I'm afraid my new career may interfere somewhat."

Althea's other career is singing. A student of voice for many months, she will make her television debut on the Ed Sullivan show next Sunday night.

Netmen--

(Continued from page seven) continued its torrid pace. Trust and Questa dropped their first set to the Middies' duo of Dick Hanson and Johnson, 2-6. The Lions regained their form to win the second set, 6-4, but faltered in the third tilt, 3-6.

In the second doubles tussle, Jim Adkins and Stamp Howard won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, over Flick and Bibleheimer.

In the final set of the day, Royer and Jacobs gave momentary hope of at least one win, when they won the second set, 6-4, after losing 3-8 to Navy's Charles Baker and Harry Rike. But the powerful Middies regained their form, winning the final set of the day, 6-1.

The Lions will have a day off before they invade traditional rival Pitt at Pittsburgh Friday. The Lions now have a 4-6 slate.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A BANK OFFICIAL IS DEPRIVED OF HIS LUCKIES?

(SEE PARAGRAPH AT RIGHT)

BANK ROBBERS often try to get rich through no vault of their own. So often, in fact, that bank officials rarely get rattled by ordinary hold-ups. But sometimes the gangsters go too far. Sometimes (Curses!) they lift the officials' Luckies! That dastardly act is bound to cause real Banker Rancor! Why? Simple. Every Lucky (You can bank on this!) tastes like a million bucks. Every Lucky is made of fine tobacco . . . naturally light, good-tasting tobacco, toasted to taste even better. But don't accept our account—check it yourself. Get Luckies right now!

TIME'S RUNNING OUT! Better get your Sticklers in fast! (You haven't lived if you haven't Stickled!) Sticklers are simple riddles with two-word rhyming answers. Both words must have the same number of syllables. (Don't do drawings.) Send stacks of 'em with your name, address, college and class to Happy-Joe-Lucky, Box 67A, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.
