

New Sharp Aid May Be Sought

Two possible sources of obtaining additional funds to aid Larry Sharp will be discussed at the All-University Cabinet meeting tonight.

Cabinet will meet at 7 p.m. in 203 Hetzel Union.

Education Student Council President Ruth Johnson con-

BA Council To Control Bulletin

The Business Administration Student Council took over control of the BizAd Bulletin last night.

The proposed constitutional amendment for assumption of this control was first read at the council's October 8 meeting. It will be written into the council's constitution and by-laws.

James Meister, council president, said this supervision will be similar to All-University Cabinet's control over its committees. The council will approve the editorial staff of the Bulletin, determine publication dates and expect periodic reports from the editor but will not control editorial policy.

When questioned by Max Perlmutter, BizAd Bulletin editor, Meister asserted the publication "should be subsidiary organization of the council, because it is totally financially dependent on council."

Council members accepted a faculty challenge to a council-faculty football joust at 4 p.m. November 4.

Janet Ours, secretary, will post condensed minutes of council meetings on the bulletin board along the main hall on the first floor of Boucke Building.

Hirst Reported In Good Shape After Accident

Edmund Hirst, freshman in ceramics technology from Philadelphia, who was knocked from a bicycle by a car late Tuesday night, was reported in good condition yesterday by a University Hospital official.

Hirst was reportedly riding on the handle bars of one of two bicycles which were racing on Pollock Road across the Entrance Road intersection.

The Campus Patrol reported that Hirst was on a bicycle driven by John Cesare, freshman in civil engineering from Scranton, who was racing Donald Jones, sophomore in physical education from Scranton.

Cesare's bicycle collided with a station wagon driven by Daniel McHugh, junior in arts and letters from Emmaus.

McHugh and the two cyclists were uninjured but Hirst received minor lacerations of the head and face.

Flood to Present Chem Lectures

Dr. H. Flood, professor of inorganic chemistry at the Norwegian Institute of Technology, is at the University to present a lecture series on "Chemical Affinity in Ionic Systems."

Flood graduated from the Norwegian Institute of Technology in Trondheim in 1930 and received his doctor of philosophy degree in Germany in 1933. He is director of the Institute of Silicate Science in Norway and a member of the Norwegian Academy of Sciences. He won the Fridtjof Nansen award for his scientific achievements.

While in the United States, Flood plans to lecture at other universities as well.

Date Night Sign-Out May Be Eliminated

By JANET DURSTINE

Upperclasswomen may not have to sign out on weekends in the future.

The Women's Student Government Association Senate last night discussed a plan to eliminate signing out on Friday and Saturday nights for upperclasswomen, but to require all women to sign in, whether or not they leave their residence halls.

The plan may be put into effect on a trial basis beginning Nov. 7.

The plan was recommended because it would make it easier for the hostess to keep track of the coeds. A student opinion check will be made through the WSGA House of Representatives.

Senate voted to give $25 from student fees to town and commuting women. All residence hall units already receive that amount; it is generally used for parties.

A 2-week time lapse between the close of applications for spring WSGA elections and the elections was approved. The time lapse was formerly 10 days.

Barbara Maley, elementary education major from Verona, N.J., and Susan Huston, elementary education major from Harrisburg, were installed as freshman senators.

VanderMeer Receives Ed Audio-Visual Award

Dr. Abram W. VanderMeer, associate dean of the College of Education, has been presented with a key for distinguished service by the Pennsylvania Audio-Visual Association for Teacher Education.

Dr. Eugene Oxhandler, assistant professor of audio-visual education, was elected president of the association for the coming year.

Chem Council Positions Open

Self-nomination applications for the Chemistry-Physics Student Council may be picked up before 5 p.m. tomorrow at Osmond Laboratory.

Council seats are open for three freshmen and one sophomore. One freshman representative will be taken from the chemical engineering curriculum, the second from pre-med or chemistry and the third from physics or science. The sophomore vacancy is for a physics or science major.

Elections will take place next Tuesday and Wednesday. A ballot box will be placed in Osmond Lab and the Hetzel Union card room.

contacted the State College Associated Services and found that both the national and the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the Associated Charities fund in Philadelphia may be able to aid Sharp.

At last week's meeting, Cabinet voted to recommend to the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils that an admission fee be charged for the Greek Week singinals. The proceeds would go to the Sharp fund.

A committee consisting of All-University President Jay Feldstein as chairman and Eleanor Judy, Steve Garban, Rita Saltzer, Ruth Johnson and Vincent Marino was named to investigate further Sharp fund projects.

Sharp was paralyzed in a fall from a trampoline in a men's physical education class Oct. 10, 1957, and has been in three different hospitals. He suffered a broken neck.

Last year more than $7000 was collected on campus to benefit the Larry Sharp Fund.

Dorothy Newman, vice president of the council, will present the report at Cabinet on ways to aid the Sharp family in covering some of the expenses.

In other business, Edward Frymoyer, Association of Independent Men president, will present a report on the work of the Senate subcommittee on social affairs and Feldstein may report on the proposed short-time parking space plan behind Simmons and McElwain residence halls.

David Fineman will present the Recreation and Student Welfare workshop report from Student Encampment.
