Borough Police Launch Probe of Football Pools

The handling of football gambling pools has been under investigation by borough police for the past week, Chief John R. Juba said last night.

Juba said the police "haven't unearthed anything yet," and that "nothing physical has been carried out" in the investigation. No arrests have been made he said.

Juba said no University officials have been contacted by the police concerning the investigation, although he said they could be aware of it without his knowledge.

University officials questioned last night denied any knowledge of the police investigation.

The police chief said it is "hard to tell" how long the probe will continue. Juba said state police were not in on the investigation, and as far as he knew they did not know about the actions of borough police.

Asked if the investigation was directly concerned with students, Juba said "I wouldn't say directly." The police "have an idea" there is betting on the pools in State College, he said, but aren't sure any students are connected with it.

Football pools—printed listings of college football games used for betting purposes—are illegal under state law. Juba said handling the pools is a misdemeanor, and said he thought the fine for the offense is "several hundred dollars," although he did not have the figures with him at the time.

An official at the state police barracks at Rockview said no one from that office was in on the investigation.

The central state police headquarters at Harrisburg could not be reached for comment.

Six University of Michigan students were arrested in a football pool crackdown last week by Ann Arbor police. Two of the students pleaded guilty last night and were fined $100 each.

The Michigan students were charged with "engaging in an illegal occupation."

Reds Ask U.S., Britain For Lasting A-Test Ban

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union called on Britain and the United States yesterday to join her in an immediate and permanent suspension of nuclear tests and said only then would it help establish an international control system to police such a ban.

Grey-haired Soviet delegation chief Semyon K. Tsarapkin advanced the proposal at the opening public session of the three-power nuclear conference.

The immediate private Western reaction was that this represented the usual cart-before-the-horse Soviet approach to the subject.

Speaking after the Soviet Delegate, U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth stressed that the three atomic countries had come

Freshmen May Visit Fraternities Sunday

By BILL JAFFE

First semester freshmen will catch their first glimpses of the insides of fraternity houses tomorrow.

The six fraternities on campus will hold "open houses" for freshmen from 2 to 5 p.m. tomorrow.

The open house program, sponsored by the Interfraternity Council rushing committee, will give freshmen a chance to be "rushed" by fraternity men inside their houses.

The six fraternities—Alpha Zeta, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Chi and Sigma Nu—will serve non-alcoholic refreshments to the freshmen and conduct the prospective members through their houses.

All freshmen interested in rushing are invited to attend the open house programs, Resh said, as he stressed the fact that attendance at the open house mixers does not bind the student to rush. "It will just give the freshman a good look at the insides of a fraternity," Resh said.

Under the system, fraternity men are not permitted in men's residence halls from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. for any purpose. Between the hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., fraternity members may enter the units to visit freshmen.

The IFC Board of Control ruled earlier this year that two or more fraternity members constitutes a group and the rushing is illegal. Fraternities also are not permitted to give anything of monetary value to freshmen.

Concentrated rushing will begin at the beginning of the second semester for all those men who meet the 2.2 All-University average requirement. Pledging will begin sometime between the eighth and tenth weeks of the semester.

Political Parties To Nominate Class Officers

Candidates for freshman and sophomore class officers for Campus and University parties will be elected at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Campus party will meet in 110 Electrical Engineering and University, in 10 Sparks.

Only students who registered at one of the two previous party meetings may vote for these candidates. Six students will be elected from each party to run for the offices of freshman and sophomore class president, vice president and secretary-treasurer.

A 2.4 All-University average is required for candidates for sophomore class officers.

Campus party will also hold elections for sophomore class clique secretary and freshman class clique president and vice president.

All-University Elections Committee will meet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in 10 Sparks to prepare

Lions Seek 4th In Band Day Game

By LOU PRATO

Sports Editor

The largest home crowd of the season—28,000—is expected to swell Beaver Field this afternoon when Penn State's thrice-beaten football team hosts Furman in the 9th annual Band Day extravaganza.

Kickoff is at 1:30.

The Lions, who have played before 22,000 and 27,000 fans, respectively, in their other two home engagements, will be seeking to bounce back after the disheartening 14-6 loss to Syracuse last week. They are a three to four touchdown favorite.

And if Penn State follows previous form, today's game should end in a victorious rout. For the teams caught in the Nittanies' previous rebounds have suffered greatly. Penn was clobbered, 43-0, following an opening season loss to Nebraska. And the week after the 26-0 Army defeat, the Lions walloped Marquette, 34-8.

If you're wondering about Penn State's starting lineup, forget it.

Left halfback Bruce Gilmore, Penn State's leading ground gainer, will be sidelined for the remainder of the season. The fleet Lion senior, who was injured in a practice session Tuesday night, went through an operation on the ligaments in his left knee yesterday afternoon at Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville.

It was the second surgical job on Gilmore's left knee. Last spring he had an inside cartilage removed. Both operations were performed by Dr. Leonard Bush and Dr. Albert Love. "He'll be home in about a week," team physician Dr. Alfred E. Griess said yesterday. "But his leg will be in a cast for about a month."

Gilmore had gained 288 yards on 52 carries this year and had been the sparkplug in the Lion wins over Marquette and Boston University. His best performance was in the Marquette homecoming tilt where he gained 142 yards.

Even Engle isn't sure who he will include on his so-called first unit. Probably the only certain starters are captain and center Steve Garban, left tackle Andy Stynchula, right end Maury Schleicher, and left halfback Dave Kasperian.

Even Richie Lucas, the Lions' ace quarterback, is a doubtful starter—but that is because of a death in his family. Lucas will attend the funeral of his grandmother this morning and may not return in time for the game.

"We are flying him back," Engle said, "and are hoping he will get back to play. But his game will probably not be up to par because he feels very bad about his

56 Bands Will Attend Band Day

Gay colors and martial music will invade the campus today when more than 4500 members of 58 state high school bands participate in the ninth annual Band Day.

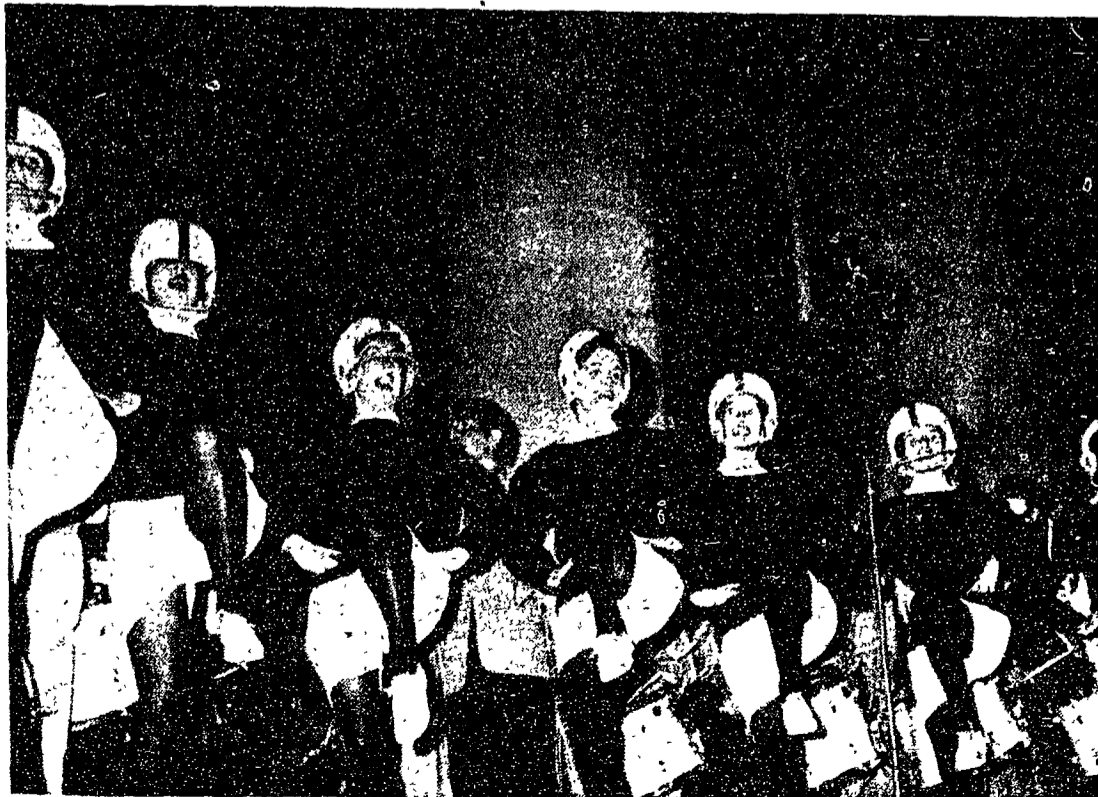

The band members will lumber up for the day's festivities with a parade at 11 a.m. through downtown State College. The parade will form at the Pugh Street entrance of the Mall and move west on College Avenue to Burrows Street and north to Beaver Field.

Following custom, the bands will form a large PSU on Beaver Field during the football game half-time. They will play the "Washington Post March," "El Capitan," and "Alma Mater," under the direction of James W. Dunlop.

In honor of the bands, Blue Band will present rock 'n' roll hits during half-time, featuring "Splish Splash," "Yakety Yak," "Betty Lou" and "Bird Dog."

This year the 56 bands are representing Altoona, Bedford, Bellwood Antis, Blain Union, Brady Township, Brookville, Cameron County, Captain Jack, Carlisle, Central Dauphin, Clearfield, Coudersport, Danville, DuBois, Greenfield Kimmel, Greenwood, Grove City, Harmony Joint, Hollidaysburg, Houtzdale, Huntingdon, Johnsonburg, Juniata Joint, Juniata Valley.

Kishacoquillas, Latrobe, Lewisburg, Lewistown, Lock Haven, Madera, Mahanoy City, Mechanicsburg, Milton, Morrison Cove, M. S. Hershey, New Castle, North Union, Northern Bedford, Northern Cambria, Orbisonia, Pennsbury, Penns Valley, Philipsburg, Punxsutawney, Reynoldsville, Winslow, Richland Township, Ridgway, Roaring Spring, St. Marys, Saxton - Liberty, State College, Troy, Tyrone, West York, Williamsburg, and York Suburban.

HELMETED COEDS, members of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, high-stepped to the tune of Mr. Touchdown, U.S.A., on the porch of Old Main at last night's pep rally. Their singing-dancing routine was accompanied by Blue Band music before some 450 cheering students.

together "to achieve a safeguarded agreement to refrain from nuclear weapons tests." He put the accent on the word safeguarded.

The United States and Britain are determined first to find out how far the Soviet Union will cooperate in a projected globe-girdling organization to prevent test cheating before they commit themselves to any "forever" ban on testing another hydrogen or atomic bomb.

British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore reminded the Russians: "We are negotiating for the installation of a control system not merely in our own countries. We are negotiating for the ultimate installation of a world wide system affecting many countries who are not represented here."

Under the glare of photographers' lights the American, British and Soviet delegations sat down at an oblong table in the Palace of Nations.

In that same room experts from eight countries of East and West decided last summer that it was scientifically possible to police a prohibition on nuclear testing. The report of those scientists forms the basis for the three-power negotiations which opened yesterday.
