

Cabinet Decision IFC to Hear May Aid Sharp Proposal On Rule Booklet

Larry Sharp may receive some much-needed financial help as a result of a recommendation made at Thursday night's All-University Cabinet meeting.

Cabinet recommended to the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils that an admission fee be charged for the Greek Week Sing Finals.

Political Parties Will Register New Members

Registration for Campus and University parties will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Campus party will meet in 110 Electrical Engineering and University party in 10 Sparks, both to hold nominations for class clique officers.

Registration for both parties will be set up by All-University Elections Committee. The committee will meet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in 121 Sparks.

Students must attend these party meetings in order to vote for nominees for freshman and sophomore class clique and party offices. Freshmen have been urged to register for the respective parties.

Party members must attend two meetings in order to vote in final party nominations to be held Nov. 2. Students must present their matriculation cards at the door in order to register for party membership.

University party will hold an executive meeting at 2 p.m. tomorrow in 203 Willard.

Cabinet members discussed at length several possibilities for raising money for the former University student but only one recommendation was made.

Sharp suffered a fractured neck in a fall from a trampoline in a physical education class Oct. 11, 1957, and has been paralyzed from the neck down since that time.

Last year over $7000 was collected to aid the Sharp family in paying for the extensive medical and rehabilitation expenses. Sharp spent six weeks in the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, Danville, and later was transferred to two New York Rehabilitation Centers for further treatment.

Five Cabinet members—Stephen Ott, Rita Saltzer, Eleanor Judy, Ruth Johnson and Vince Marino—volunteered to serve on a committee, chaired by All-University President Jay Feldstein, to investigate future Sharp fund projects.

Feldstein said the Sharp family needs all the financial assistance it can receive as nearly $30,000 has been spent so far in expenses.

Besides charging admission to the IFC-Panhel Sing Finals, other fund raising suggestions included giving part of the Spring Week profits to the

The Interfraternity Council Monday night will hear a proposal that a committee compile and codify IFC and University rules and regulations relating to fraternities into a president's handbook.

Eugene Brosius, Board of Control member and president of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, will present the motion, which was discussed at last week's IFC executive meeting.

The booklet, explaining all rules pertaining to fraternities, would be compiled by a committee and made available to all house presidents.

The booklet would list University social rules and housing regulations in addition to all IFC rushing, pledging and social function rules, Brosius said. "Newly elected presidents run across numerous problems and the booklet would provide a ready-reference on regulations," he said.

James Hammerle, IFC vice president, will present the Organizational and Control workshop report which originated from the day-long IFC encampment Sept. 9.

The report recommends a revision in the Fraternity Affairs Office membership alignment and also in the selection of junior secretaries.

Other suggestions include the formation of a safety committee, and the scheduling of fraternity president's elections prior to IFC elections.

Sharp Fund, and sponsoring a movie on campus and donating (Continued on page eight)

—Collegian Photo by Ron Kerr

FIGHTING A ONE-MAN battle, grad student Lew Geiger stands by his car which blocks a one-way street in the Graduate Residence Area. Geiger says motorists endanger lives of small children by speeding down the short street.

Grad Student Fights 'One Way' Violators

It's a battle between a graduate student and cars operated by faculty members, staff members, and students on Linden Road.

And if the graduate student has his way, cars will be stopped from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

Lewis Geiger, a graduate student in metallurgy from Reading, and his wife have been conducting a battle to prevent cars from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

Lewis Geiger, a graduate student in metallurgy from Reading, and his wife have been conducting a battle to prevent cars from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

Lewis Geiger, a graduate student in metallurgy from Reading, and his wife have been conducting a battle to prevent cars from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

Lewis Geiger, a graduate student in metallurgy from Reading, and his wife have been conducting a battle to prevent cars from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

Lewis Geiger, a graduate student in metallurgy from Reading, and his wife have been conducting a battle to prevent cars from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

Lewis Geiger, a graduate student in metallurgy from Reading, and his wife have been conducting a battle to prevent cars from disobeying the one-way sign on a short portion of Linden Road.

Linden Road is located in the graduate housing area on the east end of the campus, near the home management houses. Maple Street runs parallel to Shortlidge Road and connects with Linden Road at the top of the hill behind the South Halls.

Geiger said that speeding on Maple Street, especially between 4:45 and 5:30 p.m., is very hazardous to the small children in the area.

ardous to the small children in the area.

What makes things even worse is the fact that the automobile owners disregard the one-way regulation in effect on Linden Road between Maple Street and its connection with the road behind the South Halls, Geiger said.

Taking things into his own hands, Geiger and his wife parked their car across the entrance way to the one-way section of Linden Road, thus blocking off the street. The obstruction stopped the "mad rush" down Maple Street to E. College Avenue.

The Geiger's live at 107 B Maple Street and have engaged the support of a few of their neighbors in trying to enforce the

(Continued on page eight)

1957 Encampment: The Results

Town-Student Relationships Improve

By DENNY MALICK
Tenth of a Series

The Centre Daily Times carried a lead editorial last week praising "a marked improvement in relationships between University students and residents of State College and surrounding areas within recent years."

This is an apparent recognition of the deliberate work being done by students to improve the campus-town relations.

The editorial praised the work of fraternities, especially for the annual Greek Week work project when Greek men and women cleaned up area parks and playgrounds.

The 1957 Student Encampment

Tri Delta Scholarship Program presents "Three Faces of Eve" Oct. 21 — 5 showings Cathaum Theatre 75c adopted six recommendations with an eye to this result.

The recommendations included inviting townspeople to take part in campus activities such as golf and bridge tournaments, Halloween and Christmas parties for children and inviting townspeople to tour campus buildings through open houses.

John Yeosock, chairman of All-University Cabinet's town relations committee, said invitations were extended to townspeople for tournaments and open houses without much response.

"It seemed the people didn't feel they should indulge with the students in these activities," he said.

However, following up an Encampment recommendation, Yeosock now sits in on the borough Chamber of Commerce meetings to act as a liaison between students and townsmen.

Also in connection with the Encampment recommendation, Yeosock was able to increase the amount checks could be cashed for in town banks from $5 to $10.

STUDENT FILMS presents "BLACK SHIELD OF FALWORTH" In Technicolor TONY CURTIS JANET LEIGH SAT., OCT. 18 . . . 7:30 & 9:30 SUN., OCT. 19 . . . 6:30 HUB ASSEMBLY ROOM

STATE NOW "As Young As We Are" "The Party Crashers" STARTS SUNDAY Fabulous Intrigue! Spectacular Adventure! DANGEROUS EXILE Feat. 2:00, 3:55, 5:50, 7:45, 9:40

CATHAUM NOW SHOWING BARDOT!! "LA PARISIENNE" NITTANY Today - Doors Open 1:15 p.m. Irreverently Funny! "LAW AND DISORDER" BEGINS SUNDAY Actionful . . . Suspenseful! "CAST A DARK SHADOW" with Dirk Bogarde

WMAJ radio schedule table with times and program names like Sign On, Morning Show, Morning Devotions, News Headlines, etc.

U.B.A. Will Return Unsold Books Monday, October 21 1:30-4:30 Positively the Last Time