Fletcher Upholds 'Right to Be Wrong'

By BILL JAFFE

"Fraternities have the right to be wrong," Richard Fletcher, national executive secretary of Sigma Nu fraternity said, discussing the selection of fraternity members and of discrimination clauses.

"We have the right to select our members on any basis," Fletcher said, as he pointed out that fraternities are a voluntary organization and therefore its members must respect the wishes of the group and its by-laws.

"Sigma Nu has no pride in its position but we assume it as a 'right' to select our members," Fletcher said. Since 1869 Sigma Nu has had a restriction clause in its by-laws.

Robert Miller, national executive secretary of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, supported Fletcher's stand on membership restrictions and discrimination. He urged fraternities to accept and support their national constitutions and accept the responsibilities which they imply.

Fraternity members should have the right to select their members, Glen T. Nygreen, dean of men at Kent State University and educational adviser to the National Interfraternity Conference, said.

Fletcher gave fraternity members three alternatives in disregarding restriction clauses: (1) They may quit, (2) go underground, or (3) be the minority group within the national system respecting the wishes of their members—and being expelled.

The question of whether fraternities have the right to limit their choice of members was taken up as part of a panel discussion Wednesday night on fraternity problems.

The panel was the second part of the 3-event IFC Workshop program which concluded Thursday night with its annual banquet. Ten individual workshop sessions on every phase of fraternity administration were held Tuesday.

Frank Joins University Foresters To Vie in Contest

By SISSIE ARMON

Splinters will fly today as future foresters from the campus and the University of West Virginia meet at Morgantown, W. Va., for the West Virginia-Penn State Forestry Field Day.

The field day, sponsored by the Forestry Society of the University and the Forestry Club of the University of West Virginia, will begin at 1 p.m. Scheduled events include a wood chopping contest, tug of war, canoe jousting, log throwing, power-saw contest, cross-cut sawing, Bull of the Woods, barrel bucking, archery, log burling and axe throwing.

The tobacco spitting contest, opening event of the day, will find Lynn Murray, tobacco spitting champion of the annual Forestry Field Day held at Nittany Field, ready to spit for another title.

The winners of the other contests held at the Nittany Field Day will also try for ribbons at the West Virginia Field Day. University students attending the field day are: Peter Adams, Robert Carey, Hugh Cunningham, Robert Davey, Charles Engle, John F. Hall, John Heroux, Boyd Hutchinson, Robert LaBar, Carl McIntire, Robert Martin, Lynn Murray, Allan Peterson, Harold Pitzer, Melvin Poling, Frank Rubolino, Chester Rupp, Ronald Shields, Robert Stroh and Norman Uber.

The winning team will receive a trophy axe with the university name engraved upon it. Orvel A. Schmidt, adviser to the Forestry Society, said the trophy is displayed by the winning team until the day before the next field day.

The University won the field day last year and displayed the trophy axe in the Forestry Building during the past year. Winners of individual events will receive ribbons.

Junior IFC to Elect Officers on Monday

The Junior Interfraternity Council will elect officers at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Hetzel Union assembly room.

Eight pledge presidents have been nominated for president and nine pledges have been nominated for the vice-president's post. Seven pledges have been nominated for the

Students Have 500 More Jobs

The Student Employment Agency reports an increase of 500 students over last year's total who are "working their way through college."

Mrs. Virginia N. Gordon, who is in charge of the Student Employment Agency, says that 3000 of the nearly 15,000 students on the campus have already registered for part-time jobs.

The agency last year filled more than 3600 requests for student workers, Mrs. Gordon said, explaining that very often a contact made through the agency results in various jobs for the student worker.

Baby-sitting tops the list of requests and last year more than 800 parents called the agency for baby-sitters. Many of the students who qualified for baby-sitting are experienced since they themselves are fathers.

Housework stands high on the list also, and Mrs. Gordon notes a sharp increase in such requests during the spring and fall house-cleaning season. Garden and lawn work requests are also seasonal.

The agency also is helpful to University offices seeking clerical personnel or students qualified for part-time jobs of a more technical nature.
