

Adviser Of NIFC To Address IFC

Glen T. Nygreen, dean of men at Kent State University and educational adviser to the National Interfraternity Conference, will be the featured speaker at the IFC Workshop Banquet, Oct. 23.

Nygreen will also lead the panel discussion program scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 22, Leonard Julius, IFC workshop chairman, announced last night.

The program will open with 10 individual workshops on Tuesday, Oct. 22, and will include a dinner meeting and discussion period, Julius said. The meeting will be opened with remarks by a member of the University administration or by a national fraternity executive, he said.

The discussion topic for Wednesday night's panel to be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in 121 Sparks will be: "How Can Fraternities Meet the Problems of Expanding Enrollment?" and "The Right of the Fraternity to Choose Its Members Without Restriction."

The panel will consist of three national fraternity secretaries, one local fraternity adviser and Dean Nygreen.

The annual banquet will be held Oct. 23 in the Penn State Room of the Nittany Lion Inn. Julius said, and will include the presentation of three scholarship trophies.

In other business at the IFC meeting, Ronald Resh, IFC Rushing chairman, announced one change in the open house program. Fraternities west of Locust Lane will hold their open house Nov. 23, instead of Dec. 14 as originally planned.

Resh also announced that dormitory meetings with freshmen will be held from 9 to 10:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 15 in the men's residence halls. A meeting will be held at 9 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 12 in 111 Boucke for fraternity representatives who wish to speak to the freshmen.

Student Is Improved After Bike Accident

Charles Willingham, junior in geophysics and geochemistry from Pittsburgh, who was badly injured in a bicycle accident Friday night, was in a "much improved" condition in Centre County Hospital last night.

Hospital officials said Willingham suffered minor shock and multiple cuts and brush burns of the face.

The mishap occurred on East Waring Avenue, about a block east of South Pugh Street, when Willingham suddenly found himself on an unpaved portion of the roadway and hit a rock.

The bike upset, throwing Willingham to the ground on his face and shoulder.

State College Police Chief John R. Juba said the borough put up a red and white barricade the following day, Saturday.

Juba said the street has not been officially turned over to the borough yet and is not completely within the borough's contract rights.

After his spill, Willingham made his way to the Ranch Court Motel, on nearby Rt. 322, where he was found in a dazed condition by an unidentified woman.

The woman called the police who took him to Dr. John H. Light, a State College physician. (Continued on page twelve)

Court Extends Ban Of 'Private' Schools

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A federal appeals court yesterday extended its order banning operation of Little Rock's four high schools as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Raney yesterday said, "We will open" privately supported high schools in Little Rock "as soon as we get things rolling."

Dr. Raney, president of the Little Rock Private School Corp., said his group will not await an expected Oct. 15 decision by the 8th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals before taking action.

A three-justice panel of the appeals court yesterday delayed until Oct. 15 a decision on the legality of a plan whereby the public school board would lease its facilities to the private corporation.

Raney said he could not immediately determine whether private schools to replace the public schools will open this week or next.

The Private School Corp. earlier announced plans to operate high schools for white children in private buildings, such as churches. They would be financed by private donations.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, chief advocate of the private school lease plan now under attack, declined immediate comment. He has approved the privately supported plan after his lease plan was blocked earlier by justices of the appeals court.

Amis Guthridge, attorney for the pro-segregation Capital Citizens Council, commented, "It is foolish for southern white people to await federal court decisions. The federal court position is clear. So is ours. We must get on with a private school system. The federal courts are not going to give the South any consideration or justice."

Pope Rallies From Effects Of Stroke

Castel Gandolfo, Italy (AP)—AP—Pope Pius XI, suffered a stroke yesterday and lapsed into a coma, rallied and was "appreciably improved" by nightfall.

An evening medical bulletin said the 82-year-old leader of the Roman Catholic Church once more had shown the remarkable stamina that brought him through a grave illness four years ago.

Vatican sources said earlier the pontiff was partly paralyzed by the stroke. But it was not known whether this condition persisted. The medical bulletin made no reference to paralysis.

One reliable source said the pontiff's condition was aggravated by a urinary block and that a urologist, Dr. Ermanno Mingazzina, had been called in for this condition.

The day's first medical bulletin said: "The holy father, at 8:30 a.m. yesterday after having spent a tranquil night during which the hiccups that have molested him for several days disappeared, was struck by a circulatory cerebral attack, whose development is now being followed. Immediate treatment has begun."

Sharp Keeps Smile; Enjoys Penn Game

By MATT MATHEWS
Associate Sports Editor

In Room 423 of the New York University Rehabilitation Center lies a former Penn State student who's been on his back for 11 months.

He was paralyzed in a trampoline accident in a physical education class on Oct. 11, 1957, and has only slightly regained the use of his left hand. Otherwise, he's still paralyzed from the neck down.

The Daily Collegian talked to Larry Sharp this past Saturday morning and found him smiling and up to date on Penn State events. This is what he had to say on a variety of subjects ranging from what Penn State's football team looks like to when he's going home:

Q. Larry, how long have you been in New York hospitals?

A. I've been in New York since Nov. 28.

Q. That would be 11 months in New York. How long have you been in the Rehabilitation Institute here?

A. I spent about six months in the university hospital (New York University) and about five months here.

Q. How are you coming along? Do you have prospects of leaving soon?

A. I expect to leave here around the end of October.

Q. Where will you be going then?

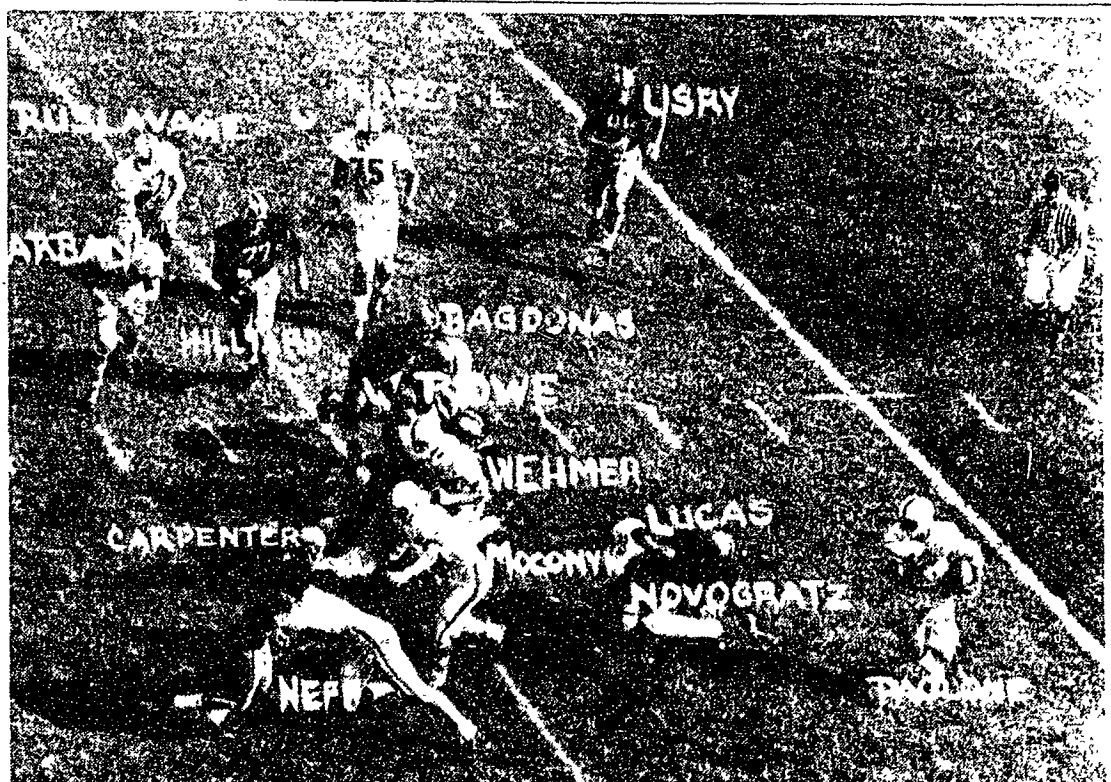

A. I'll be going home for a while.

Q. Where's home?

A. Swarthmore, Pa.

Q. Will you be undergoing any treatment while at home?

A. I intend to lift weights and do some stretching exercises. Other than that I won't be doing too much. I intend to take a course or two at Swarthmore in business. (Continued on page three)
