UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States won its first major test yesterday in efforts to shelve the issue of Red China's membership in the United Nations for another year.

U.S. Unifies Front Line In Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The United States has reorganized its growing forces on Formosa into a unified combat command packing an atomic punch.

It centralized operational control of naval, air and land forces, which until recently had been considerably smaller and largely devoted to training and advising the Chinese Nationalists.

Yesterday's new order, in effect, sets up a frontline tactical headquarters facing the Chinese Communists 120 miles across Formosa Strait. The U.S. commander will have in his forces planes and missiles capable of delivering nuclear weapons.

The over-all organization retains its name of United States-Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command and its commander, Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot. The new setup was created by the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff as a forward combat command directly under Adm. Harry Felt in Pearl Harbor, commander in chief, Pacific-Cincpac.

While the United States rearranged its military organization, the Nationalist Chinese reported success in sending their largest supply convoy to artillery-blockaded Quemoy Island. Nationalist headquarters said three LSTs (Landing Ships, Tank) unloaded on a shell-raked Quemoy beach and returned to base safely in the Pescadores Islands.

Steelmen Seek To Oust Rebels

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The United Steelworkers convention Thursday recommended expulsion of an insurgent group which has openly opposed the leadership of union President David J. McDonald for two years.

Only two of the 3500 delegates to the union's ninth constitutional convention voted against the resolution which sets up the machinery for possible expulsion at the local level.

The vote count confirmed McDonald's tightening grip on the presidency of the union. The convention has upheld him overwhelmingly at every turn including Thursday morning when delegates crushed a move by the insurgents to reduce monthly dues from $5 to $3.

Montgomery Ends 50 Years in Army

LONDON (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery came home yesterday from his last command, inspected a final parade, and took himself off to retirement in the English countryside.

Rebels Declare New Republic In Algeria

CAIRO (AP) — Algerian rebels proclaimed a republic of Algeria yesterday and set up a provisional government to prosecute their war of independence against the French.

The new government won immediate recognition from four Arab nations and denunciation from Paris as 'an artificial organization.'

The Algerian National Liberation Front (FLN), spearhead of the four-year-old rebellion, named as the first prime minister Ferhat Abbas, 59, a druggist from Setif, Algeria, who has been in the forefront of the rebel movement from the start. Five of his ministers still are prisoners of the French.

With six other ministers at his side, Abbas read the proclamation to more than 100 newsmen at the FLN's new five-story headquarters building in Cairo.

In quick succession the U.A.R., the newly established republic of Iraq, the kingdom of Libya, and Yemen, a monarchy federated with the U.A.R., announced recognition of the rebel government.

The recommendation goes to the Assembly, where the United States is confident it will be approved as in past years. Last year the vote was 47 in favor, 27 against and 7 abstentions.

Negative votes were cast by Ireland, Indonesia, Czechoslovakia, Ceylon, Romania, Nepal and the Soviet Union. Greece and Mexico abstained.

'Legal' School Plan Offered by Faubus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Orval Faubus Thursday night offered the people of Little Rock, Ark., what he called a legal plan to operate public high schools on a private, segregated basis.

"The plan is sound and workable," said Faubus in a speech carried by television to most of the state. "It is all legal."

School officials in Little Rock, Ark., made plans to begin classes via television Monday for students of four high schools closed by Gov. Faubus to prevent integration.

In Arkansas, U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller denied a request that he order the Van Buren School Board to reinstate integration, halted two weeks ago by a boycott of white students.

In Virginia, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., took charge of and closed two schools at Charlottesville after a federal judge refused to interfere with a lower court's order to integrate. The way was paved in federal court for him to take similar action at six schools in Norfolk.

The Norfolk School Board yesterday postponed the opening of all high schools in that Virginia city for one week while it pushes its legal fight against integration.
