

NORTH HALLS unit gets finishing touches on stonework. The new men's residence area is expected to be completed by July.

Stonework Finished On Men's Dorms

Workmen on the North Halls residence project completed the stonework on Beam Hall last week.

Beam Hall is the furthest from being finished. Construction of each of the four residence halls and dining halls is staggered slightly.

Thus, Runkle Hall, the nearest to being done, is in the interior decorating stage. Bedroom furniture is also being installed in Runkle.

The furniture includes the following for each occupant. A bookcase, locker, bed, formica topped desk, dresser and bulletin board. There are also two closets in each room. Each closet contains a shelf, shoe rack, bottle rack and towel bar.

The furniture comes to the construction crews pre-cut. The workmen install the furniture and do any painting that is necessary. Many rooms are also being painted. All rooms will have three walls painted beige and one blue wall.

In between these construction extremes are Leete and Holmes Hall. Leete Hall is slightly more advanced in construction than Holmes. Warnock Hall, the dining area, is still in the process of being enclosed.

The new residence halls resemble the new woman's residence halls along College Avenue. Each L-shaped building is four stories high.

Each building will be divided into four living units, each unit housing about 70 men.

Each 2-man room is 11 by 18 feet in area, and is set off by a large picture window. The buildings are scheduled for completion by July 1959.

1957 Encampment: The Results

Student Activities Are Co-ordinated

By DENNY MALICK

Ninth of a Series

One direct result of the 1957 Student Encampment was the complete organization of student activities under one committee from which several campus-wide programs have already evolved.

On recommendation from Encampment, the University created a sub-committee on recreation as part of the Administrative Committee on Student Affairs.

George L. Donovan was appointed head of the new committee as coordinator of student activities.

Although only in its early stages, the move recommended by Encampment has already brought these results:

- Donovan's appointment
- A University activities calendar

- Club Hubana
- Nittany Union Building
- Appointment of Miss Beau Barnes as assistant to the dean of women in charge of social affairs and recreation.

One of the main areas the committee is now concentrating on is the recreational and social planning for the new Pollock Circle Residence area, Donovan said.

The committee is composed of William B. Crafts, assistant to the dean of men; Eugene C. Bischoff, director of the men's intramural program; Robert C. Proffitt, director of food service; Miss Christine Yohe, assistant to the dean of women; Otto E. Mueller, director of housing; president of the Athletic Association; All-University vice president; and Womens Recreation Association vice president.

"Encampment thought it was time for a little coordination of recreation activities," Donovan said. "The committee is strictly trying to get them all together."

There was a lot of overlapping of events, he said, and one of the ways of overcoming this was the activities calendar distributed to each student at registration.

In addition to directing the start of Club Hubana and the Nittany Union Building, the committee brought about the opening of the Hetzel Union Building Terrace Room as an overflow of the Lion's Den between meal hours.

The placing of chairs and tables in the HUB ballroom and providing recreation equipment in the Waring Hall lounge was also handled by the committee.

Research Projects—

Deans of the Colleges: They are responsible for the research activities of their respective faculties and for the allocation each year of the funds for research assigned to them in the annual budget or at other times by the president. Their approval is needed for each proposal coming from their staff which is to be submitted to an external agency.

University controller: He is represented in research matters by a research contract coordinator who is directly responsible to him for the financial administration of all contracts including budget supervision, notification of change or termination, billing, auditing expenditures and cooperating with outside auditors. The controller is Carl R. Barnes.

Administrative committee on research: This committee serves in an advisory capacity to the vice president for research. Its members are the vice president for research (chairman), the controller or his representative, and one representative of each college, of the Graduate School and of the Social Science Research Center.

Director of the Division of Academic Research and Services: His job is to encourage and conduct institutional studies and educational research projects designed to improve significantly the academic and related programs of the University. Dr. C. R. Carpenter is director.

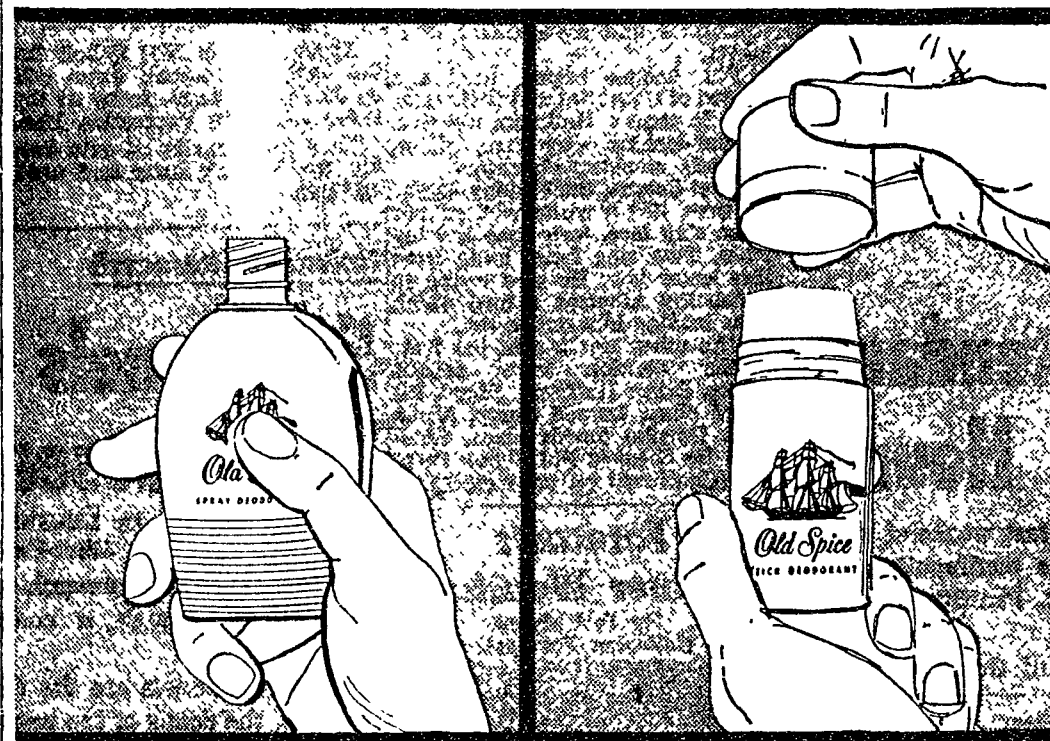

Only Slight Injuries Result From Crash

Mrs. Shirley L. Gibson of RD 1, Port Matilda, crashed her Nash station wagon into a lamp post yesterday morning on Shortlidge Road just west of Hibbs Hall.

She was turning off College Avenue onto Shortlidge when she skidded on the wet road. A tooth was knocked loose and her lower lip was cut in the collision.

Campus patrolmen estimated the damage to the car at $400. The bumper, hood, steering wheel, grill and radiator were smashed.
