

IFC Lifts Ban On Politicians

Ten Campus party fraternity men will be permitted to campaign in the men's residence halls during the 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. study hours.

The Interfraternity Council of Control ruled Wednesday that clique chairman James Elliott may submit a list of 10 men who will automatically be approved for campaigning purposes.

2 Brothers, A Gathering, Rules IFC

The Interfraternity Council Board of Control ruled Wednesday night that two or more fraternity members working together constitutes a "fraternity gathering."

Board chairman Ronald Siders said the definition was made to further systematize individual rushing by fraternities under the new deferred rushing program.

When questioned in a Daily Collegian press conference Monday night as to what constitutes a gathering, Siders said he did not feel it was necessary to define the term immediately.

Article II, section 3, of IFC rushing regulations, states that no first semester freshman shall be permitted at any fraternity gathering or function inside or outside the house.

Siders said many questions had arisen over what number of fraternity members who were rushing freshmen constituted a "gathering."

Under the new system, fraternities will be encouraged to plan individual rushing programs and will be able to visit freshmen singly in the dormitories from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Fraternities are still unable to present freshmen with, or make available to them, anything of monetary value, under the IFC rushing code. This includes meals, pamphlets, refreshments and movie tickets, Siders said.

Frosh Offenders Will Be Notified

The Freshman Regulations Board has initiated a new system for informing offenders of their penalties.

Offenders will be called by a member of the board who will explain in full the penalty for the offense and the reason for it.

Previously, offenders were called by someone who had no connection with the board and was not able to answer all the questions asked.

Martha Wilson, a member of the board, will inform the coeds of their penalties for the next eight weeks.

Only those penalties imposing more than blackmarks will be subject to notification by the board.

Laundry Meet Planned

Institutional laundry supervisors, business managers, and superintendents will meet Oct. 8 and 9 on campus to discuss problems and hear reports on research work.

Visiting Prof 5 Coeds to Compete Will Present As Queen Finalists LA Lecture

The similarities and differences among nations of the western world will be discussed by Dr. Herbert Heaton, distinguished visiting professor of history, in the semester's first liberal arts lecture.

Scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday in 121 Sparks, the topic of his talk will be "Other Wests than Ours."

An extensive education at English universities, years of teaching in Australia, Canada and the United States, and continued research wherever he has traveled, have given Heaton first hand knowledge of economic and social conditions in most of the countries in the world.

"You just can't help noticing the things which are similar and different when you travel to other countries," said Heaton. And by studying nations which have been through the same experiences, you understand more clearly your own, he added.

Travel and research are made easy today by what Heaton calls the "international character of the scholarly world." If there were no Iron Curtain, he said, there would be an international community of scholars in all fields. The profession of economic history, he said, is a "remarkably mobile" one.

Heaton is the first person appointed to the new position of distinguished professor at the University.

Chamber Music Series To Open With Pianist

Mme. Agi Jambor, Hungarian pianist, will be featured in the first concert of the eighth annual Chamber Music Series at 8 p.m. Sunday in the State College High School auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the State College Choral Society, sponsors of the series.

Five coeds were chosen today to compete in the Homecoming Queen finals.

Finalists and their sponsors are:

Gail Schultz, junior in home economics from Bradford, Pi

Kappa Alpha; Marilyn Barndt, sophomore in education from Telford, Zeta Tau Alpha; Harriet Scholes, senior in medical technology from Indiana, Alpha Chi Omega; Marjorie Miller, junior in education from Bryn Mawr, Phi Gamma Delta; and Judith Lawhorn, sophomore in home economics from Newtown Square, Delta Delta Delta.

The queen will be crowned at the Thespians' opening Thursday night. She will be presented to the audience at the Oct. 10 and 11 shows.

The queen will receive a gold trophy at the alumni luncheon the afternoon of Oct. 11 in the Hetzel Union ballroom.

The winner will be chosen by the football team sometime at the beginning of next week.

Judges for today's preliminaries were Ross B. Lehman, assistant executive director of the Alumni Association; Ray T. Fortunato, director of employe relations; and Frank F. Morris, director of personnel services.

All contestants except finalists may pick up their pictures now at the HUB desk.

2 Officers Elected To WSGA House

Gail Bentley, junior in arts and letters from Hershey, has been elected vice chairman of the Women's Student Government Association House of Representatives.

Sheila Stohl, junior in arts and letters from Arlington, Va., has been elected secretary.

The vice chairman will head a committee of residence hall vice presidents which will work with Miss Beau Barnes, assistant to the dean of women, in bringing educational programs into the residence halls.

Board to Name Vice President For BusAd

A successor to Ossian MacKenzie as vice president for business administration will be named at the Oct. 10 Board of Trustees meeting.

MacKenzie resigned from the job earlier this month to devote full time to his job as dean of the College of Business Administration.

He was named to the vice presidential post last year while serving as a special assistant for business affairs to President Eric A. Walker.

The job of vice president for business administration involves general supervision of the physical planning of construction and the operational activities of the University.

The duties of the office also include supervising housing, personnel, employe relations, food service, security, purchasing and physical plant.

In relinquishing the job, MacKenzie said the urgent need for help in the business administration area is past, which was why he was resigning.

men who will automatically be approved for campaigning purposes.

Board Chairman Ronald Siders said University Party will have the same option for the fall semester elections if the party presents him with a request to enter the halls.

Elliott appeared before the board to request approval for the use of fraternity men for campaigning purposes and contacting dormitory unit co-ordinators.

Under a ruling issued jointly Monday by the Interfraternity Council and the residence halls counselors, the ban forbidding fraternity men from entering men's residence halls was partially lifted.

Under the latest ruling, fraternity members may enter and use the facilities of the dormitory units for any purpose from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. During study hours—7 p.m. to 7 a.m.—fraternity members may not enter the units for any reason.

The only exceptions thus far to be permitted by the board are the approval of the 10 Campus party members and fraternity members who wish to visit members of their immediate family, Siders said.

The Association of Independent Men voted Wednesday night to oppose relieving of the ban. AIM President Edward Frymoyer is to present his group's reasons to IFC President Edward Hintz within the next few days.

Two weeks ago the IFC Board ruled that men's residence halls were off limits for fraternity members at any time. This was in line with the deferred rushing policy and the hopes of improving freshman scholarship.

The deferred rushing system was adopted by IFC last spring and the enforcement and interpretation of the code was left in the hands of the 7-member Board of Control.
