

Students May Enter Outdoor Art Exhibit

Students may enter a variety of "pots, prints and paintings in a new "Clothesline Art Exhibit" to be held next Saturday in the area outside Temporary Building.

The "Clothesline Exhibit" (so named because the art works will be hung on clotheslines strung outside the building) is open to all graduate and undergraduate students regardless of curriculum.

It is designed to increase interest in student art and to extend the opportunities for students to sell their work. Until now the only chance students have had to exhibit or to sell art work have been at the Graduate Christmas Sale and the Spring Student Show.

Members of Pi Gamma Alpha, fine arts honorary society, who are sponsoring the new exhibit, said they felt it would go a long way toward creating a larger interest in student art.

Valerie Sigelen, president of the society, said there are now only two major opportunities for students to sell or exhibit their work. "We hope to extend this opportunity," she said.

Ceramic work, paintings (both oils and watercolors), and prints may be entered. The artists may sell their entries if they wish.

All entries are due by 5 p.m. Thursday at the fine arts office in Temporary Building. Paintings and prints must be matted or framed.

Rain date is Oct. 26.

Ugly Man--

First place in the independent division was won by Paul Craska of Nittany 43, and Hoyt Hall. Their skit theme was "Fooleridge with Cooleridge" and parodied the "Rime of the Ancient Mariner," complete with albatross, waves, and a "sturdy, sea-going craft."

First place in the fraternity division was awarded to Jon Hoffman, sponsored by Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Their skit was based on the "evils of smoking."

A young American boy was portrayed first as a baby in diapers who had teathed on a cigarette, then as a "hood" in high school, and finally as a college man who smoked five packs of cigarettes a day.

Bruce Sherr, sponsored by Beta Sigma Rho fraternity and Phi Sigma Sigma sorority, won second place in the fraternity division in a skit about finding a mate for their Ugly Man, Mr. Frankenstein.

Bell's Death--

David Hospital. Mr. Bell, who directed the Public Information Department for 15 years until this July 1, was in New York City in his role as executive director of the Penn State Press. He was checking on the sales reaction to the first book produced by the press.

He had limited his activities to the press and teaching since his July retirement upon the advice of his physician.

Mr. Bell, a 1929 graduate and former Daily Collegian editor, was born in Chester on June 5, 1906, the son of the late Louis H. and Cristina Bell. He was married on August 23, 1936, to Catherine Carpeneto, of Bellefonte.

Four children survive: Michael, 21, a senior at Harvard University; Cristina, 19, a sophomore at Penn State; Cathy, 16 and Betsy, 12.

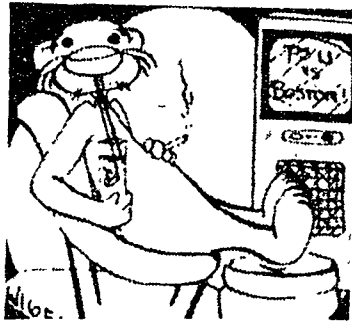

Burial will be in Centre County Memorial Park. Friends may call Sunday afternoon from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday evening from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the residence, 538 E. Hamilton Ave.

It has been requested that friends omit flowers, but contributions may be made to the Centre County Heart Fund.
