Private High To Open In Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A private, all-white high school will open Monday for about 500 senior class students, the Little Rock Private School Corp. announced yesterday.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said immediately it would make a legal test of the segregated school.

Dr. Thomas Raney, president of the Little Rock Corp., said the group has nearly $61,000 in contributions and is renting the school building from a private owner for $400 a month.

Raney said the whole block will be "off-limits" to newsmen on Monday.

Negro attorney Wiley Branton of Pine Bluff, Ark., called the formation of the school a subterfuge to evade previous court orders for integration and said "we will deal with it in due time in the proper manner."

The court action will be sought at the federal level, he said.

Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the private school corporation, made the announcement of the school opening and said the group would keep working for facilities for lower classmen.

With 600 Little Rock high school students transferred to other schools in Arkansas and other states, and 500 seniors cared for with the opening of the private school, 2500 students will remain without instruction. This includes 700 Negroes.

Little Rock high schools have been closed seven weeks beyond their normal opening date because of the integration crisis. Tickets may also be purchased at the door on the evenings of performances.

Ugly Man Honors Awarded to Curry

By JUDI WHARTON

The Indolent Princess kissed the mossy-green King Toadfish last night and a new Ugly Man was named.

Donald Curry, sponsored by Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Chi Omega sorority, was awarded the Ugly Man key and the Grand Champion Ugly Man Trophy last night in the Hetzel Union ballroom as his prize for being voted the "ugliest man on campus."

The theme of the prizewinners' skit was a radio program called "The Shirley Pimple Story Book." It involved the Indolent Princess, Rawson Coats, who lost her golden ball down the "mossy well."

It was returned by King Toadfish and his eight minor Toadfish, inhabitants of the well. When the Princess kissed him to show her appreciation, he left her covered with warts.

But she and her court were so enraptured by them they leaped into the well with the Toadfish to "make more warts."

State-Wide Women's Group to Convene

"Multiple Roles of Women Today" will be the theme of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students (IAWS) statewide meeting to be held on campus today.

Fifty representatives from Pennsylvania colleges and universities, including the University Women's Student Government Association, are expected to attend the meeting in McElwain Hall.

The meeting, sponsored by WSGA, is designed to acquaint non-member schools with IAWS and to seek improvements of women's student government in all schools represented, by solving common problems.

Registration will be held from 8:30 to 9:15 a.m. The morning workshops will begin at 9:45 and will last until 12:30. Problems to be discussed in these workshops will be: religion on the college campus; standards of conduct; and, developing leadership in women students.

A luncheon will be held in the Hetzel Union Building at 12:30. Joyce Jacobs of the public relations department of the Bell Telephone Co. will give an illustrated talk on "Famous Women of Pennsylvania" during the luncheon.

An afternoon workshop to be held from 2 to 3 will discuss the multiple roles that women play today as career women, housewives and citizens. A general meeting will be held following this workshop.

Co-chairmen of the meeting, Nancy Clark and Jessie Janjigian, have written to all colleges in the state having women enrolled inviting them to participate. It is hoped that by acquainting other schools with IAWS and its workings many of them will be induced to join the association.

Five Charged With Blasting Atlanta Temple

ATLANTA (AP) — Five men were charged yesterday with the bombing of Atlanta's Jewish Temple under a law that could bring death sentences.

The five, four of whom rounded up by police and a large force of FBI agents, were indicted by a grand jury just five days after the Sunday dynamiting of the Temple. They were charged with destroying a house of worship.

The four in custody denied the charges against them during an interview at the Fulton County jail. This was the first time newsmen had been permitted to speak with them since their arrest earlier this week.

James Venable, one of the defense attorneys, told the court that Police Chief Herbert Jenkins "has deliberately sworn a falsehood" in saying the men were being held for bombing a building.

Venable said they were held under charges of suspicion of vagrancy. He told the jurist he should "incarcerate" the police chief and bring charges against the prosecutor.

Before the grand jury acted, police announced they had learned the identity of a man who has been financing anti-Semitic activity in the South. The man was referred to as a "fat cat" in a letter police said they found in the home of Allen, one of the five under indictment. Police did not disclose his name.

During the investigation here the FBI and police found large quantities of anti-Semitic literature in searching houses for evidence that might aid in solving the Temple dynamiting.

Cabinet Attacks Housing Situation

All-University Cabinet has recommended the University reduce the number of students placed in temporary housing at the start of each fall semester.

Cabinet approved an amended recommendation from a Student Encampment report which stated:

"Because of its adverse effect upon student health and academic achievement, we recommend that the University re-evaluate its policy of admitting more students than there is room for, with a view towards decreasing the number."

The recommendation was a part of an Academic Atmosphere and Culture Workshop report by Louis Phillips which was adopted by Cabinet Thursday.

The recommendation arose from a University policy to allow for early dropouts by enrolling more students than the residence hall capacity. The extra students are placed in study lounges, recreation rooms and the health center until permanent housing is available.

In other business, Charles Welsh, senior class president, reported that a poll is being taken among sportswriters and colleges and universities on the question of play-by-play announcing of the football games over the public address system.

Upon Cabinet recommendation last week, penalties were announced over the Beaver Field PA system in addition to the usual pre-game lineups and description of the Blue Band half-time show.

Welsh said he would seek further use of the public address system by presenting results of the poll at the Oct. 31 meeting of the Athletic Association.

Cabinet adopted a report by Samuel Fleming on Encampment's Subsidiary Organizations of Student Government Workshop.

The following appointments were approved: John Hall, Michael Olderman and Francis Ventre, Mall Bulletin Board Committee; and Barbara Stone and Roger Serota, co-chairmen of the Judicial Reorganization Committee.

Jr. Prom Committee to Meet

The Junior Prom Queen Committee will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in 218 HUB.

Bell's Death Bereaves Hundreds

Editorial on Page Four

Hundreds of messages of sympathy from Pennsylvania newspapermen poured into the home of Louis H. Bell yesterday.

The former director of Public Information died suddenly Thursday night in New York City. He was 52.

Joseph Snyder, Pennsylvania manager of the Associated Press, said, "His death takes from our midst one of the finest men I have ever known."

"Your bereavement is shared by many of us who knew him well and loved him," said Harold Cohen of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Victory Roman Catholic Church, Fairmount Ave. and Frazier St.

Mr. Bell, who was also associate professor of journalism, apparently died of a heart attack. He collapsed while leaving a hotel to go to dinner and died within minutes.

Journalism classes scheduled for 10 and 11 a.m. Monday have been cancelled so that journalism faculty members and students may attend the funeral for Louis H. Bell, who died Thursday.

Robert Lane, a long time friend of Mr. Bell who was with him when the attack occurred, said, "We were planning to have dinner together and started for the taxi when Lou suddenly slumped and fell to the pavement."

He was dead on arrival at Beth (Continued on page eight)

Gridders Favored By 6 Points Over BU

With the television cameras grinding for the Eastern football fans, Penn State takes on an underdog Boston University eleven at 1:30 p.m. today on Boston's University Field.

The Lions are favored by six points.

The history of the series also shows reasons for the expected high-scoring affair.

In the last four games of the WJAC-TV, Channel 6, will televise the Boston University game today beginning with pre-game activities at 1:15 p.m. The game starts at 1:30 p.m.

Half time activities over WJAC will include a performance by the 100-man Penn State marching Blue Band.

BU-State series, the Lions have scored 40, 35, 40 and 35 points in winning over the previously weak Terriers.

In 1951, the Lions won, 40-34; in '53 they won, 35-13; in '55 they won, 35-0, and two years ago they handed the Beantowners the fourth straight loss in the series, 40-7.

Although Lion head coach Rip Engle feels the defense will have to carry the team to victory, the regional TV game looms as a high-scoring, running-vs-passing game.

BU ranks 8th in the nation in passing offense and 3rd in the East. In rushing offense, the Lions stand 4th in the nation with an average of 272.5 yards per game although they have not started the same backfield in more than two games.

Engle will "probably" start a lineup that resembles the Marquette backfield unit. The only planned change will be the return of Andy Moconvi at full in place of Sam Sobczak.

Otherwise, Engle will go with the hot threesome that accounted (Continued on page six)
