

Red China's End Seen by Chiang

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek told his people this morning communist resumption of the attack on Quemoy would hasten the end of Communist rule in Peiping.

Butler Says La. Erred in Firing Rep. Gravel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler held yesterday that Louisiana Democratic leaders, up in arms in an integration quarrel, had no right to fire their national committeeman.

Butler refused to recognize the ouster vote as genuine and said he would fight it "with all of the vigor at my command."

The Democratic State Central Committee declared by vote of 69-30 Wednesday that Camille Gravel Jr. was no longer representing Louisiana on the Democratic National Committee.

Gravel is a 43-year-old Alexandria lawyer who had expressed a belief that racial segregation is morally wrong. He had also supported the 1956 party platform declaration on civil rights, which said federal action is needed to eradicate discrimination.

Leander Perez, a leading segregationist, said Gravel had been working closely with Butler and could be expected to "go along with the Northern radical wing of the party."

Red enlargement of the hostilities, he said, would "invite common action by the free world's anti-aggression forces, and this concentrated attack would hasten the end of the Chinese Communists." He forecast a mainland revolution would help in the overthrow.

This was the gist of a 1,500-word message to troops and civilians celebrating Nationalist China's Independence Day — the 47th anniversary of the 1911 revolution that led to the establishment of the Republic of China.

A flurry of other developments came on the eve of the anniversary as Communist guns remained silent under Peiping's seven-day cease-fire order.

Chiang's landing ships, no longer under U.S. Navy escort but watched over by Nationalist gunboats, poured heavy cargoes to the Quemoy Islands in preparation for Red renewal of the offshore battle.

A U.S. military adviser estimated that seven craft which landed at Liao Beach carried 7,000 tons—enough for minimum needs of Quemoy itself for almost three weeks. Among the supplies were cement for fortifications and charcoal for cooking and heating.

About 1,100 of Quemoy's 47,000 civilians were evacuated to Formosa.

Allies Seek Atomic Tests Suspension

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and its Western allies are proposing suspension of all nuclear weapons tests while attempts are made to negotiate a permanent ban.

Informed sources said last night this is a key part of a U.S. resolution to be introduced today in the UN General Assembly's 81-nation Political Committee.

The move obviously is aimed to bring pressure on the Soviet Union, which has resumed tests in advance of U.S.-British-Soviet talks due to start in Geneva Oct. 31.

There has been speculation that the Russians may be getting ready to scuttle the talks on ending tests under an international inspection system.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said on Monday that the Russians feel free to continue tests until they reach the total of the United States and Britain combined since March 31. That is the date the Russians announced a unilateral decision to end tests.

The United States and Britain have agreed to suspend tests for a year beginning Oct. 31, provided the Soviet Union refrains from testing and takes part in the Geneva negotiations.

FTC Declares War On 'Trick' Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government declared war yesterday on trickery and falsification in price advertising.

The Federal Trade Commission issued a set of rules for its staff fixing the borderline between legal advertising and illegal fiction. It served notice that intensified enforcement has been ordered.

In what was perhaps the key directive, the commission told its investigators to judge the impact of advertisements in their entirety since some price claims "may be entirely misleading although every sentence separately might be literally true."

The agency has been increasingly active in filing complaints against firms which preticket goods with inflated price tags, then advertise deep cuts in prices.

But Commission Chairman John W. Gwynne's announcement said "While our staff already has been hitting hard at those who lie about their bargain prices, we believe the problem is growing worse."

The commission will work with Better Business Bureaus, the Advertising Federation of America, and civic organizations to alert the public to the tricks by which unscrupulous merchants pass off regularly priced merchandise as bargains, Gwynne said. It hopes for voluntary cooperation by sellers, he added.

The crackdown will apply to radio and television commercials as well as to advertising in newspapers, magazines, handbills, direct mail, placards, and billboards.

Board Estimates 1960 Population at 11,038,000

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Planning Board yesterday estimated that the 1960 census will place Pennsylvania's population at 11,038,000.

The board disagreed with estimates by the U.S. Census Bureau that the state's population in 1960 would be 11,221,000 to 11,369,000.

Crowd of 15,000 Views Pope's Body

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — The body of Pope Pius XII lay in state last night, to be seen by the faithful of this small town where he died.

A crowd of 15,000 men, women and children pushed through the main square of Castel Gandolfo and began filtering at dusk through the doors of the pontifical summer palace.

Inside Swiss Guards in blue, red and orange uniforms sought to channel the great throng into a narrow column going up the broad main marble stairway toward the Swiss Hall on the top floor of the four-story building.

The embalmed body of the pontiff lay dressed in white and red on a platform covered with red silk. A film of cellophane was stretched over the body.

The public viewing of the body was delayed two hours because the embalming had not been completed.

The Rev. Francesco Pellegrino, director of the Vatican radio station, explained the delay to the crowd by loudspeaker, saying a careful job of embalming was necessary "because we want the body to last 100 years."

Death of the 82-year-old pontiff after 19½ years as head of the Roman Catholic Church plunged much of the Christian world into mourning.

The body will be taken to Rome privately today at the start of nine days of mourning. It will be placed in a crypt below St. Peter's Basilica Sunday or Monday.

At the Vatican, cardinals from in and around Rome chose Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella as papal chamberlain to administer church affairs until a new pope is chosen.

Cardinal Aloisi Masella, 74, is archpriest of the Basilica of St. John Lateran, which was the See of the Pope as bishop of Rome. Msgr. Alberto de Jorio, regent of the sacred college's secretariat, was named secretary of the consistory of cardinals that will elect the new pope.

The cardinals must meet within 18 days to begin selection of the new pontiff. From as far away as Sydney, Australia, the cardinals—there are 55 living—began heading toward Rome.

The body, clothed in pontifical robes will be taken at 2 p.m. today to St. John Lateran.

Cardinals, high prelates of the church and officials will gather before the basilica to receive the body.

There, one of the first official functions of the nine days of mourning—absolution—will be observed.

What kind of Arithmetic is this?

Doesn't exactly make sense, we'll have to admit. But neither do some of the present tax laws.

For instance, a strange twist in federal law lets several million American people and businesses escape paying all the taxes in their electric bills that you pay in yours. More than 23¢ out of every dollar you pay for electricity goes for taxes—but members of this "privileged class" pay only a small fraction of that. The reason: They get their electricity from federal government electric systems that you help support.

Most Americans think everyone should pay his fair share of taxes. How do you feel about it?
